AND WHERE THEY LAND, NOBODY KNOWS

Youngsters at Glenwood School playground send aloft gas-filled balnames and addresses for San Rafael Recreation and Park Department's "Operation Blast-Off." Similar fleets of balloons were sent up from other playgrounds and parks also today. The idea is for whoever finds one of the balloons to send back the card so the child will know how far his balloon sailed. There are prizes for the launchers of those that travel farthest. Women Tell Of Argument On Houseboat

Angry Voices Heard 10 Days Before Slaying

By ROSS DAVIS

Two young women, roommates on a Waldo Point houseboat, corroborated in testimony in the Marin Superior Court murder trial today that a loud and angry argument over guns occurred about 10 days before the March 27 icepick slaying of a dairy firm executive.

Irene Anderson, 26, cashier for Trade Fair in Sausalito resuming her testimony this morning, declared the pre-killing argument was in the houseboat's rear apartment, occupied by John Lee King, who is charged jointly with Robert Lee Jones in the slaying of Donald G. Corbett Jr.

She said the row began at approximately 10:30 p.m. when the men's voices rose and thin apartment walls made her aware of the conversation.

HEARS VOICES

"Why did you take the guns? Why did you take the guns?" she quoted one voice.

"You know why " the other voice replied.

"That's not the reason why. You just keep cool and I'll keep the guns. You know what happened last time," she said the first voice retorted.

Miss Anderson added both voices were angry, but she could not identify them. One, she said, then added: "You want to split up; we'll split up right now. You know where you'd be if it weren't for me."

SMALL ARSENAL

She testified yesterday that on an earlier occasion she saw a small arsenal of weapons hanging on a wall in King's quarters. Today, she also identified a photograph presented by the prosecution which showed a rifle, three hand-guns, three knives and a pair of binoculars on the wall. She said her recollection was of more guns hanging there.

Marin City Teen-Agers Set Barrage Of Fires

FIREMEN BATTLE BLAZE—Marin County firemen fight blaze in House C-37, an old Marin City unit that was scheduled to be demolished next month. This and six other fires were deliberately set, Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom declared. Youths pelted firemen with rocks as they went to one of the blazes. (Independent-Journal photos by Phil Fradkin)

Then Toss Rocks At Firemen

A maurading band of Marin City youths went on a rock-throwing, fire-setting spree last night that endangered homes and destroyed a vacant building.

County firemen had to withstand a barrage of rocks while fighting one of seven fires set between 9:32 p.m. and 12:40 a.m., reported County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrol units and city firemen were called in for reinforcements, as more than 100 teen-agers roamed the area.

After questioning through the early hours of the morning, sheriff's deputies arrested six teenagers on charges of arson.

BOOKED AT JAIL

Steve Howard, 18, of 235 Drake Avenue, and Claude Burdett Burton, 19, of 33 Cole Drive, both of Marin City, were booked at the county jail. Municipal Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson set their bail at $5,500 each.

Three 16-year-old boys from Marin city also were charged with arson and placed in Juvenile Hall.

VACANT UNIT

The arson suspects reportedly set fire to House C-37, a vacant four-unit dwelling at the rear of the Marin City Market, at 11:45 p.m.

They carried an old mattress into the house, set it afire with a match and fled when they saw patrol cars approaching, the sheriff's office reported.

Burton reportedly told deputies

By PHIL FRADKIN

It is a war which is threatening to tear the town in half—those for and those against construction of a 12-story retirement "residence" off Via Holon.

There have been economic repercussions for city councilmen involved and vague threats of recall. There are some bitter aspects to the fight.

Petitions bearing some 1,200 names in opposition to the 3-2 action of the city council in approving a 105-foot height variance for the building were presented to the council at its June 17 meeting.

The same group, now called Larkspur Citizens for Orderly Progress, is continuing to solicit more names to add to the protest petitions. The group is also soliciting money to finance its campaign.

Larkspur merchants started out this week with between 25 and 30 petitions in favor of the proposal. Professional petition circulators hired by the developers are also combing the city for signatures.

Marin Ambulance Corp. owner Robert Parker set up a table and chairs outside of the Bank of America building yesterday and gathered 20 signatures in two hours in support of the proposal.

Parker claimed that a column which provides for a person to note that they had also signed a petition against the building would, if checked by the person, cancel out previous signature of the "anti" petition.

"We will outdo their petitions. The problem is that the people of Greenbrae are trying to run Larkspur," he said.

Economic "reprisals" have been taken against two of the three city councilmen who voted to grant the variance.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon's rug cleaning business has not received a single rug from the Hillview Gardens subdivision since the controversy developed, he said. He has received one rug from Greenbrae to clean—a neighbor's.

Councilman Henry Brocco's

Retirement Center Veto Could Mean Apartments

Three-story apartment houses will be constructed on the proposed six-acre site for a 282-unit retirement apartment development if the Larkspur City Council decides to deny the request for the 12-story, five-million-dollar unit after reviewing the matter July 1.

Dr. John C. Siemens, owner of the proposed development, said today during a panel discussion on the center on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," that most of the trees on the site would have to be destroyed to make room for the apartment houses if plans for the retirement development were not approved.

The Larkspur City Council approved a height variance for the structure on the south side of Bon Air Hill off Via Holon June 4, but agreed to reconsider the plan last Wednesday after receiving petitions protesting its action bearing about 1,200 signatures.

Larkspur Mayor Neil Brixon, who favors the high-rise structure, said the city would receive $19,000 in taxes from the development, $9,000 more than if apartment houses were built on the site.

He said the difference in taxes which would be received by other agencies if the retirement center were approved in contrast to taxes from the apartments was $6,000 for the Marin College District; $15,000 for Tamalpais High School District, and $22,000 for Kentfield Elementary School District.

LBJ Sends Marines To Search In Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered 200 Marines to join the search today for three civil rights workers missing in Mississippi. See also story, page 2.)

The president's order was announced by George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, who said the Marines were being moved into the search area near Philadelphia, Miss., from Meridian, where he said they had been based.

Asked how long the troops had been at Meridian, and whether they had been brought there on a standby basis, Reedy referred all inquiries to the Defense Department.

In addition to the 200 Marines, Reedy said, eight military helicopters will join an augmented force of FBI agents, federal marshals and state patrolmen in hunting for the three youths who vanished Sunday night. Their fire-gutted station wagon was found Tuesday on the edge of a swamp near Philadelphia.

Viet Cong Overrun

SAIGON (AP) — The government reported its forces have overrun a Communist Viet Cong arms depot in the Mekong River delta and captured weapons that included a Red Chinese 75 mm recoilless cannon.

Brush Fire Hits Monterey County

SALINAS (AP)—A brush fire reported touched off by military pyrotechnics, swept over 1,400 acres of Hunter Liggett Military Reservation and private lands in southern Monterey County last night and today.

About 350 firefighters, summoned from as far as San Bernardino and Nevada counties had the blaze 75 per cent contained by mid-morning.

State foresters, soldiers and prisoners from conservation camps fought to stem the march of flames southwest through brush, grass and scattered pines and oaks.

State Orders Water Firm Improvement

The California Public Utilities Commission ruled yesterday that Point Reyes Water Co.'s facilities and methods are not adequate to assure "a continuous supply of potable water at adequate pressures."

It ordered that James J. Downey, operator of the company, make a series of improvements. These include:

1. Automatic controls on well pumps actuated by the level of water in storage tanks.
2. Rearrangement of the booster station serving the Mesa Road upper zone so water will be lifted from the tanks instead of from the transmission drain.
3. Interconnection of distribution systems in two upper zones.
4. Replacement of at least 200 feet of small pipe on Marshall

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Charges Against Rafferty Denied

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Max Rafferty's chief deputy last night denied any "Red baiting" on the part of the state superintendent of public instruction.

The charge yesterday by Gov. Edmond G. Brown over Rafferty's refusal to judge an essay contest because three directors of a sponsoring foundation had been cited in an un-American activities report.

Security Ring Annoys Khrushchev

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev is getting restless and annoyed over the colossal security wall the Swedish police have put around him.

With thousands of patrolmen bristling with sabers and pistols, and hundreds of detectives in every guise from cook to charwoman Stockholm is like an armed camp.

Khrushchev's impatience was demonstrated during a visit to a shipbuilding center when a policeman thrust out an arm to guide him. Khrushchev struck down the arm and gave him a black look.

Six Die As Troop Plane Crashes

FORT JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—An army troop carrier plane, losing the power of an engine on a take-off in a cow pasture, crashed and burned shortly before midnight. Six soldiers were killed and 24 injured.

The two-engine CV-2 Caribou lost the power of an engine a few feet off the ground on a temporary runway.

New 'Patriot' Group Forming

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Letters addressed "Dear Patriot" have invited Southern Californians to attend a meeting at a Los Angeles hotel Tuesday to organize a California Citizens Council.

But the plan met trouble when the hotel—the Ambassador—learned the Council was to be a branch of the segregationist Citizens Council movement.

Fred Hayman, manager of the hotel, said he was canceling the reservation. "I didn't know these were the White Citizens Council People until I got some calls about it," he said.

Suits Expected In Smoking Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and federal court suits are the two likely obstacles to implementation of a new Federal Trade Commission rule requiring the tobacco industry to label cigarettes as health hazards.

The extent of the delay may be detailed today when representatives of the tobacco industry testify before the House Commerce Committee.

Paul Rand Dixon, chairman of the FTC, told the committee he hopes the industry will comply voluntarily, but he added: "They can take this rule to the nearest court and ask for a review. I'm satisfied this will happen."

Smoking May Not Be Heart Attack Culprit

Survey Of 'Stress' Victims Questions Cigarette Theory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A New York heart specialist, reporting on a survey of 12,000 professional persons, said today that job stress is closely linked to coronary heart disease — but smoking may not be.

The survey covered 14 occupational groups with "obvious differences" in job tensions, said Dr. Henry I. Russek, consultant in cardiovascular disease, U.S. Public Health Service hospital, Staten Island.

JOB STRESS

Dr. Russek listed those surveyed in order of decreasing stress: General medical practitioners, anesthesiologists, dermatologists, general dental practioners, oral surgeons, orthodontists, and periodontists, general law practioners, trial lawyers, lawyers in various specialties and patent lawyers.

In addition, he said, security analysts and security traders on the New York Stock Exchange were compared.

NON-SMOKERS HURT

Persons who said they never had smoked showed significantly higher coronary heart disease rates than those who stopped smoking before their attack or before the time of the questionnaire if there was no attack, Dr. Russek reported at the annual convention of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Russek's report followed a statement by the AMA's House of Delegates saying that the AMA recognizes "a significant relationship between cigarette smoking and the incidence of lung cancer and certain other diseases, and that cigarette smoking is a serious health hazard." But it didn't mention heart disease specifically.

HUBERT B. WOLFESCHLEGELSTEINHAUSENBERGERDORFF

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenberger-erdorffwelchevoraltern, etc.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "When somebody calls my name, I don't have any trouble finding out who they mean," says the man who claims he has the longest last name in the United States—666 letters, plus 26 given names.

"I like to be unique," says Hubert B. Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergerdorff, a printer.

Hubert, 47, a Philadelphian of German descent, doesn't use his full name when signing documents—just the first 35 letters.

That's how he is listed with an insurance firm, which has to process his policy by hand. The company's computer stops dead when it comes to any identification beyond 35 letters.

Hubert's Social Security card has the "shortened" version—the 44 letters, including Hubert B.—even though it takes up two lines.

He says his full name is:

What's in a name?

In an admittedly loose translation, Hubert says: It tells a story of a wolf-killer, a resident of a stone house in a village, whose ancestors were conscientious shepherds whose sheep were well fed and carefullly guarded against attack by ferocious enemies and whose ancestors 1,200,000 years before the first earth man, in a space ship made with tungsten and seven iridium motors and using light as a source of power, started a long journey across interstellar space, searching for a star around which was an inhabitable planet where they could establish a new race of intelligent mankind and where they would live long, happy lives and be free from attack by other intelligensia from the outer space from whence they came.

Hunt Continues For Missing Mississippi Rights Workers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The search for three missing civil rights workers resumed in Mississippi today. In St. Augustine, Fla., integration strategists prepared for a legal battle.

Federal and state authorities still had found no trace of two white men and a Negro missing since Sunday. Their burned station wagon was found Tuesday at the edge of a swamp near Philadelphia, Miss.

Negro leaders were critical of the lack of progress in the search by officers who so far have remained noncommittal.

A battery of Negro attorneys met in St. Augustine today to plan strategy aimed at knocking down a state-imposed curfew on night demonstrations.

Florida Gov. Farris Bryant has been ordered to tell a federal court in Jacksonville, Fla., tomorrow why he imposed the curfew on night demonstrations in St. Augustine despite a federal court ruling that Negroes could demonstrate there.

Elsewhere in the nation:

Washington—Nearly 2,000 members of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People marched on the Justice Department yesterday with a demand for stronger action in Mississippi.

McComb, Miss. —The City of McComb, where dynamite bombs were tossed at three Negro homes earlier this week, yesterday hired its first Negro policeman.

Boston, Mass. — Singing, sign-carrying Negroes and whites marched in front of the federal building here yesterday asking that President Lyndon B. Johnson assign 1,000 U.S. marshals to Mississippi to protect civil rights workers.

Washington — Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) yesterday called on President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to persuade Negro leaders to halt "the invasion of Mississippi" by integrationists.

New York — President Johnson was urged by the American Jewish Congress yesterday to use all federal resources in the search for the three missing civil rights workers in Mississippi.

Mosk Rules On Crossing Guards

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The attorney general's office said yesterday the State Highway Patrol could "hire" unpaid school crossing guards — and the guards would probably be eligible for workman's compensation.

The opinion, asked by the Los Angeles County counsel, said the state would be liable for any "tortious acts" by the guards just as if they were paid.

It said there was some dispute over their eligibility for workmen's compensation, but that under the "liberal construction" of the law, "compensation payable by the state probably would be awarded."

San Rafael Urged To Buy Terra Linda Park Site

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended that negotiations begin for purchase of about four acres of the Nunes property in Terra Linda for a park site.

Thecity should offer a basic price of $6,500 per acre, the commission suggested to the city council. The property is located at the end of De La Guerra Road.

A letter to the commission from attorney John G. Buresh, representing the Nunes interests, offered to start negotiations, and mentioned a sale price of about $7,500 per acre for the four-acre portion. The price for purchase of the entire 16-acre property would be about $7,000 per acre. The smaller section is the better part of the property, it was pointed out.

Developer Douglas M. Christensen asked the commission how much of a 26-acre site at the end of Montecillo Road in Terra Linda the city wants for a park site. The commission has proposed use of about four acres as a park but said no decision can be made until the council approves the parks budget and an overall plan for Terra Linda is prepared.

The commission decided not to recommend approval of a request for use of Albert Field Sept. 21-22 for a circus for charitable purposes. Members felt the park was inadequate to handle a circus.

Commissioners will attend a dedication July 11 at noon of playground equipment donated to the city by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce for use at Albert Field.

Funds For Hamilton

A Senate committee yesterday approved $112,000 for construction projects at Hamilton Air Force Base. Allocations to nearly 50 Army, Navy and Air Force installations in California, including the Marin County facility, were approved by the House several weeks ago.

Haircut Price Hike

STATELINE (AP) — Barbers on the south shore of Lake Tahoe will boost the price of a haircut from $2.25 to $2.50 July 1, Jack Farrell, a spokesman for Barbers Local No. 292, said today.

Bidders Again Spurn Grant School Offer

For the second time, no one bid for the former Grant School property in Novato when it came up for auction at 11 a.m. today.

Fourteen people watched, but no one offered the minimum bid of $197,000 required for the 109,211 square feet of land at the corner of Grant Avenue and Highway 101. A highway division representative said it would not be offered for sale again for at least four months.

This was the second time that this parcel of land had gone begging at public auction. The first time, the state asked a minimum bid of $210,000.

More than two years ago, the city of Novato discussed buying the land. It was then withdrawn from public sale while the negotiations were carried on with the city, but the city council desided against the purchase.

Friends Say Bank Suspect Lived High

OAKLAND (UPI) — A 20-year-old bank messenger accused of walking off with $188,440 in bank funds was pictured by friends today as a youth who liked to "live it up" on his $300-a-month salary.

Authorities pressed a nationwide search for the messenger, Theodore Charles Nelson, who disappeared from the Oakland Bank of Commerce Tuesday.

William C. Mortensen, bank credit manager, quoted Nelson as making such remarks as "Oh, I went to a fabulous place for dinner last night — I had a fabulous time."

"He always looked very nice, dressed very well," Mortensen said. "He had an expensive cashmere coat last Christmas."

Bank associates recalled that Nelson displayed an abnormal interest in hair dying about a week ago and questioned several women tellers about the technique they used.

Recently he brought his pet rabbit, Matilda, to the bank in a large paper shopping bag of the type he allegedly used to walk out of the bank with the funds.

His landlord wouldn't let him keep the animal so he brought it to the bank to give to a fellow employee. On Tuesday, as he left the bank with a heavily laden shopping bag, one of the employees asked him, "What do you have there, another rabbit?"

Sausalito School Budget Goes Up For Salary Hikes

Sausalito School District trustees last night adopted a preliminary 1964-65 budget of $767,000 and at the same time approved salary raises for about 25 employees.

Five per cent raises were approved for bus drivers, maintenance men, secretaries and for child care center employees while 3 per cent raises were approved for cafeteria personnel. Raises are effective July 1.

The budget is up mainly because of salary increases, said Supt. Marcus F. Davis, the current budget being $670,000.

The tax rate may be reduced if assessed valuation is what its people have said it is going to be, said Davis. However, he did not estimate the rate. The current tax rate is $3.23 per $100 assessed valuation, including 13 cents override tax and four cents for bond retirement.

The board will hold a closed session Tuesday at 8 p.m. to discuss hiring a principal for Manzanita School.

Open House Set At San Quentin

San Quentin Prison will hold open house in its recently expanded clothing factory at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow for prison employees, their wives and guests.

Some of the inmate crew will demonstrate machines and processes in manfuacturing of blue jeans, shirts and other products. Personnel of the prison industries will be guides.

The new plant was completed last April, and went into full operation May 6 with 120 men. L. C. Sparke is plant superintendent, and foremen are Stanford A. Raymond, Harry Hertzog and Ralph Canning.

School Boards Association Meeting Set

Members of the 26 school boards in Marin County are expected to attend a school boards association meeting July 6 to discuss employer-employee relations, problems of segregation and the effect of the Unruh Act.

The meeting is the first of its kind and is sponsored by the California School Boards Assn., which will provide speakers for the meeting from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Included will be a discussion of the effect on local districts of collective bargaining by teachers' unions, and the effect of a proposed statewide civil service system for non-teaching personnel.

Discussion will continue on the problems relating to minority groups and on the Unruh Act which backs consolidation of school districts.

Two Women Tell Of Arguments Heard 10 Days Before Slaying

She said she also saw King and Jones at the houseboat about noon on March 28, the day following the murder of Corbett in his Sausalito apartment. She said she, Miss Anderson and the landlord, Tom Brown, were inspecting tidal wave damage to King's apartment when the two defendants returned.

"What are you doing on my boat? she said King demanded of Brown. She said Brown went ashore, and King informed her he had a bad "hangover" and wanted to be alone.

Miss Gordon, a San Francisco architectural firm employee said the defendants reappeared about 30 minutes later, "freshened up" in changed clothing.

She did not see them again until in the trial courtroom, Miss Gordon said.

She added that she saw a painting, one of three allegedly taken by Jones and King from the Corbett apartment, last night in a neighboring houseboat.

In testimony yesterday afternoon, Miss Anderson identified defendant King as the man who moved into the second apartment of her houseboat in early March under the name of "Jack Carpenter." She said she also knew Jones, resident of the nearby houseboat, Julia, but his hair was a lighter brown at that time. He went by the name of Steve, she said.

Miss Anderson said that on Good Friday, King invited her into his apartment about noon to suggest decorating ideas. She said there were no paintings on the walls, but she saw a large collection of guns hanging beside the entrance.

She said King told her he intended to get some paintings.

The following morning a tidal wave hit Sausalito. Miss Anderson said she; her roommate, Libby Gordon; their landlord, Tom Brown, and a fourth person boarded the boat and entered King's apartment to inspect water damage.

At that time, she said, she saw two paintings on the wall and a metal box containing receipts. She identified the paintings as those which previous witnesses testified Corbett had rented and hung in his apartment, and which were missing when the murder was discovered. She said a metal box offered earlier as evidence resembled that seen in King's apartment.

Miss Anderson said she next saw King and Jones on the pier about 9:30 a.m. that day, and King said he had a "hangover."

Other afternoon witness was Mrs. Karen Corbett, the victim's widow, who has been residing in Tucson, Ariz., since an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted last November in Marin County.

She testified she telephoned Corbett's apartment from Tucson three times on March 27, the first time about 7 p.m. and the others 45 minutes apart. The first call, dialed directly, was answered by an unfamiliar male voice, she said, and she was told Corbett would be back in 45 minutes.

She said the second call was placed through an operator, and the latter informed by whoever answered that Corbett was still gone and wouldn't be back for another 45 minutes.

Her third call was answered by the same person, she said, who identified himself as "Jack Nielson, or something like that."

Mrs. Corbett said he told her Corbett was "on a toot," that he was planning a big dinner the following Sunday (Easter) — and was "really looking forward to it."

She said the man seemed to know Corbett's plans. She asked if he were Corbett's roomate. He replied, "Something like that."

Mrs. Corbett was questioned closely by defense attorneys about whether she had not earlier said she heard female voices in the background, but said she had no recollection of that. She added, however, that the man on the telephone said at one point, "There's a woman standing here looking at me."

She said she again tried unsuccessfully to telephone Corbett on March 28. The following day, Easter Sunday, she flew to Marin, went to the apartment, found it locked, and left a note, she testified.

5. Periodic flushing of the system and testing of chemical characteristics of the water.

6. Operation of a chlorinator at the storage tanks, under conditions of a permit to be obtained from the Marin County Health Department.

7. Raise the outlet pipe in the storage tanks to a point where it will draw clear water.

8. Keep records of pump operation and storage level.

The order resulted from a complaint by Oliver M. Hendren that there is often no water pressure at his home on Mesa Road, and that water he receives "continually contains a dense sediment and is cloudy and muddy." The PUC held a hearing at Point Reyes Station on May 11, at which attorney Thomas T. Storer represented Hendren.

Junior College Board To Consider Budget

The Marin Junior College District board will consider adoption of the tentative budget for the next fiscal year at its meeting today at 8 p.m. in room 24 of Harlan Hall.

Also on the agenda are consideration of a bid for landscaping the college center and a report on the breach of contract suit filed by John B. Lewellen against the district.

RETIRE

Larkspur mayor, said he was against destroying the scenic beauty of Marin County which he said would happen if the retirement center is approved by the council.

He said high-rise apartments were not inevitable in the area and urged that they not be allowed anywhere in the county.

Storhaug asked what additional services, such as police and fire protection, would be required if the retirement center were built.

Siemens said plans for the completely fireproof building had received the approval of the fire chief. The mayor said there are seven times as many police calls to single-family residential areas in Larkspur as to multi-family districts.

David Scott, member of the Larkspur Planning Commission, said the planners denied the use permit and request for a height variance for the old people's home and convalescent hospital because of the absence of special circumstances to justify departure from the zoning ordinance.

A listener asked if assurance could be given that retired persons living in the development would not vote against school bonds and tax increases.

Mayor Brixon said he believed small increases in taxes would not affect the monthly payments made by the residents.

Jury Indicts Five Inmates

The Marin County Grand jury indicted five San Quentin Prison inmates on various charges at a regular session last night.

Indicted were D. H. Hawthorne for possession of a knife, Marion Wayne O'Dell, escape from work camp, Lorenzo O. Perez, assault by life termer on another person, Ernest Lee Austin, battery on person not a prisoner, and Frank Paddao Padilla, possession of a knife.

he and some other youths were standing around watching firemen when someone suggested "setting the old house on fire."

According to Burton's version, they found an old mattress nearby, hauled it into the building, then stood around daring each other to ignite it.

Finally, he said, a 16-year-old youth put a match to a paper bag atop the mattress and left. Burton attempted to put it out, he said, but someone spotted a patrol car and everyone ran uphill toward 409 Drake Avenue.

Building C-27, which Chief Bloom valued at $250, burned to the ground. A World War I building vacated by the Marin City redevelopment program, it was scheduled to be demolished in about a month, he said.

Chief Bloom said there was a broken oil line in the building that caused the fire to spread rapidly. The structure was almost completely engulfed when firemen reached it.

While firemen were still fighting the fire at Building C-37, a woman reported that a group of youths had set a grass fire that threatened Building C-65 at 12:40 a.m. C-65 also is a vacant dwelling.

As Chief Bloom and Capt. Loren Hall of the Marin City Fire Station went to investigate the cause of the fire at Building C-65, they were pelted with "good-sized" rocks, the chief reported.

As they approached the fire, he saw about 12 to 14 boys, about 14 or 15 years of age, run off behind the Marin City Market, Chief Bloom said.

The trouble started early in the evening when the youths set off a series of false alarms, Chief Bloom said.

Of the series of fires that followed, he said, "I am satisfied every one of these fires was deliberately set."

The outbreak of fires started at 9:32 p.m. when a grass fire burned an area 10 feet by 10 feet at the rear of the Marin City Market.

At 10:52 p.m., an old auto seat cushion was set afire and thrown onto the roadway, also at the rear of the market.

Sheriff's Capt. Sidney Stinson and William Johansen, chief juvenile officer, reported some of the boys who were charged with arson at Building 37 were in the group that set fire to the seat cushion.

Another grass fire broke out at 49 Cole Drive at 11:05 p.m., burning a 10-by-10-foot area.

Ten minutes later, another grass fire started at 85 Drake Avenue, burning an area 10 feet by 10 feet.

Twenty minutes after that, the major blaze started in House C-37.

Six units and 14 men from the county fire department and three firemen from Tiburon Fire Department brought the fires under control.

PETITION

pharmacy in the Bon Air Shopping Center has experienced a drop in sales.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady, the third who voted to grant the variance, is employed by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

All three councilmen who voted for the proposal live in Greenbrae. The two who voted against, Vaughn Marker and Robert J. Smith, live in Hillview Gardens, off Magnolia Avenue near Bon Air Road. Only the top of the high-rise building would be seen from Greenbrae; more would be visible from Hillview Gardens.

The city office has received two inquiries on the procedure for recall of councilmen. Only Brixon is subject to recall now as O'Grady and Brocco have not served six months—a period of time which must elapse before recall proceedings can be initiated.

"I feel that these people are adamant enough to go for a recall if they lose," Brixon said today. He termed the situation "a tremendous dog-eat-dog fight."

On Monday, simultaneous letters were sent out soliciting support for both sides in the controversy.

The letter against permitting construction of the building claimed that the difference between regular multi-family development of the area and the current proposal would only amount to $9,000 in city property taxes a year.

The letter in favor of the proposal states that it would add $19,000 in total revenues to the city a year and $68,000 to the Kentfield School District, Tamalpais Union High School District, and Marin Junior College District.

Both figures are correct, according to City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper. However, the $9,000 figure does not take into account increased revenues to the schools who would not have additional pupils from the development.

The letter against the proposal states that the development could be granted special tax privileges "or be completely exempt" from taxes.

Piper said this is a possibility. But first, Valley Investment Co., the developers, would have to sell out to a non-profit corporation such as a church group. At present, he said, the project is "a definite taxpaying deal."

Scranton Hits Barry As A Reactionary

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton made a pitch for Ohio's 58 delegates to the Republican National Convention today, calling Sen. Barry Goldwater a reactionary in contrast to the "true conservatism" of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Scranton, arriving here from Miami, Fla., called the Arizona senator's voting record "a standing repudiation of our own party platform." He also took a few swipes at President Lyndon B. Johnson during a speech at public square in the downtown area before a cheering crowd of about 3,000.

'Mass Meeting' Over Flood Issue Draws 13

Only 13 people showed up last night at a "mass meeting" to test sentiments of residents of the Gallinas Creek watershed on having the flood control function taken over by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Floyd Hovland, chairman of the sanitary district board, who has opposed the idea, did not yet close the door on the proposal.

County Asst. Public Works Director Arthur T. Knutsen explained the county would like to form a flood control zone for all of the watershed, including Santa Venetia, San Rafael Meadows, and Terra Linda.

Such a zone would eliminate two existing zones, one of which now carries a $1 tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. Knutsen said he hoped an election on formation of the zone could be called in November.

Phillip D. Assaf, attorney for the district, warned that if the district took over the job, areas in Lucas Valley outside the watershed would be included. He also said large areas within the watershed would be left out.

Since the district covers only developed land, owners of large vacant areas, often on hillsides which contribute water to the problem, could not be taxed, Assaf said.

William L. Ertman, who said he helped form the sanitary district, argued that flood control is now being handled by small zones which cannot do the major projects needed. He said the sanitary district could easily levy a tax for flood control work without going to a vote of the people. He said he was not sure the people would vote for a flood control zone.

Mrs. A. F. Noga of the Civic Center Improvement Assn. said she felt now may be the best time to approve a zone formation, because the lowlands which flood now have enough votes to defeat the highlanders, but future developments will be in the higher area.

Knutsen said once a zone is formed, work can start on a flood control master plan. Once a master plan is completed, it will be legally possible to charge developers of new subdivisions a fee for major flood control work.

Assaf suggested that interested persons could circulate a petition to ask the board of supervisors to start the formation of the flood control zone. Mrs. Noga agreed her group could work on the idea.

Terra Linda Rec Budget $64,100

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night adopted a $64,100 budget for the coming fiscal year, a $500 cut from this year.

The board earmarked all funds from fees paid by non-members for use on improvements in the pool area. Total collection during the year was estimated at $3,000. The pay for senior swimming instructors was increased from $3 to $3.50 an hour.

Businesswoman Tenant Sues On 'Harassment'

A Stinson Beach real estate broker is suing her landlord for $5,500 and seeking a temporary injunction to stop him from what she labels harassment.

Marguerite Echeverri, who is leasing office space on the ground floor of the Sea Beach Hotel, filed the suit and request for an injunction against Robert E. Hargrove in Marin Superior Court Tuesday.

The suit charged that Hargrove watered the deck above the real estate office, causing water to enter the office; parked his car in front of the office, blocking the office sign and parking spaces, and tore down two office signs.

Mrs. Echeverri is seeking $5,500 for loss of income and loss of health, and wants Hargrove to be enjoined from further "harassment" at the office pending the outcome of the suit.

Hargrove is scheduled to appear in Judge N. Charles Brusatori in Marin Superior Court at 2 p.m. Monday to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Mrs. Annie Glenn, wife of astronaut John Glenn, has been discharged from Wilford Hall Hospital following two weeks of treatment.

Mrs. Glenn, who underwent surgery June 10 for removal of inflamed cartilage and part of a rib to correct a bursitis condition in her shoulder, is "feeling fine," said Col. Earl Brannon of the hospital.

Youngsters Groom Livestock For Annual West Marin Fete

The show is limited because of limitations of space, according to general chairman Waldo Giacomini, to the Four-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America of Point Reyes, Olema, Nicasio, Tomales, Novato, Lagunitas, and the San Geronimo Valley.

The livestock show Saturday will be augmented by an array of farm and home products. That night Dolores Grossi will preside as queen over the Coronation Ball, with princesses Susan Clapp and Linda Dolcini.

A barbecue will follow the parade on Sunday.

Ike Backs Johnson's Foreign Aid Request

Eisenhower said the total "cannot be drastically reduced without damaging the vital interests of the United States."

Rights Meeting Church Burned

The Council of Federated Organizations said the chapel was slightly damaged.

The fire was the fourth church burning in the last 10 days in the state.

$150,000 Suit Is Settled For $4,500

A $150,000 damage suit against Marin County and San Rafael for the death of a woman prisoner was settled out of court for $4,500 after a jury was selected Tuesday.

Under the agreement the county will pay $4,000 and San Rafael will pay $500 to the estate of Mrs. Bernice Lucille Lind, 39, who died in a Texas hospital May 28, 1959, after suffering burns on a heater in Marin County Jail on April 16, 1959.

Mrs. Lind's mother, Magda Smith, administrator of the estate, filed the suit charging the county and city were negligent in having "a dangerous and defective" heater in the jail.

Mrs. Lind was arrested April 16, 1959 by San Rafael police on suspicion of drunkness and placed in the women's cell of the county jail, which was heated by a plug-in electric heater. A short time after she was jailed, Mrs. Lind was found lying over the heater, burned and semi-conscious.

BERLIN (AP)—Another Pan American World Airways jet from New York flew through the center corridor across East Germany to Berlin without interference today.

Assessment Notice Suit Threatened

Sausalito attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr. has threatened the county with a lawsuit if Assessor Bert W. Broemmel does not send out new notices to owners of property sharply increased in assesset valuation, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said yesterday.

However, Maloney said he felt the county would not be in jeopardy by ignoring Bjorklund's threat.

He said the law, if taken literally, required Broemmel to send notices which would give the exact date and place for protest hearings before the county board of supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization.

Maloney explained that when Broemmel mailed the assessment notices he did not know the date of the hearings.

Broemmel added he could have waited to send out notices until after the assessment roll was delivered to the board on July 13. In that case, Broemmel said, there would have been no information bureaus held in Southern Marin and property owners would have been deprived of opportunity to seek adjustments before the equalization hearings.

Broemmel said a second mailing would cost more than $5,000.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt Broemmel had, in fact, gone far beyond what is required under the law to inform property owners. "We have a person here who would overturn this great advantage to all the people in the county in his desire to make some kind of a point or other," Leydecker said of Bjorklund.

The board agreed to take no action.

State Forestry Officials Warn Of Fire Season

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—State forestry officials have warned there could be a "disastrous fire season" in California this year because of "holocaust conditions" in forests and fields.

State Forester Francis H. Raymond said the extremely dry conditions could cause a tremendous loss of property, resources and lives.

Raymond said fire dangers exist not only in forest areas but also in urban areas where the building of wooden houses has created "a forest type condition."

Dewitt Nelson, director of the State Department of Conservation, noted that a recent survey indicated there are more than 530 areas of the state where conflagrations might develop.

School Unit Asks San Rafael, Dixie Unification Stand

County Committee Is Pressing To Meet Unruh Act Deadline

Pressing to meet the Unruh Act's Sept. 15 deadline for a countywide school district master plan, the Marin County Committee for School District Organization last night voted to nudge San Rafael and Dixie districts for some sort of stand on the unification issue.

The two districts "won't talk" about their specific plans, Mrs. Joseph B. Wallace of Ross complained. Fellow committee member David Ring of Tiburon added, "I want to hear from Dixie." Others urged expressions from San Rafael board members.

As a result, the committee set up a master plan study meeting on the San Rafael-Dixie problem for July 15.

In the letter notifying the districts, the committee agreed, it will be pointed out that "the figures indicate" that unification of the two districts appears to be more feasible than establishment of separate unified districts.

Committee members voiced concern that Dixie might be too poor in assessed valuation to support a high school on its own. They noted that proposals to transfer "everything north of the hill" to Dixie would mean complex bonded indebtedness problems and involve San Rafael High School District's investments of large amounts of non-bond money in Terra Linda High School.

Possibility that a unified district could provide different curricula for the various high schools is good, committee members said.

"I asked a Dixie trustee, 'are you dissatisfied with the curriculum at Terra Linda?' and he said 'no'," Mrs. Wallace noted.

The Dixie-San Rafael study session is just one of several set for July by the county-wide committee last night.

Chairman Earl G. Marshall explained the Unruh Act requires three study sessions and a public hearing on each master plan area by Sept. 15, when the plans must be submitted to the State Board of Education.

So, the committee will hold an augmented meeting in Tomales on July 7, on that area's master plan problems, and a July 8 meeting in the Marin County Civic Center with officials of Petaluma, Lincoln, Laguna and Union districts.

Concern was voiced whether the Tomales study session might jeopardize that area's July 28 election on unionization of the seven elementary districts, which the county committee endorsed June 17. However, it was agreed that the committee could call the augmented meeting, ask the school districts to outline their feelings on master plan proposals, and adjourn. The second and third study sessions and the public hearing would not be held until after the election.

Motions to hold the Tomales and north-county area meetings were made by committee member Robert Rogers.

Discussion at the July 8 session may center on redrafting boundaries of the Lincoln, Laguna and Union districts, because so many of their youngsters attend high school in Sonoma County, it was indicated. Portions of the three elementary districts might be included in Novato or Tomales unification areas, members suggested.

Mrs. LBJ Urges Fight On Poverty

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson summoned home economists into the war on poverty and stayed late to shake every hand at a jammed reception which featured lady finger cakes and champagne punch.

The first lady drew an overflow crowd last night to Ford Auditorium where 3,000 delegates heard her speech at the American Home Economics Assn. convention.

She told the home economists, whose careers are in areas related to the well-being of homes and families, that they were needed "in the front brigade" of the president's all-out war on poverty and in the Peace Corps as well.

Jack Alvarado To San Rafael Chamber Post

Jack J. Alvarado, a resident of San Rafael for 26 years, has been named manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Alvarado officially will take over his new post on July 1. He views the most immediate aim of the chamber as promoting understanding of its usefulness among non-members in order to make it "one of the strongest chambers in the state."

He previously was employed as an account salesman in San Francisco with Brown and Bigelow, St. Paul, Minn., manufacturers of advertising specialties, and before that was in public relations work for Matson Lines for the entire western United States.

Alvarado is a descendent of Spanish pioneers in the San Gabriel Mission area. He studied agricultural economics at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

He and his family reside at 724 Las Colindas Road. They have three sons, one attending San Francisco State College and two at Terra Linda High School.

He succeeds Jack M. Phillips, who was chamber manager from September, 1962, until last winter.

ANNEXATION PLAN MIGHT NEED VOTE

Property Owner In McGraw Hill Area Challenges Statement On Voter Numbers

Annexation to Novato of McGraw-Hill Book Co. land and adjoining acreage may require an election, an owner of part of the land declared yesterday.

William Q. Wright Jr., who owns 21 acres of the approximately 800 acres proposed for annexation, and himself lives on the land, yesterday challenged a statement by William R. Zion, planning consultant, that the acreage could be annexed to the city as uninhabited land.

Wright declared at a Novato Chamber of Commerce luncheon which heard Zion's report that there may be as many as 30 registered voters in the proposed annexation.

Zion had reported that fewer than 12 voters live in the area, which would make it eligible for annexation as uninhabited land without holding an election.

Richard Bentley, assistant vice president of McGraw-Hill Book Co., declined to say whether the publishing company wishes annexation of its 100 acres in the area to Novato.

Besides the McGraw-Hill and Wright holdings, the area proposed for annexation includes 470 acres of the Bodkin Estate and a portion of the 540-acre holding of A. T. Nunes, plus other small holdings. Zion said he had included part of the Nunes land and 15 smaller pieces with the Bodkin Estate, McGraw-Hill and Wright lands to square off the boundaries.

He said the annexation would meet requirements of the Local Agency Formation Commission in providing an even boundary without leaving pockets of uninhabited land.

Bentley told the luncheon meeting McGraw-Hill has outgrown its location in the Fifer Industrial Park in Corte Madera but the company "has been happy in Marin County" and employees do not want to leave, hence the Novato area land purchase.

Mental Health Support Given

The Marin Mental Health Foundation will receive support of up to $15,000 toward its 1964-65 operating budget from the William Babcock Foundation.

Ann H. McCorry, administrator of the Babcock Foundation, today said that up to that amount would be provided if the mental health group becomes short of funds for its $45,000 budget.

The mental health foundation operates a psychiatric outpatient center at Ross General Hospital. It has various sources of support, including a National Institute of Mental Health grant and patient fees.

Quarterly allocations would be made to the Mental Health Foundation as needed, Miss McCorry said.

Bridge District's Budget $2,256,900

The finance committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday approved a $2,256,900 budget for the coming year, up about $117,993 from the current year's figure.

The figure is an estimate since percentage raises granted to bridge employees still must be turned to exact figures for tomorrow's meeting of bridge directors, when the budget will be discussed in its final form.

The committee approved a 5 per cent increase in salaries for all non-union bridge personnel, such as office help, toll collectors, attorneys and bridge director James Adams, whose salary now will be $25,126 yearly.

The raises correspond to those granted union employees such as painters, mechanics, truck operators and maintenance men which range from 2.5 to 12.5 per cent, reported Thomas D. Hardcastle, Marin representative on the bridge's board of directors.

The proposed budget also includes $30,000 for an engineering feasibility study of adding a deck to the bridge and $25,000 for future alterations of the administration building.

The committee approved an advertising-promotion budget which includes $25,000 to the Redwood Empire Assn., as it has in previous years, Hardcastle said. The sum helps to generate more bridge traffic from tourists during non-peak hours, Hardcastle said.

Also included is an $8,500 figure to the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau, $2,500 for direct mail and display advertising and $5,000 for advertising materials.

The advertising portion of the budget was passed over the objections of director Stephen C. Leonoudakis, chairman of the public relations committee, who contended the bridge does not need publicity to increase traffic.

Also in the budget is $16,500 for a lobbyist, if one is hired.

Bridge directors will meet to discuss the budget at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at their office at the toll plaza.

Doctors Lose Fight to Save Boy Train Victim

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walter Felder, a 15-year-old youth who lost both arms and legs when he fell beneath a moving freight train, died today at county hospital.

Doctors had pumped gallons of blood into his mutilated body in an effort to save him. The teenager died shortly before 7 a.m. (PDT).

County Art Winners Announced

Besides dividing $650 in awards, the winning artists will have their works displayed at the Frances Young Gallery in the center during the Marin Art and Garden Fair July 1-5 and the remainder of next month.

First place in the painting competition went to San Francisco artist Todd Lake for his oil, "Bolinas." Robert Pinne of San Rafael took second place, Margaret Felstein of San Rafael third place, and Lucienne Bloch of Mill Valley honorable mention.

In the graphic arts division, David Scoville took first place, Ken Page won second and William Larry received third. Connie Lewis won the sculpturing competition, while Tom Loebsack and Alfred Vincent finished second and third, respectively. Sylvia Clark won first place in the crafts division, followed by Karin Beckmann, Farhad Moezzi and Helen Loebsack.

Judges were Dr. Theodore Gill, prseident of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo; Don Keown, Independent-Journal Marin Magazine editor; Mrs. Roger Kent; County supervisor Peter H. Behr, and architect Ralph B. Priestley.

Annual Exhibit Set For Novato

The annual exhibit of oil paintings by adult members of the Kempthorne Art Group will be held from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday at the private studio and grounds of Nevin Kempthorne, 60 Grove Lane, Novato.

Featured during the day will be music by the Joyce Daule Combo of Vallejo, a display of jewelry by the Derbys of Oakland, Art in Action by class members, and from 2 to 5 p.m., pottery demonstrations by Louis Ferrario of Mill Valley.

HERE'S HOW TO COOL YOUR DOGS—This dog found a way to cool off in yesterday's heat and at the same time maybe get a meal—though he failed in the latter. He jumped into fountain pool at Marin Art and Garden Center to chase the fish. He kept it up for a long time, apparently enjoying the cool water, but never caught a fish — he was afraid of getting his nose wet.

Cool Breeze Appears To End Hot Spell

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — This is the 14th anniversary of the start of the Korean War.

President Park Chung Hee warned his countrymen that the North Korean Communists were looking for another chance to conquer the southern half of the country.

"The Communists are not only seeking another chance to invade us across the 155-mile truce line," Park told a commemorative rally in Seoul, "but they are also tenaciously attempting aggression everywhere in the world, thus threatening the peace and freedom of mankind."

The Korean President, badgered by economic problems, and the target of angry demonstrations by Korean students, called on the nation for unity. He said that attacks on his government benefit only the Comunists.

LOCAL FORMATION UNITS EXPLAINED

State Cities Aide Tells Mayors' Council Less Special Districts Seen In Future

Formation of new and unnecessary districts is what the State Legislature intended to stop through its Local Agency Formation Commission Act of 1963, the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen was told last night.

Richard Carpenter, executive director of the League of California Cities, spoke to the organization at Sabella's Restaurant, with Mill Valley as host city.

"Where you once formed a fire or police protection district, I think, in the future, the commission would say you don't need that because there is an alternative method. County service will do this and people will pay for it themselves," said Carpenter.

"The 3,500 special, separate districts we have over and above school districts of the state are too numerous. They make it more difficult for cities to have orderly growth."

Carpenter call the Local Agency Formation Commission law "far from perfect" and said he believes it will be amended.

"Ten years from now," he continued, "we feel you will find that piecemeal type of growth will have disappeared. A group within a county will look at the welfare of the entire county — not just one city or one district."

He said, too, that he believes the commission in the future will not be too concerned with highly irregular city boundary lines.

"There is nothing that is magic about having a nice square city. There are some areas where you cannot have a nice square city, either because of topography or other reasons," declared Carpenter.

"Cities in the future will have to be better prepared to justify annexations, and when they do and it is orderly, they will have no trouble getting approval. In the record, approvals have run about 15 to 20 to one disapproval."

Asked in a question period where initiative for annexation derives, Carpenter replied, two places: the city council or the people.

What can be done if annexation of an uninhabited area is turned down, asked George D. Monardo, former Mill Valley City Councilman. Carpenter said if people in an area don't want to be annexed the only way the city can take in property is to "pick it off piecemeal under the uninhabited territory act."

Carpenter traced history of events leading to the Local Agency Formation Commission Act. He said its beginnings went back to 1906 when Los Angeles stretched out 16 miles to annex Wilmington and San Pedro to get port facilities. "There was real good reason for Los Angeles to do what it did," but it acted unilaterally, he said.

Carpenter said very agressive annexation practices by some cities after World War II brought 1953 legislation providing for county services areas.

"We found there were many cities making deals with subdividers and developers on annexation proceedings in order to bring the area within the city and get out from under county ordinances," said Carpenter.

The League of California Cities sponsored about 125 changes in the annexation laws. A "League of Unincorporated California Cities" was founded which combatted efforts to try to improve annexation laws, he said.

"Districts really are a much more acute problem than most people realize," Carpenter said. "If a fire district is annexed to a city, the city council can determine by resolution whether this is withdrawn so that people who come in aren't paying twice for a service provided by only one governmental agency. The parks and recreation district is the other way around."

Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael, chairman, with approval of the organization, said he will appoint a three-man committee to represent the cities in recommending a set of standards to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission. The commission is attempting to establish such standards.

It was agreed that members would ask each city council to adopt a resolution similar to that adopted by the Sausalito City Council supporting an appeal for re-evaluation of the methods, of appraising properties in Marin for tax purposes.

Tiburon was recognized as a new member city and attendance of Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, and Councilmen John S. Hoffmire Jr., Anne L. Ellinwood and Fred C. Hannnahs was recognized. Strawbridge spoke briefly, saying, "I have already heard myself referred to three times as the old gray mayor."

The council nominated Robert Souza, Fairfax councilman, to represent the Marin County Human Rights Commission from Central Marin, and heard that Mrs. Patricia Reynolds of Novato has been rejected as a nominee since she is not a member of the council of mayors and councilmen.

The members were welcomed by acting Mayor William M. Secor. The meeting was closed by McInnis "with fervent wish for all good things to Britton Rey." Rey is retiring Belvedere city manager.

CORVAIR MONZA by Chevrolet

Great as a Corvair Monza is at winding up roads, it's almost as good as a two-week vacation at *un*winding you.

Part of the kick of driving one comes from those sporty good looks and jazzy deep-cushioned bucket seats. But Corvair's famous rear engine is really behind it all.

The engine weight over the rear wheels helps Corvair stick to the road like glue, come hills or hairpins, so you can travel carefree anywhere. (If you don't want to stick to a road, a Corvair can go places even bulldozers have never been through. How anywhere can you get?)

With no big heavy engine up front to steer around, Corvair is so easy to handle we don't even make power steering for it.

And the engine's air cooled. You can cross deserts without ever worrying about water (know many people besides camel drivers who can make that statement?).

There are lots of other good reasons to buy a Corvair Monza. Like a choice of 95 or 110* hp and its smooth four-wheel independent suspension. (Starting to feel unwound already?)

Then there's June, a great time to get in on a whole summer full of fun ahead. And Trade 'N' Travel Time, a great time to get in on a beautiful buy at your Chevrolet dealer's.

You couldn't really ask for two nicer reasons, now could you?

Board Slashes Road Funds, Puts In Maintenance Money

The Marin County Board of Supervisors made several major budget cutbacks yesterday in proposed road projects, only to put back much of the money today for road maintenance.

One of the biggest cuts was suggested by Supervisor William D. Fusselman, for his own district. It was $82,345 for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard one block beyond Wolfe Grade.

He asked instead that $49,500 be put into the budget for signal lights at College Avenue and Kent Drive, Kentfield.

Supervisor George H. Ludy, who has most of the county road projects in his district, also suggested a series of cuts, including several minor projects on the Marshall-Petaluma Road.

The amount allocated for a bridge on the Valley Ford-Franklin School Road was cut from $129,965 to $115,000. The cul-de-sac and turnaround area and parking at the end of Wharf Road in Bolinas were eliminated and $5,000 was put in for a parking space near Duxury Reef.

Then the board agreed to put in $17,500 for extra hire for road maintenance men, and one and one-half times that much for materials. The extra work force would be used on general maintenance work.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said he felt in the future the term "maintenance" should be redefined so many small jobs now separately budgeted could be handled with a blanket amount of money, giving the public works department more flexibility.

The board also approved a county building budget, slicing funds for an increase in the size of the sheriff's parking lot. Bruce was told to again ask the City of San Rafael to lease parking spaces.

The board today approved the parks and recreation budget as recommended by the administrator, over heavy protests by Park Director Kelvin J. Nelson. The only addition allowed was $5,000 for work at Stafford Lake.

Nelson pleaded to be allowed to hire a park maintenance man immediately, rather than in January as was recommended. He said Paradise Beach Park would be improved soon and that work on other minor parks was piling up.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr suggested that perhaps the construction work on Paradise could be held up, to make sure it would not have to be closed during the summer.

At noon today county auditor-controller Michael Mitchell said the projected tax rate was now exactly $2.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

He said the total road budget, after all the changes, came to $2,023,202, with $319,322 of that coming from property taxes. Bruce said that meant nine cents on the tax rate this year for roads, compared to 12 cents last year. The rest comes from state subventions.

At the beginning of discussion of roads, Jack B. Anderson of the Draper Companies and O. W. Litsinger, director of store planning and building for the Emporium-Capwell Co., appeared to ask for early construction of a road from Terra Linda to Ross Valley.

Fusselman said he has fought for such a road for years, but added he feels it should meet Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Oak Manor, and definitely should not go through Sleepy Hollow. Anderson was referred to the City of San Rafael for a contribution toward such a project.

This Is How Marin Voted

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The county-wide vote for the presidential delegation were announced today by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

Democrats cast 2,492,244 votes, out of a total registration of 4,022,302. Of these, 1,693,813 were for the delegation headed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and 798,431 for the delegation headed by Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

Republicans cast 2,172,456 votes out of a total registration of 2,895,448. Of these, 1,120,403 were for the delegation supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater, and 1,052,053 for the delegation supporting Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

In Marin County, the vote was as follows: Brown, 17,457; Yorty, 5,649; Goldwater, 9,592; Rockefeller, 19,715.

Dixie School Budget Increased $400,000

The Dixie School District board last night adopted a tentative budget of $1,813,568, almost a $400,000 increase over this year, but calling for no increase in the tax rate.

The increase was called for mainly by the addition of two new schools next fiscal year and 21 more teachers, along with several new programs, including elementary school language instruction.

The board approved a new wage schedule for non-teaching employees calling for increases ranging from 2 to 18 per cent.

Resignations of second grade teachers Joan Marzell and Lois H. Brown were accepted.

Mrs. Clarice Kraemer was hired to serve as the district's second librarian. Calvin McIntosh, Jack Bruce Klippensteen, Linda Adams and Patricia Feiguth were hired as teachers.

The board agreed to request University of California to set up a computer science instruction research project for the education of teachers and selected pupils.

Under the program proposed by chairman John Starkweather, first teachers and then students would be given instruction in computer logic and communication.

Teacher Pay Hike

BERKELEY (AP) — Berkeley school teachers will get a 7.5 per cent pay raise beginning next fall, the board of education said yesterday.

Larkspur School Vote Aides Named

James McClintock of Corte Madera was elected last night to head the drive for passage of a $476,000 bond issue election on Sept. 15 to finance new classroom construction in the Larkspur School District.

McClintock has headed two of the three previous unsuccessful drives for passage of the bonds.

The citizens committee decided on strategy which this time will be less spectacular than the drive for passage of the tax and bond proposal on June 2. Mrs. Charles Young was put in charge of drawing up a brochure and Mort Firstenfeld will handle the finances of the drive.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Rafael Beauty Salon Opens; Kentfield Book Shop Being Sold

Newly opened at 1408 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is Cricket West Beauty Salon, a venture of Bernard and Louise Levey, residents of Rafael Racquet Club Estates. It is located in premises formerly occupied by Les Girls Boutique, moved to the new Kaehler Farrar building.

This is the fourth beauty salon for the Leveys, but their first in Marin. The others were located in San Francisco. For the past year Mrs. Levey has been with Elizabeth Arden in the city.

Front area of Cricket West is devoted to a retail store, selling beauty aids. The Leveys have the Marin franchise for Scandia cosmetics and Tuvache perfumes. A luxurious beauty salon, with four stylists, is in the rear.

Levey said his wife will be in charge of both operations, while he acts as business manager and bookkeeper. The name "Cricket West" has no particular significance. Levey said he remembered it as the name of a pixie girl in a novel he read 30 years ago and figured it would be just as easy for someone else to remember—so it was tacked on to the business. Along the way he's picked up a wire doll resembling a cricket, and the logo now adorns their stationery.

The Leveys have lived in Marin about 15 years. He has been a distillery representative for 21 years.

BOOKSHOP-MARIN, 944 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, is being sold by Suzanne Carpenter. She's making an extended tour of France and hasn't the time to run the store. New owners, Mrs. June Daniels, her son-in-law Joseph R. Parks and Mrs. Maude M. Pettis, will take over officially July 6. The transaction was handled by Harry Abras of Timmer Realty.

Parks, formerly of Humboldt County, will be in charge of the store. He and his wife will occupy the Mill Valley apartment of Mrs. Daniels who is moving to Berkeley. She is employed by the San Francisco Senior Center. Mrs. Pettis is also a Berkeley resident.

ALSO IN KENTFIELD, the three apartment buildings of Pine Lane Terrace, Inc., across Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from the Ross Hospital have been bought by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mindle of San Rafael. Paul Miersch and Ray Van Meter of Coldwell, Banker and Co. represented the buyer and seller.

GEORGE B. LOVELAND of San Rafael, office manager of MJB Coffee Co., San Francisco, has been elected a director of the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Society for the 1964-65 term. A member since 1958, Loveland was president last year.

FIRST SAN FRANCISCO BANK, opening July 1 with the first general state bank charter to operate in San Francisco's financial district since 1907, will have Roger F. Yore of Greenbrae as an officer and director. Recently vice president of Continental Service Co., Yore has had 28 years of banking experience.

Raymond J. Syufy, theater chain owner and operator, who lives in Sausalito, also has been elected a director of the new bank.

ROBERT N. DEWILDE of Kent Woodlands, general sales manager of Blake, Moffitt and Towne, San Francisco, has assumed overall responsibility for BM&T's industrial paper sales in an expansion of the company's marketing staff.

MANAGER James E. Paul of Fred V. Chesley Collections, San Rafael, is attending the American Collectors Assn. convention in New York this week. He will return Sunday.

Giant Kiln Planned

MILWAUKEE—A 590-foot rotary kiln will be built here by Allis-Chalmers as part of approximately two million dollars in cement making equipment sold to Northwestern States Portland Cement Co., Mason City, Iowa. The giant kiln will produce 3.3 million barrels of cement clinker per year.

Peacock Gap Country Club Head Resigns

Terry Van Gorder, the man who laid out the golf course at Peacock Gap Country Club and then stayed on to become general manager of the club, has turned in his resignation.

Van Gorder, one of the original employees at Peacock Gap, was given a farewell party by his fellow workers and friends last night at the clubhouse. He will leave tomorrow to join the Newhall Land and Farming Co., headquartered in Saugus, where he will be responsible for the construction of an 18-hole golf course and a large country club on a 45,000-acre land development. Later assignments for the firm will include the construction of three other commercial golf courses on its properties.

Hired as construction superintendent for the Latipac-Perini Corp., Van Gorder came to Peacock Gap in 1959 before anything was started. After laying out the golf course he became successively course manager, landscape and over-all superintendent and then its general manager.

In a farewell speech Van Gorder said: "For every tree we took out we planted 10 more."

Van Gorder, a graduate of Yale University, served four years in the Navy as a lieutenant and was stationed in Guam two years, and one year in the Aleutian Islands.

He, his wife, Priscilla, and their two children, Eric, 3, and Catherine, 1, live in Glenwood adjoining Peacock Gap.

Telephone Pacemaker During Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed irregularly higher today with American Telephone a pacemaker. Trading was active.

Selected blue chips kept the averages in plus territory but group action was spotty.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 4.48 million yesterday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers in the irregular advance.

AT&T climbed 2 points as it showed every intention of pacing the Big Board on volume for the second straight session.

Cigarette stocks continued to decline.

Motors were uneasy, General Motors losing a full point. Chrysler erased a gain and was unchanged.

Oils, airlines, utilities, rails and chemicals were mostly higher.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Cotton Growers Have 'Fine Year'

VISALIA (AP) — Calcot Ltd., a grower-owned California cotton organization, will mail 8.8 million dollars to growers to mark the close of an "exceptionally fine year."

Gen. Mgr. Russell Kennedy told Calcot's 37th annual meeting this year's final returns brought to 13.3 million dollars the total paid to members.

Kennedy said the cotton industry, however, faces certain doom without new legislation in spit of the cotton bill which took effect in April.

The act expires in 1966 and Kennedy said "we exist today on borrowed time." He urged a tough fight for more legislation.

House Group Refuses To Slash Aid Request

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee gave President Lyndon B. Johnson a major victory today by refusing to make any critical slashes in his foreign aid bill.

Heeding administration warnings that any big cut could be "crippling," the committee approved a 3.3-billion-dollar outlay. This was 200 million dollars less than Johnson asked but the cut was much smaller than Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.) had sought to inflict.

Passman had urged earlier a 515-million-dollar cut. He tried to raise the 200 million reduction today but failed.

Dow Chemical Gets NASA Job

SAN FRANCISCO — The Dow Chemical Co. has been picked by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to provide the engineering support services to NASA'S John F. Kennedy space center in Florida.

Dr. Kurt H. Debus, director of the center, said the project calls for spending about 1.4 million dollars the first year under a cost-plus fixed fee contract. The contract will have two one-year options for its extension.

Dow said it will assign 104 engineers to the NASA project, including some from its California locations. There were 34 other companies bidding on the project.

Foremost Promotes

SAN FRANCISCO—Robert Wood of Walnut Creek has been promoted to sales promotion manager of Foremost Dairies' Northern California region, headquartered in San Francisco.

Giants, Sanford Against Dodgers, Koufax Tonight

No-Hit Sandy Koufax will oppose Jack Sanford tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers open a four-game series against the San Francisco Giants at Candlestick Park.

Koufax, 10-4, pitched a no-hitter against Philadelphia this season—his third in three years—but has only a defeat to show for his efforts against the Giants this season.

Sanford, 5-7, has an 0-2 record against the Dodgers this year, although the Giants have whipped the defending world champions in four of their six meetings.

The floundering defending world champions from the south, currently in sixth place in the National League, showed signs of breaking out of their season-long batting slump yesterday when they banged out 19 hits in defeating the Milwaukee Braves 15-4.

Hendley will face his personal nemesis in Frank Howard, the Dodgers hulking right fielder. Howard has hammered seven homers in his last 11 appearances against Hendley.

The Giants ended an eight-game road trip last night on a successful note by downing the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 behind the seven-hit hurling of rookie Ron Herbel.

Herbel struck out 14 Reds — a National League high for the season and Herbel's personal record — in running his record to 5-3.

The Giants got both their runs after two outs in the first when Willie Mays singled and Orlando Cepeda walloped his 11th home run of the season off Reds starter and loser Jim O'Toole, 6-4.

Cincinnati scored its only run in the second on O'Toole's fielder's choice grounder after Herbel loaded the bases by yielding

Giants' Shameful Record Against Mets, Houston Remains A Mystery

Jack Hanley

Casey Stengel and his Mets come into Candlestick for their second visit of the season as soon as the current Giant-Dodger series is concluded. The Mets are patsies for most teams in the National League but they give the Giants fits.

At the moment the Giants are 5-4 for the season against the Mets. So it would behoove Alvin Dark's men to take both games from Casey's men next Monday night and Tuesday afternoon because the Phillie already have a 9-2 record against the Mets.

Why the Giants should have to fight for their lives in every game with the Mets is a mystery. But that has been the fact, not only this season but ever since the Mets received their charter under the 1962 National League expansion.

While the pennant-winning Dodgers were clobbering the Mets 16-2 last season, the Giants were lucky to get a 12-6 division with Casey's men. And, actually, they are lucky to have their current 5-4 mark against the Mets who won't win 50 games this year.

TWICE THIS season, the Mets took the Giants into prolonged extra inning sessions, one 15 innings at Candlestick on May 16, the other that memorable 23 inning affair in New York May 31.

Houston's Colts similarly give the Giants fits. The Colts made the Giants go 12 innings before bowing 3-2 in Candlestick May 4. And the May 5 game was a 2-1 nine inning squeak by the Giants past the Colts who evened things when they got the Giants on their home lot at Houston for a four-game series May 11-14. The Colts took three of the four games so now are 3-3 for the season against the Giants.

THE PHILLIES have played the Colts seven times this year and are 6-1 against them, three better than the Giants. And the 9-2 Philly record against the Mets is four better than the Giants' 5-4. Seven games, in all. It's shameful but unfortunately irrevocably in the records.

What good does it do the Giants to beat front line competition and then be beaten by second rate members of the league? Obviously, no good at all. Unless the Giants mend their ways, beginning next Monday night when Casey's Mets come to town, they might make a couch patient out of Alvin Dark.

McKinley Wins Again; Russ Ace Quits

WIMBLETON, England (AP) — Defending champion Chuck McKinley, who swept through the 1963 tournament without the loss of a set, had another shaky time in the Wimbledon tennis championships today before he scored a 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 victory over Torben Ulrich of Denmark.

McKinley, 23, from San Antonio, had to go two hours and 10 minutes to win the third round match with the bearded left-handed Dane.

When the bounding McKinley put the pressure on in the last set, the Dane helped by making errors on easy volley.

McKinley, second seeded, is almost the only American male hope left in the tournament, which went into its fourth day today. Dennis Ralston and Frank Froehling, the No. 2 and No. 3 U.S. players have been eliminated.

It was overcast with a threat of rain as play resumed today.

The biggest sensation of the tournament came before play started, with Alexander Metreveli, 19-year-old Russian who is the only Soviet player left in the men's singles, withdrew rather than play a South African, Abe Segal, in the third round.

Metreveli said it was his protest against South Africa's racial policies.

McKinley won the first two sets after surviving a scare in the first set when Ulrich led 5-4 and got to match point. He just failed to get his racket to one of McKinley's returns, the American saved that set point and then won the set.

The aggressive Dane, moving smartly around the court and producing some fine deep shots, broke through for a 4-2 lead as McKinley double-faulted and lost his service to love by netting a back volley.

Ulrich then held his service and broke through again in the eighth game for the set as the American trailed 15-40. McKinley pulled back to 30-40 but lost the set as his forehand drive went sailing out of court.

The fourth set started in startling fashion. It went to deuce 10 times before McKinley broke through with a volley as Ulrich found himself on his knees and out of position.

Ulrich broke through in the next one, making it 1-1. He used good forehands to trouble a McKinley desperately anxious to get to the net.

Morze Quits Browns, May Rejoin 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Pro football center Frank Morze, who found a loophole in his San Francisco 49er contract and escaped to the Cleveland Browns two years ago, confirmed reports yesterday he would not return to the Ohio club.

"My business is here and my boy starts school this year," Morze said.

He is in the heavy equipment business with his father-in-law, E. H. Bean. Morze said he didn't want to uproot his family again by moving to Cleveland.

The 31-year-old center asked for his outright release.

Morze declined comment on reports he wants to return to the 49ers, who have changed coaches since he played with them.

While on the injured waiver list two years ago, Morze discovered he was technically a free agent and fled to the Browns, getting away from a long standing personality conflict with 49er coach Red Hickey. The San Francisco club is coached now by Jack Christiansen.

Morze has played seven years of pro football since his days at Boston College.

THE FIFTH HOLE IS PURGATORY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walter Alston didn't appreciate the beating his Los Angeles Dodgers took in the National League All-Star poll the other day but it's unlikely he'll demand a recount.

Alston will take base hits over ballots any day and the Dodgers have been on a hit rampage since their shutout in the N.L. player vote for the 1964 classic.

The Dodgers, punchless throughout the early part of the season, exploded for the second time in three days yesterday, burying Milwaukee 15-4 behind a 19-hit barrage good for 32 title bases.

The offensive binge was the biggest thus far for the world champions, topping their 15-hit output in Monday's 10-9 victory over the Braves.

The contributions of Maury Wills and John Roseboro to yesterday's route undoubtedly soothed Alston's feelings further. The manager was particularly miffed when neither was named to the first or second All-Star teams.

Wills stroked four singles and drew a walk in five times at bat, scored three runs, drove in one and stole his 24th and 25th bases. Roseboro hit a home run, his second of the season.

Each is hitting .295, a mark worthy of All-Star consideration. Joe Torre of Milwaukee, the first team All-Star pick, has a higher average than Roseboro but runner-up John Edwards of Cincinnati trails the Dodger backstop by a point. Wills is hitting 12 points higher than first team nominee Dick Groat of St. Louis and 19 points above second choice Leo Cardenas of the Reds.

PHILS WIN

Elsewhere in the N.L., Philadelphia outlasted Chicago 9-8, San Francisco shaded Cincinnati 2-1, Houston trimmed St. Louis 7-5 and Pittsburgh topped New York 3-1.

The Dodgers' assault on five Milwaukee pitchers helped Don Drysdale breeze to his 10th victory. The big right-hander chipped in with a single and double and drove in a run.

Frank Howard belted his 17th homer and Willie Davis had a double, two singles and four RBI.

It also bolstered Alston's case for adding several Dodgers to the All-Star squad he'll manage against the American League on July 7.

John Herrnstein's seventh inning home run proved decisive for the league leading Phillies, who blew an early 5-1 lead. Richie Allen hit a three-run homer for the Phils, his 14th of the year, and Ernie Banks poked his eighth for the Cubs, tying Joe DiMaggio for 13th position on the all-time circuit list.

COLTS RALLY

Houston scored six runs in the seventh, overcoming a 3-1 deficit and chasing St. Louis starter Ray Sadecki. Singles by Mike White, Joe Gaines and Nellie Fox delivered three runs. Jerry Grote singled in two more and the sixth scored on reliever Mike Cuellar's throwing error. White paced the Colts' attack with four hits.

Bob Friend set down the Mets for the 12th straight time in his career but needed relief help from Al McBean after Joe Christopher homered in the ninth. Willie Stargell drove in two Pirate runs and Dick Schofield knocked in the third.

HANDSOME PRICE FOR ANGEL BONUS BABY

A Lot Of Consideration Is Needed For Installation Of Boat Compass

How can you tell which boats belong to the more skillful and enthusiastic skippers of the sport? Just look at the rigs in any of Marin's small-craft marinas, and take special note of the boats with well-selected, correctly installed compasses!

Marine compasses today are made in an amazing range of types. You'll find those for the sailboater, and special ones for an all-metal boat. One-degree navigational accuracy is often desired for yachts. Even the open boat is candidate.

THE MODERN shift to impressive speed in the outboard and stern drive craft has necessitated the development of compasses specifically for this service. They are little "gems," designed to give maximum card steadiness while cruising; moreover, they have a minimum number of moving parts, yet are immensely dependable.

You'll find that most cards are marked off in five-degree intervals, which is sufficiently accurate for any fast and lively boat.

WHEN DISCUSSING installations with a dealer, he will want to know about your boat's operating conditions. From these facts, he'll be able to recommend the compass best suited to your needs. Good instruments may cost from $15 to $60.

But don't spend your dollars unless you intend to have it correctly installed. Radio equipment and motor tachometers frequently have strong permanent magnets. And did you know that even electric windshield wipers create powerful electrical fields? Steering unit components often have steel parts inside their plastic and aluminum facade. Your compass should be located as far as possible from these troublemakers, at least two feet.

LOOK AT the base or bracket assembly on a compass. Rigidity and strength are important, because it must not be allowed to shake. And take care, what it's to be mounted on shouldn't shake, either. Avoid sections of plywood, alumiunm or fiberglass superstructure that is flexible.

Locate it on something extremely solid—or put a backing block under or behind the point of attachment.

Allow a distance of two feet for all electric wires also. Believe it or not, DC current from the battery will affect your compass more than AC.

QUESTION: Won't the electric wires to the compass light throw the reading off? I'd also like to know if it should be lined up in reference to fore and aft. I fell heir to a castaway compass and would like to install it with some accuracy. T. L., Tiburon.

ANSWER: Be doggone sure the compass is lined up square and true as possible to your craft's centerline. As to your quiz on the wiring: Small wires to the compass light are twisted together, hence canceling out one another's electrical field.

One more bit on the compass. Used to be that the dome on a compass was glass. Now most domes are made of durable plastic. But if you'd like the greatest life expectancy, install so your compass is in the shade.

GIANTS

a single and two walks.

After the second, the story was all Herbel.

He struck out the side in the third inning and, apparently gaining strength despite hot weather, whiffed six of the last nine Redlegs he faced.

The Giants would be happy to see Cincinnati have two major league franchises — both in the National League.

In 12 meetings this season with the normally tough Reds, the Giants have scored nine victories.

Yesterday's triumph kept the Giants within 1½ games of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, who downed Chicago 9-4.

After hosting the Dodgers for four games, the Giants will entertain New York, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in an 11-game home stand preceding the break for the All-Star game.

Liberty Bell For Phils' Jim Bunning

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"This is the room where we greet kings and queens and very important people," said Mayor James H. J. Tate.

Then, as some 700 persons watched, the mayor turned to Jim "Perfect Game" Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies and added:

"We are happy today to receive our own No. 1 VIP."

The occasion in the mayor's city hall reception room was to honor Bunning for his perfect game victory over the New York Mets last Sunday.

Tate presented Bunning with a replica of the Liberty Bell.

"For a country boy from Kentucky, this is more than wonderful," said Bunning. "I want to thank John Quinn (General Manager John Quinn) for making a Phillie out of me. I hope we can bring the pennant to Philadelphia."

Bunning was obtained from Detroit in a trade last winter.

Chicago Bears Obtain End From The Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns of the National Football League committed rookie Paul Warfield to offense today by trading end Rich Kreitling to the Chicago Bears for defensive back Lowell Caylor and two high draft choices.

"After Warfield's fine showing as a receiver at a recent workout, we decided to go with him on offense," said Coach Blanton Collier. "This left us still needing a fast defensive back but meant Kreitling probably would be no more than a reserve end."

Caylor, a 6-foot-3, 205-pounder from Miami of Ohio, was used as an extra man with the Bears last season and kept on the taxi squad.

In addition to Caylor, the Browns obtained the Bears' second and third choices in the December player draft. Warfield from Ohio State was the Browns' first draft choice last year.

Kreitling, 28, and a native of Chicago, has been with the Browns for the past five seasons since graduating from the University of Illinois.

Bermuda Winner Still Undecided

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—It was anybody's guess early today what boat would win the Newport to Bermuda yacht race on the basis of corrected time.

As dawn broke the Carillon, out of Boston, was on top with an adjusted time of three days, 10 hours, 15 minutes and 22 seconds.

Still to check in, however, were the 49 Class D and E yachts whose time allowances ranged from 26 hours to 29 hours, 28 minutes for the Burgoo, Milton Ernst's 38-foot yawl out of Procidence, R.I.

The Carillon, a new 47-foot Class B sloop owned by Wells Morss, was the 18th to cross the finish line at St. David's Head near dusk last night.

She displaced the Ondine, S. A. Long's veteran 57-foot yawl out of New York who won Class A honors with a corrected time of 3:10:59.50.3.

The Ondine, in turn, had ousted Nina, DeCoursey Fales' famed 36-year-old schooner, the 1962 winner, from the top. Nina's corrected time of 3:14:33.51.5 was bettered later by Salmagal III, Carina, Magic Carpet, Thunderhead, Jubilee, Gesture, Caper, Dyna, Cyane, Adela, Ice Fire, Solution, Early Dawn and Touche.

Salmagal, Arthur B. Homer's Class B yawl, was second to Carillon with a corrected time of 3:10:32.42.

NO DOUBT

There was no doubt about the first to finish the 635-mile blue water classic. That was the 73-foot sketch, Stormvogel the South African scratch boat owned by Cornellius Bruynzeel.

The stately old Nina was the second to finish beating the Bolero, on charter to Tim Moseley of San Carlos, Calif., by four minutes.

The lack of wind forced the Stormvogel to a painful five hours and 12 minutes to cover the last 10 miles. Her elapsed time was 3:20:10.15, far off the record.

Ticonderoga In Lead To Tahiti

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Johnson's Ticonderoga is keeping its lead over the Novia Del Mar and the Diablo in the Los Angeles-to-Tahiti yacht race.

The yachts were reported more than 400 mile swest of Los Angeles by yesterday.

Coast Guardsman Wins Sail Title

SEATTLE (AP)—Steve Martin of the Coast Guard Academy won the North American Intercollegiate single-handed sailing championships yesterday with third, first, fourth and second place finishes in the final four races.

Martin had a total of 132 points for the three days of sailing.

Terry Anderlini, Tulane, was second with 118 points, followed by Terry Cronburg, MIT, 113; and Ron Stockett, San Diego State, 110.

The four qualified for the preliminary Olympic Trials at Buzzards Bay, Mass., July 23-26.

Light breezes hampered the field of 12 in the morning races, but by afternoon the winds on Lake Washington had picked up to 10-12 knots.

Sausalitan Wins Folkboat Racing

Kruuse Caroe of the Sausalito Yacht Club piloted Debonair to victory in the seventh of a series of 10 Wednesday evening folkboat races off the Marina in San Francisco last night.

Debonair made the five-mile course in 1:43.04 over a field of 10 boats. Windy was first across the finish line but was disqualified for touching a buoy.

Other finishers:

Annie, 1:43:22; Kestrel, 1:47:18; Gallante, 1:47:18; Kijafa, 1:50:16; Tulla, 1:51:0; Weft, 1:51:10; Skaal, 1:59:22. Knarr Class—Snap To. IC Class—Damn Near.

The FISHIN' FOOL

STEVENS

I had just collected my winnings (one dime) from friend wife as a result of the S.F. Giants' victory, when a reader called to tell me that a wartime pal had just come in from Los Angeles. The reader had boasted about the good striper fishing in the Bay Area to this ex-GI.I. Was there any place he could take him and have a chance to catch some bass?

Man, or Man! talk about your psychological moments. A chance to catch a striped bass Unless the pal from the south is too weak to hang onto one end of a rod and can't muster enough muscle to reel a fish in, it's a cinch.

"LOOK!" I said to my caller, "get in your car and drive to Rodeo or Crockett so that you arrive at the Rodeo Marina or Dowrelio's Crockett harbor a bit before 5 a.m. Get aboard one of the party boats, rig up with a divided leader using a combination bug-eye jig (almost any color pattern, but yellow has been a winner) with a spoon lure (Pet, Pflueger Chum, or Duroflash) on the longer leader. The skipper will drive his boat to one-or-the-other sides of the channel near buoys 9, 10 and 14.

"Consult your skipper as to sinker weights, length of line to let out and have yourself a barrel of fun.

YOU THINK the above is too strong a statement? Not so. Since Sunday, evening trolling for stripers in the areas mentioned above has been as close to perfect as it ever has been. The party boats and the skiffs out of Carl Bennett's Rodeo Marina averaged 90 to 95 per cent limits and some of them had to call it a trip account of limits already in the box by 8:30 p.m. on Sunday. Fish have all been large mediums with one that went 29 pounds and the majority ranged from around eight pounds up. Carl told me that the lad with the 29-pounder left too quickly to get his name and address, but the second best fish, a 22-pounder, was landed by Bob Campers.

Speaking to Nadine Lessley of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor I heard the same story. On Sunday, the Happy Days No. 2 unloaded 29 stripers to 12 pounds. The three boats out of Dowrelio's on Monday night came in with limits all around from near Buoy 9. Fish ran to 18 pounds.

SO THAT'S that. If your refrigerator is short on meat, get on the phone and reserve yourself a seat aboard one of the party boats at either Rodeo or Crockett. Be there at or before five, or your reservation will be cancelled.

One very important tip on the present trolling. Whether you hold your rod or rest it in a rod-holder, be very sure the drag isn't set tightly. And — get this! If you are holding your rod and you feel a fish hit, DON'T SNAP THE ROD UP TO SET THE HOOK. Hundreds of nice bass will be lost by over-eager anglers. Remember when trolling on a moving boat, a fish hooks himself.

SWINGING SKIRT STYLE

One of the biggest fashion changes for fall and winter on the American scene will be the swinging skirts, shown this week to buyers in New York. Here is an ensemble of the Christian Dior-New York collection, following the trend with simple fitted, long sleeved top coupled with a slim, flat-pressed pleated skirt that goes into action when the wearer moves. 'A LITTLE CHEESE AND WINE'

Grandma Goes Around World In 57 Hours

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some of her fellow passengers on the big jet thought grandma was just a little "tetched." And she didn't even tell the nieighbors in Hopatcong, N.J. beforehand what she was up to.

So, Mrs. John Hirschberg, at 72, flew around the world in 57 hours and 52 minutes to claim a record for the fastest round-the-world flight ever made by an American woman.

She made the flight, she said, so that "one day my grandchildren can tell their children."

"BY THAT TIME," she continued, "they'll be landing on the moon.

"I'm game for a moon flight too. I may be in my 80s before that's possible. But what have I got to lose?"

Anna Hirschberg is a chipper little woman (she's five feet tall) who had circled the globe once before—a cruise on a freighter in 1956. "That was around the world in 80 days," she said, in an interivew.

The one exception was Saigon, Viet Nam, and she recalled that when the pilot took the plane off from Saigon airport he told the passengers, "We'll climb rapidly. We were shot at once here."

MRS. HIRSCHBERG'S trip began a week ago Tuesday on Pan American World airways flight number two on its run from New York eastward back to San Francisco, by way of London, Frankfurt, Vienna, Istanbul, Beirut, Karachi, Bangkok, Saigon, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Honolulu. She boarded American Airlines flight 18 for the final leg of the trip from San Francisco to the John F. Kennedy airport in New York Friday. She outlasted a total of seven flight crews.

Her time in flight, a total of 22,746 miles counting the San Francisco-New York run, bettered a record claimed by Sue Snyder, 26, of Chicago, who in 1960 made a Pan Am around-the-world flight in 62 hours and 58 minutes.

SHE DIDN'T need her passport because she never went beyond the "in transit" passenger lounges at the airports. Not going into town was in the interest of saving time.

Even so, she managed to sip tea with a London bobby at an airport, received an embroidered native hat in Saigon, had hula lessons and was given a muu muu in Honolulu, all on stops averaging an hour in each city.

"I didn't get tired at all," she said as she talked at her son's home in Manhattan. Her son John, 49, owns a printing company, the same business her late husband had. He has two boys, one in the Coast Guard, the other at Bucknell University.

Mrs. Hirschberg figured she had about five hours sleep all told, mostly in cat naps.

"I ATE very little," she said. "I think travelers just eat too much for comfort on a long flight. I'd have a light breakfast, lunch was my main meal and supper usually was a little cheese and white wine. And I had one gin and tonic a day for the heart."

Demonstration By Custom Designer In Corte Madera

Else Tyroler, who specializes in basic custom pattern designing for women with individual figure problems and best known for her Precision Pants pattern, will present a demonstration tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at The Angells, 5609 Paradise Dr., Corte Madera.

GERMAN-BORN ELSE, who served seven years as apprentice to a master tailor before coming to America 12 years ago, has designed a basic precision pants pattern which is based on hip sizes, 34 to 42. "Size 40 is our fastest-selling pattern, and we have even drafted patterns as large as size 52.

Mrs. Tyroler stresses that she does not compete with the pattern firms. Hers is a basic pattern to be used in conjunction with a style pattern, adapting it to achieve the proper fit for women who cannot step into a perfect size.

HER PANTS PATTERN shows how alterations should be handled to check back rise, crotch length and width, taper trouser legs, allow for waistline variations, thigh bulk and prominent hip curves.

Little Girl Will Get Her Dream Trip

Special Fund Is Set Up For Cancer Victim

Shirley Hopper will be visiting Disneyland sometime next month, but it won't be the kind of trip most other 9-year-old girls take to Walt Disney's juvenile paradise.

Shirley's journey will be financed by a special fund, the "Shirley Fund," to which the list of donors includes the inmates and staffs of San Quentin Prison conservation camps in Mendocino County.

Why the fund?

Shirley is a victim of leukemia, which her doctors at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco say will kill her within about six months. She has always wanted to see Disneyland, but her stepfather, Lee Hopper, a logger who also has four sons, could not afford to send her.

CANCER OF BLOOD

Shirley's illness was diagnosed as the dreaded cancer of the blood less than two months ago. Her mother was informed of the nature of her affliction on Mother's Day.

The Fort Bragg Advocate-News published a story about Shirley and her desire to visit Disneyland, shortly thereafter, and donations began to pour in to make sure that she gets her wish. According to Bob Smith of the Advocate-News, the fund totaled $1,616.92 yesterday.

The prisoners and staffs of the camps will host the Hopper family at dinner Sunday, and they will present Shirley with a check for about $125 at that time.

WILL MAKE TRIP

Smith said Shirley will probably make the trip with her mother, her four brothers and a grandmother. They will be at Disneyland for two to four days. Disneyland has agreed to give the Hoppers a day there, when a personal hostess will guide them and they will be admitted to all rides and other attractions without charge.

The trip is being delayed until July because the doctors say that some drugs which are not helping Shirley yet will have taken effect by then and will make her stronger and better able to sustain the physical stress involved.

Company Seeks To Dredge Bay

The Porto f Santa Clara County, Inc., a private company, has applied for a Department of the Army permit to dredge and fill in San Pablo Bay at Point San Pedro.

According to Bale and Strandgaard, Corte Madera engineering firm which prepared the proposal for the work, the company plans to barge materials to and from McNear's Quarry.

Any objection to the permit request may be submitted in writing to the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco, not later than July 23.

Pencils usually are made from incense cedar and the average tree yields about 172,000 pencils.

We couldn't put these awards into better hands

Take a good look at these young people. We did, in sponsoring the "MOST VALUABLE STAFFER AWARD" program of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association here in Marin.

They look like the future to us—and the awards and the future couldn't be in better hands.

Each of these young people was chosen, under this national program, for making the most valuable contribution to his or her school newspaper during the 1963-64 school year.

They were dedicated, talented . . . and hard-working. Like good journalists they took the job of communicating the world of school events to their fellows as a challenge. And they went beyond the standards of doing a good job. They excelled.

You can be proud of them, as we are. And proud too, of their journalism instructors who coached and encouraged these talented young people to turn talent into action.

We at the I-J were delighted to put their story in bronze—an engraved plaque for each. But THEY wrote it. And that's the real award.

Basis of the Awards

- Sponsored for all high schools and the College of Marin by the Independent-Journal.
- Student must be a good student, as determined by the faculty or instructor.
- Selected student to be chosen by the school.
- Be a person who has made the greatest contribution to the success of the school newspaper during the school year, regardless of his position . . . setting high standards of personal accomplishment.

To recognize journalistic talent in young people . . . to encourage interest in a newspaper career

Emphysema Victim Now Shuns Smoking

NO SMOKING FOR HIM—From the smile on the face of Don Nelson, San Anselmo police officer, no one would guess he has had emphysema for more than three years. Two years ago he underwent major surgery after his right lung collapsed. A smoker since he was a high school freshman, he has now quit permanently. Cigarettes are one of the causes of the disease.
(Independent-Journal photo)

A 30-year-old San Anselmo policeman has had emphysema for more than three years and has undergone major surgery to remove lung tissue damaged by the disease.

Today, because of his painful experience, Don Nelson of 33 Valley Road is an enthusiastic supporter of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. work toward controlling chronic respiratory diseases.

Emphysema causes more deaths than lung cancer and tuberculosis combined, and youth is no guarantee of immunity, the association points out. citing Nelson's case.

Like the typical emphysema patient, Nelson used to smoke heavily and coughed a great deal. He has now quit smoking permanently, and so his his wife, Hedy. And thanks to successful surgery he is no longer short of breath.

Three years ago while riding a police motorbike, Nelson was struck by a "tremendous pain" in the left side of his chest. His doctor told him to stop smoking, but he didn't "I had smoked two packs a day since I was a freshman in high school, and I thoroughly enjoyed smoking," he recalls.

A year later during a promotional examination Nelson's right lung collapsed. This time surgery was necessary, and he was hospitalized for a week. He was back on the job two weeks later, and the chief permitted him to remain on the 4 p.m. to midnight desk duty for six months.

The tuberculosis association points out that damage caused by emphysema can progress unnoticed unless causes such as cigarettes and poluted air are removed.

Women: Afraid Of Being Women

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newest scientific study of woman is also one of the longest and most detailed. It fills a book of 714 pages and has 834 references to the findings of previous takers-apart of the female of the species. But it has a unique theme which is, woman is afraid of being a woman.

This fear she acquires from another woman, her mother, the theme asserts. She passes it on to yet another woman, her daughter. Thus womanly fear of womanliness is self-perpetuating and produces much continuing evil, and for the male as well as the female since he too is a product of woman. This evil the theory-maker summarized as "maternal destructiveness."

He is Dr. Joseph C. Rheingold of Harvard Medical School, a Freudian-oriented psychiatrist for over 30 years and long-time consultant in the womanly branches of medical science, gynecology and obstetrics.

"The Fear of Being a Woman" (this is the title of his book, published by the Medical House, Gruns, and Strattan, New York) is something a woman is rarely aware of, since it is buried in the unconscious segment of mind. However, he continued, it seeps in disguised form into consciousness and activates destructiveness.

But the children are the important victims since they are mentally crippled by it and the girls acquire the fear. It is modified by the constructive side of the feminine psyche which Rheingold termed "nurturance," particularly in a woman's rearing of her children. The outcome for the children depends upon the relative amounts of "nataurance" and "maternal destructiveness" they get from their mothers.

Rheingold said the two exist in the unconscious minds of women in general (particularly women of the western culture) but the proportions vary, of course, from woman to woman. That is, at one end of a scale "nurturance" is predominant and at the other, "maternal destructiveness" reigns.

U.S. 'Gifts' Of Food Being Sold In Congo

By WILLIAM BELL

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—In the window of the general store next door to the U. S. Information Center on Avenue Du President Tshombe here are neatly stacked boxes of dried milk.

Lettered on them are the words: "Donated by the people of the United States of America. Not to be sold or exchanged."

But they sell very well indeed.

So does a sizable share of the total "Food for Peace" staples sent to a hungry Congo by the U. S., despite close controls applied both by the American Embassy and Congolese police.

Illicit, open sale of donated food is admittedly embarrassing, but American Embassy officials feel it is vital to continue the program because without it thousands of Congolese would go without food at all.

Katanga Province alone, according to U.S. aid figures, about 422,000,000 Congolese francs (about $2,500,000) worth of food has been donated.

The temptation is too much for many Congolese bush administrators. They sell the food to speculators and merchants —or sell it themselves to the people who were supposed to receive it free.

Closer controls are promised by the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula, but Katangese officals are notably uncooperative with Leopoldville in any sort of program.

Meanwhile, the U.S. food continues to roll in.

One controversial staple—yellow corn—may be cut off soon by the U.S. at the recommendation of officials in Leopoldville. The corn caused quite a stir. Many Congolese would not eat the corn because, they claimed, it produced sterility and blindness, and much of it found its way illegally across the border to Northern Rhodesia, where Africans found it edible and filling—and profitable on the Maizeshort copperbelt's markets.

Everything was tried, including a demonstration in which an African ate some yellow corn, the Congolese bias against the yellow corn was unshakeable.

Other goods, channeled through the United Nations, includes everything from rubber boots to rifles and controls are applied in order to prevent loss and theft.

The U.S. presence in Katanga, as elsewhere in the Congo, is prominent, so much so that many Belgians refer to Ambassador George McM. Godley as the "Governor General of the Congo."

Recently, arrival of a dozen U.S. soldiers in uniform added to the image of American domination of the country. Although the men were mechanics assigned to help maintain U. S. donated trucks and vehicles, and to teach maintenance to Congolese army troops, rumors swept Elisabethville that the men were special forces troops sent to advise in military operations against rebels in the Congo's eastern provinces. An official denial by the Congolese army commander in Katanga convinced virtually no one.

At the moment, only the U. S. has shown itself willing to undertake the tremendous expenditure and effort needed to restore the shattered economy and everyday life of the Congo.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Malaria Still Prevalent In Many Underdeveloped Areas Of World

VAN DELLEN

Malaria remains prevalent in many of the underdeveloped countries of the world. Great strides are being made in eradication but the project is so vast it is difficult to comprehend. In addition, the infection enfeebles so many of the inhabitants, they cannot help themselves.

IN ALL PROBABILITY, malaria will remain a serious threat for generations to come. Relapses occur years after exposure and it is believed that monkeys also act as a reservoir for the four species of causative parasites. The incubation period varies from one to two weeks, long enough for an unprotected traveler to return from the tropics to the United States and develop the first symptoms.

When anopheles mosquitos bite an infected person they suck in blood containing the male and female parasites. Fertilization takes place in the insect gut and the female penetrates the stomach wall where she enlarges for 7 to 20 days. The eggs sporozoites) rupture into the body cavity and those that lodge in the insect's salivary glands can be injected into a new victim.

THE PARASITES enter man's liver, where they remain for one to two weeks. On release, they invade the blood or go back into the liver cells. The typical chills and fever develop when the red cells burst and the parasites escape into the liquid part of the blood; the cycle now is ready to repeat itself.

At one time quinine was the only remedy for malaria. The source disappeared when the main cinchona fields of Java fell into Japanese hands during World War II. Meanwhile more GIs were suffering from malaria than from battle wounds. A number of synthetic antimalarials were developed under the pressure of war and they proved more effective than quinine.

MODERN PREVENTIVE drugs are begun by travelers to tropical climates on entering a malarious area and are continued for two or more weeks after leaving. A weekly dose is all that is necessary.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

DOING TOO MUCH

R. N. writes: I had chorea at age 11 and was cured. I am a married woman of 25 with an outside job. I have become extremely nervous and wonder if the tension produced by two jobs is responsible or whether I'm having a recurrence of chorea.

REPLY

I'll put my money on the two jobs.

APPLE TIME

Mrs. S. writes: When is the best time for an elderly woman to eat apples? I love them but if I eat one before lunch or in midafternoon, gas forms and I feel uncomfortable.

REPLY

Try eating an apple for desert. If discomfort occurs, substitute apple sauce or a baked apple.

FAT AND GALLSTONES

P. B. writes: Will remaining on a low fat diet ward off the need for gall bladder removal.

REPLY

No. This type of diet may lessen the chance of developing indigestion, gas, or colic. But it will not dissolve gallstones or take the place of surgery when the organ is diseased.

TAPEWORM

N. Y. writes: I have low blood pressure and my husband says a tapeworm must be consuming my blood. Is this possible?

REPLY

No. Tapeworms may cause anemia but they have no effect on the blood pressure.

Sir Alec Is Criticized For Current Campaign

By JOSEPH GLADSTONE

LONDON (WPS)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is under criticism from his supporters because, in their phrase, he is "not pulling up enough trees" in the current election campaign.

His "first 200 days" (since replacing Harold Macmillan) have passed, and with them the whistle-stop tours of various regions which took Sir Alec into many byways to let the voters see him in person.

Since then Parliament has sagged, and so has Sir Alec.

A quiet man by nature, the Scottish Premier lacks the showman's gift which is such an asset in electioneering. Macmillan could dominate a room simply by striding onto a platform with a raised hand and a smile. But even Tory members of Parliament have to admit that when Sir Alec does this, the magical effect is missing.

There have been some agitated discussions in high party quarters over this—always regarded as "the danger with (running) Alec."

There has been speculation about whether some "issues" can be created to bring Sir Alec out on top in battles with the Opposition. But this remains doubtful. So far no "great issues" have arisen of their own accord, and none are expected—unless it be over the critical situation in the Far East.

Not that labor leader Harold Wilson is having everything his way either. He too is finding it difficult to seize on an "issue." His public fury over the Chrysler-Rootes deal, for instance, proved premature. In the Commons he was rolled flat by Chancellor Reggie Maudling's insistence that the deal would bring valuable American know-how and research to British industry.

Wilson's visit to Moscow has not impressed the British overmuch—certainly not to the extent that Macmillan's famous visit, in his white fur hat, impressed them. It is one thing when a Prime Minister goes to see Khrushchev, and quite another when a Leader of the Opposition goes just before election.

As far as the voters themselves go, the indications are that the two parties are being polarized as their agents strive to assess the future.

As of now, it appears there will be no big majority for the winner. The latest predictions indicate a majority of about 30 either way.

This is just about the lowest practicable figure for a government in the House of Commons. Anything less makes for hopeless "snap" votes which, at the least, can make a government look silly and futile.

Some Tory M.P.s are already looking forward to the possibility of being in opposition and are describing to their newer colleagues its excitements — such as the freedom to criticize, freedom from responsibility, etc.

The one thing all Britons want to know is: what day in October will Sir Alec favor for the general election?

Most likely, it now seems, are Oct. 15 or Oct. 22, thought the latter is regarded as less probable.

Oct. 8 is "out" because the queen will be in Canada. While her presence in the captial is not essential on polling day, it is very desirable immediately afterwards because the new administration must be formed over the weekend after the election. The incoming prime minister must "kiss hands" (the Queen's), and his major ministers must receive the "Seals of Office" from the queen.

Bus Drivers Rewarded For Safety Records

Two Greyhound bus drivers have won citations for compiling 15-year safety records in which they covered an estimated 525,000 miles of highway travel.

Joe G. Griffith of 52 Hill Street, Mill Valley, and Jack C. Barrow of 390 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, were awarded safety award certificates, uniform insignia indicating their number of years of safe driving and gifts of personal jewelry.

CYNTHIA WIRT

NANCY COX

Two Girls Get Scholarships

Two girls who were graduated from Marin high schools this month have received $500 scholarships from the Marin Chapter of the National Foundation.

Valerie M. Ansel, nurses scholarship chairman of the Marin chapter, has announced the winners to be Cynthia Wirt, graduate of San Rafael High School, and Nancy Cox, graduate of Dominican Convent.

Cynthia is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lincoln B. Wirt of 45 Clark Street, San Rafael. Nancy lives in San Francisco.

The girls have both enrolled for the fall term at San Francisco State College, where they will study with the intent of entering nursing school.

This is the second year that the Marin chapter has been able to award scholarships from its own funds. Last year one scholarship was given, while during the previous three years the Marin chapter sponsored scholarships provided by the National Foundation. Miss Ansel had headed the program from its inception.

Hurricane Names Are Released

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau has released its annual list of hurrican names —from Abby to Winny.

The names are the same as those used in 1960 with one exception — Dora replaces Donna, which caused considerable damage four years ago.

The names:

He will address more than 200 party leaders gathered to map plans for the November election. Representatives of President Lyndon B. Johnson, senatorial candidate Pierre Salinger, and State Senate and Assembly candidates will speak.

Warning Issued On Mail Purchase

A warning against purchase of property by mail, sight unseen, was issued today by Joe H. Stewart, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Stewart pointed to recurrent reports of land fraud by mail, and noted that suits involving huge sums of money have resulted in indictments and convictions recently, particularly in Western states.

News releases warning of get-rich-quick investment schemes or unusually cheap retirement sites advertised through the mails are issued periodically by the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, of which the Marin County board is a member.

Stewart stressed that prospective buyers should personally inspect, before purchase, any property offered for sale, or acquire the assistance of a reliable person or agency before signing the sales contract.

Mount Tamlapais Trail Ride Is Slated This Weekend

The third annual Mount Tamalpais trail ride, a competitive endurance test sponsored by the Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn., will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

The ride will start from Project 17, the association's riding arena, in Mill Valley and climb the north ridge to Rifle Camp. It will circle the mountain via Lake Lagunitas and return to the starting point in a total of about seven hours riding time.

Riders from several states will assemble tomorrow for a preliminary soundness check-in made on the horses and the riders' weights recorded. Judges are Mrs. Wentworth Tellington of San Luis Obispo and Dr. Robert E. Graham of Santa Cruz.

Further information may be obtrained from Mrs. John R. Hogan of 532 Throckmorton Avenue.

State Gets Funds For Park Lands

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A federal grant of 2.3 million dollars for purchase of state park land has been given the state, the department of parks and recreation said yesterday.

Director Charles De Turk said the state was "pleased" that the federal government "acknowledges our needs and approves this investment" for park land.

But he said it would take a "major investment" to halt destruction of "the few sparse properties still worthy of inclusion in the state park system" over the next two years.

He said a 150-million-dollar bond issue proposal on the November general election ballot would be "a means to this end."

San Rafael Jr. Chamber Will Install

Donald L. Ronsheimer of San Rafael will be installed as president of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce at an installation and awards dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant.

Bob Oran, California State Junior Chamber vice president, will be the main speaker, and will install Ronsheimer.

George Yerby of San Francisco, district governor, will install Gerald H. Purcell of San Rafael as internal vice president; Robert A. Smith of San Rafael, external vice president; William A. Henderson Jr. of Larkspur, state director; Dick F. Cuthbert Jr. of San Rafael, secretary; Michael R. Sanford, Kentfield, treasurer; and David L. Redo of El Cerrito, John P. Rooney of Corte Madera, Dennis W. Cuyler of Bolinas and Frank G. Majore of San Rafael, directors.

Retiring president Henderson will present a Junior Chamber international senatorship to Dr. Richard L. Galbreath of San Anselmo, president of the group in 1960-61. Galbreath has been active on the local level and as a member of the state committee for health and safety.

Awards also will be made to outstanding members of the year.

To Boston College

Richard Robert, a teacher at San Rafael Military Academy, will attend a summer institute in mathematics for junior and senior high school teachers next Monday through Aug. 7 at Boston College, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

BUSINESS STARTS TOMORROW

Northgate Emporium Opening

Marin's newest and largest department store will open its doors for business tomorrow.

Emporium Marin, the three-story, 208,000-square foot building, for which ground was broken in the Northgate Regional Shopping Center 15 months ago, will have its official ribbon cutting ceremony at 9:15 a.m. in front of the northeast entrance.

A special platform to accommodate Marin dignitaries and store officials has been set up for the program. Following the ceremony, the doors will be unlocked and the public will be allowed to enter.

The huge department store leads the list of a number of Bay Area merchants who will open in Northgate Unit Two. Buildings under construction are expected to be ready for them about the first of the year.

The Emporium building, designed by Welton Becket and Associates, has two complete floors of 90,000 square feet each, and a smaller third floor of 28,000 square feet which is expected to be expanded later to 62,000 square feet. Escalators and an automatic passenger elevator ply between the floors.

Blue colored, rough-textured split brick have been used in the exterior finishing, and a tall, columned balcony and portico with soft-glow night lighting help to make the day and after dark.

A "customer patio" store attractive, both by makes a handsome main floor centerpiece. Flanked by the glass-sided escalators, the patio is furnished with tables, lush plantings and comfortable chairs to make a gracious meeting place and a setting for special store events such as fashion shows and personal appearances.

Hiring of the Emporium staff was started this spring. Aside from a small group of executives, the entire personnel is made up of Marin County residents.

A TYPICAL 'STORE CLASS' SCENE

During the past two weeks small groups such as this one conducted by Mrs. Virginia Mackey, manager of the women's sportwear department, have gathered in various parts of the Emporium for instruction in customer relations and merchandising. Except for a small percentage of key personnel, store employees are made up of Marin residents.

PLANNED FOR BUSY WOMEN—The Emporium's beauty salon is conveniently located on the second floor. It is large, crisply modern and fully equipped for all types of beauty services. David Connelle (right), style director for all Emporium-Capwell stores, will be available at the Northgate salon during its opening days for individual consultations.

Emporium Buyers Have Wealth Of Fashion Knowhow

A wealth of fashion experience is brought to Marin by Emporium buyers and merchandising executives, who have compiled the following forecast of styles having special significance for local women:

GENERAL—The overall trend is to the "gentle mood"—charming and pretty — and somewhat away from the "sportive" which was so dominant last fall. There will be no drastic change in line or silhouette; fabric and color will be relied upon to tell the ever-changing story of fashion.

FABRICS—There will be two fabric faces this year: BOLD and DEEP-TEXTURED, with tweeds the number one expression for day wear; SLICK and SMOOTH —twills, worsteds, meltons and suedes, for example. Knits, which have become basic with most women, will have a new look when they are textured—so as to appear woven rather than knitted.

COLOR—There has been a major change in recent years to more "no season" use of color. The use of darks, lights, pales, brights, etc., all year round, for instance. The Emporium's new fall sweaters are clear and bright pinks, green (Kelly), turquoise, etc.—colors not often used in the past for fall. The most popular colors this year are expected to be: Pinks (raspberry tones, especially), green (Kelly and jade tones), lacquer red. Brown, as a "dark," will be more important this year than in seasons past.

SUITS—After a decade in which the dress has starred in fashions, the suit now moves to the fore for fall, 1964. And with Chanel's influence continuing strong. The "mobile" skirt (pleated, gored, etc.) will be news, as will jackets in both shorter and longer lengths than in the recent past.

SPORTSWEAR—Color and fabric will be especially important—not matched, as in the past, but mixed and blended. This will require both imagination and taste on the part of the wearer, but will open interesting opportunities to women with access to the wide selections of a large store. Separate jackets will be an important part of the sportswear picture, and they will be newest looking when worn with a pleated skirt.

DRESSES—The coat dress is predicted as a major fashion item —in good weight for wear without a coat. In all dresses there is some softening of lines, and crepe will be important for late day wear.

COATS—A wide variety of silhouettes is offered this fall, making possible the assembly of a "coat wardrobe." Raincoats are being made still more versatile for all-purpose wear—tunics, seven-eighths lengths, wraps.

ACCESSORIES—As always, accessories complement the clothes, and this fall the "complete look" will be more important than ever. The right bag, hat, shoes, etc. for the clothes you wear. Simplicity of styling (less trim) is noted, and color and fabric will be as important in accessories as in apparel.

Fashions For Man Of House Are Forecast

Based upon their experience in supplying the needs of Bay Area men, store buyers and merchandising executives offer this forecast of men's fashion news for next fall.

SUITS — Lighter colors. A marked lightening of the dark grays and blacks of last season. Iridescent fabrics are still high fashion. The detailing of jackets will change somewhat — in the growing absence of pocket flaps, for instance.

FURNISHINGS — Color will make news. Both solids and candy stripes will grow in importance in men's dress shirts. Easy-care Dacron and Dacron-cotton shirts will build their popularity still more.

SPORTSWEAR — Ease of wear and ease of care will continue at a quickening pace. Stretch fabrics, especially — until now seen only in slacks — will be found in shirts, jackets, even sweaters.

SHOES — Corfam, the new DuPont material which looks and breathes like leather, will enter the men's shoe field. It is water-resistant, won't crack, needs no shining. Soft and easy to wear, Corfram will be important from now on. Styles this fall will veer away from the extremes of the Italian look. Heavier wing-tip brogue types will predominate.

CURTAINS DEPARTMENT READY

Mrs. Jacqueline Coker, manager of the Emporium's curtain and drapery department, and her staff of clerks have arranged all stocks and display panels since this photograph was taken last week. Store people have been working steadily since June 8 getting merchandise ready for tomorrow's opening.

Beauty Shop Carries Out Color Motif

The salon, located on the second floor, was planned and equipped to save the time of Marin County's busy women, according to David Connelle, style director for all the Emporium-Capwell stores, who will be on hand for personal consultations as a part of the opening promotion.

Materials, machines and expert operators were selected to offer a full range of beauty services—in comfortable surroundings. Even the dryers are pleasantly pretty, each standing primly behind an inviting, contoured lounge chair. Dry hoods are the newest kind, cooler and more comfortable than previous models —and it isn't necessary to use a hair net under them.

Cutting, shaping, styling, coloring, waving, conditioning—if it can be done to human hair, the Emporium's beauty salon is equipped to do it both well and quickly.

STORE TO SERVE FOUR COUNTIES

Survey Shows Shoppers From Marin Sonoma, Napa, Solano Are Expected

Who will be the customers of Emporium Marin?

If a consumer survey prepared for the Draper Companies about two years ago is accurate, the new Northgate store will serve shoppers in four counties.

One of the questions in the survey, which was conducted in Marin, Napa and Solano counties, asked which large department store had been visited the last time the respondent had shopped.

Of those interviewed in Marin, 45.1 per cent named the downtown Emporium in San Francisco, Stonestown Emporium, Capwell's in Oakland or Capwell's in El Cerrito. In Sonoma County, 66.6 per cent of the respondents were divided among the same stores, and in Napa and Solano counties these stores drew a total of 72.7 per cent.

Questioned as to the proportionate amount each family spent in various department stores, Marin and Sonoma County residents listed Emporium-Capwell stores as receiving 42.9 per cent of their expenditures; Napa and Solano County persons said the same stores received 67.8 per cent.

Since Emporium Marin will be a full-line department store of the Emporium Capwell Co., it is expected to pick up most of these shoppers.

Dude Ranch Opens On French Riviera

NEW YORK (UPI)—A French version of the dude ranch has opened near St. Tropez, French Riviera.

The Augberge Relais Hippique at LeMuy is a mixture of country inn and riding club. Guests at the "horstel" can arrange for three to seven-day treks through the Maures-Esterel and Verdon Mountains.

Midnight Swim Island Tradition

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (UPI)—An ocean dip at midnight on June 23-24 is a Puerto Rican tradition dating back to the days of Ponce de Leon and the early Spanish conquistadores.

The swim on San Juan de Bautista Day honors the patron saint of San Juan, the capital city. Because the name San Juan once referred to the entire island, the fiesta paying tribute to St. John the Baptist is celebrated with equal enthusiasm in San Juan and throughout the island.

'LIGHTS OF EVENING'

Painting Voted Best Entry At Northgate Center Show

"Lights of Evening," an oil painting by G. Frederick Cole of 890 Las Ovejas Avenue, Terra Linda, was voted the best entry in the Terra Linda Art Assn.'s first out door art and crafts festival at the Northgate Shopping Center last weekend.

The painting by Cole, art director for a San Francisco advertising firm, received a majority of the votes cast by many of the more than 1,000 persons who visited the festival.

There were 335 entries representing 80 artists in the show with nearly 40 different kinds of media used.

Thirteen prizes and 11 honorable mentions were awarded by the festival's judges, Doris Morrison, Ada Garfinkel and John Lynch, Bay Area artists.

First prize winners were John Jaccard, "Wheelbarrow and Plow," watercolor; Andrea Hendrick, "Freedom March," oil; Deni McNamara, "California Cove," collage and oil, and Jim Munson, "Toadstool," clay.

Receiving third prizes were O. Coln, "003," oil; P. E. Henricks, "Drums of Barrios," guache; Fred Cole, "Spring Paint," watercolor, and Annelies Kahn, "Pot No. 2," clay.

He Has Tough Job As Snake Hunter But Likes It Well

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Africans at Weenen in South Africa's Natal Province believe anybody who kills a python will go mad. That's why they can't understand how Hansie Kilian stays healthy and sane. He is Weenen municipality's official snake catcher.

All he uses are his two bare hands and a small knife "for emergencies." He has had several narrow escapes but he still prefers to do his python hunting alone.

His method depends on speed, even when catching the smallest specimens of four feet. He grabs them behind the head and then at the tip of the tail.

Pythons at Weenen reach a weight of more than 100 pounds. The biggest specimen Kilian has caught was 16 feet long.

He does not kill pythons unless he has to. Usually he sends them to a snakepark.

EMPORIUM IS WELL LIGHTED

Interior selling areas at Emporium Marin have 12 and 14-foot ceiling heights. Acoustical ceilings have flourescent and incandescent recessed lighting. Floors are covered with resilient tile and carpeting. Great use is made of wood-grained plastics in fixturing—as in the table tops of the glassware department shown here.

WIFE A NATIVE

Store Manager Marin Resident

Herbert F. Brandt, the Emporium's newest suburban store manager, has been a resident of Marin County 15 years.

The young executive (he has not yet reached 40) is also married to a native of Marin. His wife is the former Marie Bottini, member of a pioneer San Rafael family. She was born in San Rafael and was graduated from Dominican College.

"The entire family is pleased that I no longer have to commute to San Francisco," Brandt said.

Brandt grew up in the San Francisco Bay Area. He served in the Navy from 1943 until 1946, and was graduated from the School of Business Administration at the University of California at Berkeley in 1952. Immediately afterward he joined the Emporium as a member of the store's executive training program.

HERBERT F. BRANDT
Works in shirtsleeves

He was appointed assistant manager of the men's furnishings department that same year, and in 1955 was made manager of the store's University Shop. Less than three years later he was appointed group merchandise manager in the Emporium's basement store, a position he has held until now.

Brandt's smile is warm and friendly, and there is humor in his eyes and mouth. But in spite of his genial disposition he tackles work with a head-on attitude. When he is in his office he takes off his coat and doesn't put it on again until he leaves.

"Most Marin men seem to work in their shirtsleeves, so I feel right at home," he said.

The Brandts and their three children, Carol, Bill and Fred, now reside at 32 Palm Avenue, San Rafael.

MERCHANDISING MANAGER — Paul M. Widdess, 28, has held a variety of assistant manager and department manager posts in Emporium stores since he joined the company in 1958. Widdess lives in Loma Verde with his wife and two children.

OPERATIONS MANAGER — Peter L. Uhry is responsible deliveries, transportation problems and other non-merchandising activities at Emporium Marin. He also supervises housewares and furniture departments. Uhry, 25, joined the Emporium in 1962 and has been a floor supervisor in San Francisco. He and his wife expect to move to Marin.

Oldtime Emporium Ad Man Keeps Close Eye On Store

With more than 86 years to his credit, early Emporium advertising manager James H. Neal, a resident of Marin, still shows enthusiasm for activities of the firm that employed him more than 50 years ago.

The brighteyed octogenarian was advertising manager for two years right after the 1906 earthquake and fire when the San Francisco store was moved to Van Ness Avenue between Post and Sutter streets. Later he opened his own advertising agency.

"Those were hectic days in 1906 and 1907," he remembers. "It was then that the Emporium coined and adopted the slogan: 'The store with the money back policy.' It may seem inconceivable now, but few if any merchants in those days returned your money once a sale was made. But the old policy of 'Caveat Emptor' gradually eroded and faded into history. Thus the Emporium led the way in a new society of sound values, good merchandising and accurate advertising."

Neal, who lives close by the Northgate site is in a geographical position to keep a constant check on progress at Emporium Marin. He was there at the ground breaking; has looked in on several construction phases—and he will be at tomorrow's opening ceremonies.

SERVICE AREA SPEEDS RECEIPT AND DELIVERY

Service areas at Emporium Marin were designed to speed the receipt and delivery of goods.

They include a large receiving dock with space for four trucks, and with mechanical ramp dock levelers, making use of lessons learned in modern store design since World War II and through experience at other Emporium-Capwell stores in the Bay Area.

Areas in excess of 15.000 square feet are devoted to row after row of metal shelves—ceiling high—for reserve stocks, bulk storage sections and marshalling areas. Much of the reserve stock is housed on the third floor.

It Takes Money To Collect Taxes, Federals Report

CHICAGO (AP) — The cost of collecting federal taxes is currently running 45 cents for every $100 of revenue.

The Internal Revenue Service says that during 1962 it determined the ratio when the nation's taxpayers put a then record $99.4 billions in the government coffers. The present cost of 45 cents compares with the 32 cents per $100 in 1944, the lowest on record, and the all-time high of $5.30 of 1871.

When the graduated income tax began in 1913, the IRS spent $1.59 for every $100 it collected.

ONCE HAD MARIN COUNTY CLUB

'Second Time Around' For Store

The Emporium's new store in the Northgate Shopping Center is not its first appearance in Marin County—but its "second time around."

The first one began in Fairfax in 1925 and lasted until World War II.

There were no dry goods counters or long racks of women's wear, but during the fair weather month the place was filled with clerks, salespeople, buyers and department managers.

This was the Emporium Country Club, originally the site of Lord Charles Fairfax's estate, later the famous Pastori restaurant, and now known as Town and Country Club of Marin.

During prohibition, the once booming business at Pastori's restaurant declined to a point where it could no longer be said to be profitable. Emporium executives who had visited the place often during its golden years thought the 32-acre grounds would be an excellent site for an employees' club for use on weekends and vacations.

The land was purchased and many thousands of dollars were spent in improving it. A huge tiled swimming pool (still considered one of the largest tiled pools in Northern California) was built; tent cabins and dormitories were constructed.

For more than a decade Emporium employees came to it on weekends by the hundreds. Many of them spent their vacations there, swimming or lounging by the pool in the daytime, dancing in the clubhouse at night. The Pastori station sign on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad line was taken down and "Emporium" substituted.

Toward the end of the 1930s the store owners decided to discontinue the operation. For about three years it saw little company activity, and in 1942 it was purchased by Max Friedman, the present owner, who built more swimming pools and more cabins and made it the recreational center it is today.

But occasionally some of the older Emporium employees wander in the grounds and look around nostalgically. They had a wonderful time there—while it lasted.

More Freeways Open In Germany

NEW YORK (UPI)—It will be much easier for tourists to get around in Germany this summer because of the recent opening of new sections of autobahn.

One new portion links Saarbruecken, capital of the Saar, with the West German network of super highways. A section at Dortmund and the southern bypass near Aachen were completed. Another important leg finished was the branch between Halensee and Siemenstadt outside West Berlin.

Marching Pageantry Scheduled In London

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the finest marching and massed band displays in the British Isles will take place at the Royal Tournament in London, July 8-25, says the British Travel Assn.

A member of the royal family is nearly always present to take the salute at this event, which is 84 years old this year. The Household Cavalry's "Musical Ride," bands, drums, pipes and dancers of the North Irish Brigade and the massed bands of the Royal Marines will take part.

The Name's The Thing For Air-Loving Family

SOUTH SALEM, N.Y. (AP)—Capt. Joseph Mitchell, Eastern Airlines employee since 1938, and his wife named two of their three sons for airplanes—Douglas and Curtis.

On June 7 they became grandparents for the first time. Douglas Mitchell, who recently became a pilot for Eastern, and his wife named their daughter Piper.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1868, the former Confederate states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana were readmitted to the Union.

In 1876, Sitting Bull led the Sioux Indians in the Battle of Little Big Horn that wiped out Gen. George Custer and his men in an action that later became known as "Custer's Last Stand."

In 1950, a military conflict began when North Korean Communists invaded South Korea.

In 1962, the Supreme Court handed down a decision interpreted as barring prayer in public schools.

A thought for the day — Philosopher Friedrich Nietzche wrote: "Distrust all in whom the impulse to punish is powerful."

South has two spades and one heart, and therefore needs six tricks in diamonds and clubs combined to make the game contract. Even if he gets four diamond tricks he will still need two clubs.

NOT SURE

The trouble with going after the diamonds hammer and tongs is that South cannot be sure of getting to dummy after knocking out the ace of diamonds.

For example, South might lead the jack of diamonds and then another diamond in the hope that an opponent would be obliged to win the first or second diamond.

Actually, East would refuse both tricks, and the diamonds would not come in.

TOO LATE

It would then be too late to go after the clubs. Declarer would be able to lead clubs from dummy only once.

One club finesse would not be enough to bring in four club tricks even though the finesse succeeds.

The correct play is to lead the jack of diamonds to dummy's king at the second trick. East holds up, and you can return a club from dummy to win a finesse with the queen.

DUMMY QUEEN

Now lead the nine of diamonds to dummy's queen. If an opponent has to win the trick you can get four diamond tricks and two clubs.

Since East holds up his ace of diamonds again, you are once more in dummy to take another club finesse. The jack of clubs wins, and you can continue with the ace of clubs and a low club.

Now you make four club tricks and two diamonds, enough for game.

QUESTION

Partner bids one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K Q 10 7 6

♣ 6 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades or one notrump.

The raise is slightly preferable, since you have a worthless doubleton. You cannot afford to show the diamonds since the hand as a whole is not strong enough for a response at the level of two.

Civil Rights Success Hinges On Way Of Acceptance

Now that the U.S. Senate, through bipartisan vote, has passed the Civil Rights Act and sent it to the House for consideration of amendments—and with President Johnson expecting to sign it July Fourth—the strongest order for equality of all Americans since Lincoln's time nears reality.

So much for enactment after decades of bitter North-South struggle. Now come two other important steps before the millenium: Acceptance and enforcement.

On another July Fourth, the Declaration of Independence outlined truths it held to be self-evident: " . . . that all men are created equal, and that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights . . . " Lincoln reiterated the proposition of equality at Gettysburg.

Machinery for enforcement of the Civil Rights Act were set up in this measure. Acceptance and compliance are in the future. We pray for early, complete compliance—but a century of racial strife, bitterness and discrimination may not result in immediate observance.

In whatever may be before us, all must realize that the Civil Rights Act also declares that all men are created equal. This means whites as well as Negroes. Equality in all civil activities must not be mistaken for over-riding license. Equality is a two-way street.

Whether one approves or disapproves methods used, the Negro in the last few years has put the issue starkly before the American people. The methods and demonstrations used upset many a locality, including the Bay Area. But they got results.

Now that a law is impending, let us all look to courts, the Rights Act and the commissions it created to bring enforcement. Sit-ins, lay-downs, freedom rides and harrassment of hotels, banks and other business firms should stop until the act's lawful methods have been tried.

The Negro entered America as an involuntary chattel. The American Indian, possessing the land before the whites arrived, is all but extinct, after centuries of ruthless, brutal exploitation.

Other minority groups suffered from American discrimination. Chinese for many years were treated as sub-human. California law once prohibited alien Chinese or Japanese from owning real estate. Personal and punitive indignities where heaped on our Jewish people.

The Nineteenth Century's great tide of Irish immigration for years gave the Irish a second-class status. Southerners employed many Irish migrants for work in unhealthy swampland clearance. This protected their property — the Negro slaves. When an Irishman died, he was buried. Discrimination and exploitation beset the Italians who often were here under conditions close to slavery.

Through the years, these foreign-born and their offspring gradually broke down the prejudices, gained equality status. Their splendid record in federal, state and local government, federal and local courts and in leading businesses and professions has been a factor in making America still greater. Similarly in northern and western states, the Negro with proper qualifications has steadily gained prestige in our courts, in our legislature, in state and local offices and professions.

Equality means equal opportunity for education. Fitness and education are primarily the standard for employment. Quotas, arbitrarily demanded of business by any group of Americans cannot be the answer.

There are many big steps ahead of universal acceptance of the Civil Rights Act. Let nobody—regardless of color or creed—impulsively rock the boat.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Preservation Of Historical Landmarks Painstaking Task

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Preservation of historical bits in California is a painstaking and lengthy chore. The State Division of Beaches and Parks, as custodian of historical landmarks, accomplishes part of this guardianship through the many old sites in this state signifying occupancy of other nations.

One of the most significant of these is on the Sonoma County coast, where Russia located an outpost called Fort Ross, a name which in fact is a corruption of Russia.

UNDER THE CZARS, an expedition of Russians struggled for 16 years to establish the empire south of Alaska. They eventually poised a tremendous threat to the Spanish Empire, which extended its chain of missions northward to San Rafael and Sonoma to provide a balance of power.

The restored portion of Fort Ross stands today as an example of the tenacity of the division of beaches and parks in taking an almost destroyed outpost, and building it back partially to its original appearance.

Highway 1 runs right through the fort. So the division it has built around the highway. When the division of highways re-locates the highway, all stoppers will be off to continue the restoration.

So far, the commandant's house, two block-houses, and the Russian chapel have been restored. All are full of artifacts rescued from the Russian past.

The chapel probably is the most imposing of the structures. It was shattered in the earthquake of 1906, but stands today almost as it did when the Russian community worshipped there.

Once a year, a group from the Russian church in San Francisco, complete with the necessities required for a service, treks to Fort Ross for a Memorial Day service. Incantations are heard, a choir relives the ancient music, and the odor of the sweet-smelling censer is brought to life in the little chapel.

FORT ROSS is linked with more than the Russians in California history, for it was purchased by Capt. John A. Sutter when the Russian company in charge decided to abandon the fort due to the drop-off in the take of the sea-otter. It then no longer was a valuable commercial enterprise, so Sutter added it to his vast domain in the Sacramento Valley, only to sell out to private interests later.

But although these eras are gone, the memory of them will be here for a long time, due to the activities of the state in preserving historical landmarks.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

10 YEARS AGO

The Marin Federation of Commuter Clubs resolved to seek state and county support in opposing Pacific Greyhound Lines' application for Interstate Commerce Commission authority to split its Bay Area commute runs from its western state operations.

Proposed realignment of Tiburon Boulevard across a section of Greenwood Beach brought protests from 49 property owners, who contended a proposed four-lane highway would isolate a portion of the beach and destroy property value.

A gang of 15 to 20 Marin County youths was suspected of the recent burning of shacks near the Greenbrae tunnel, Sheriff Walter Sellmer announced.

WILL THIS ONE BE EASY?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was very encouraging to read that ABAG's executive committee is asking each city on San Francisco Bay periphery to enact a local ordinance "making ABAG the appeal authority on fill permits on private lands." We sincerely trust San Rafael will be among those enacting such an ordinance at an early date—especially since San Rafael seems to be one of the chief offenders in depriving the citizens of California (and more particularly of Marin County) of the "open area" of the tidelands.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Welcome is extended to Dr. Sam Hanzel, of the Far Left, from the American Right. It is more than entertaining; it is positively instructive to observe the thought processes of Dr. Hanzel's fringe of the spectrum, and you deserve credit for giving room to his attempt to pin down and define the "far right" (I-J, June 17). Dr. Hanzel is an inexhaustible contributor to your "Letters" section, and continued cultural exchanges between his fringe and the main body politic can conceivably be rewarding for both.

Moderate and conservative readers of Dr. Hanzel would do well to avoid a reaction of mere irritation to his writings. Charity, not irritation, is indicated, for the Far Left needs assistance equally as much as do others of the handicapped.

It is important to understand that the Far Left cannot correctly be said to disagree with conservatism, for disagreement implies a level of understanding they have not attained. Having themselves no fundamental and guiding principles, but only an ever-shifting list of pet programs, they cannot understand the forces which prevent immediate adoption of their current program for Utopia Today. Failing to understand these forces which frustrate them, they consider them frightening, sinister and evil, as man has done through the ages. . . .

The reason for this should be clear. If the loudest of the arguments heard against a man or a principle are inherently foolish or preposterous, the impression will be left that the man or the principle is worthy. For instance, to use an example chosen by Dr. Hanzel, Senator Goldwater's principles lead him to believe that massive new legislation from Washington to regulate private conduct in the field of civil rights is both useless and unwise. Yet, preceding his "no" vote last week, he had not voted against any civil rights bills in the past. . . . These facts will presumably be brought to the public's attention in the coming months, and it is therefore delightful to hear the Far Left trumpet that the senator is a racist.

The United Nations issue is another of Dr. Hanzel's examples. Senator Goldwater has not and does not advocate our withdrawal. He does insist that all member nations pay their bills, and that we should "reassess our commitment" to that organization if a majority of its voting members want to issue full membership rights to an aggressive, war-mongering nation such as Communist China. . . . If the Far Left will continue to falsify the senator's position he can derive considerable benefit.

The remainder of Dr. Hanzel's contribution dealt with a supposed desire of the American Right for child labor, "darkies in the cotton fields," and Hitlerism. I am unable to summarize his analysis in these areas, because I frankly could not follow it. . . .

I am personally unwilling to belong to or associate with any Far Right organization, because I consider many of the well-publicized positions of some of their leaders and members on a par—in their degree of foolishness—with those of the Far Left. It may therefore be presumptuous of me to respond to an attempted definition of the Far Right, which the Far Left believes (with true passion) is the sole support of Senator Goldwater. However, since in Dr. Hanzel's field of reference any supporter of the senator (51.3 per cent of California Republicans as of June 2) is, ipso facto, a member of the Far Right, perhaps he will accept me as a spokesman.

Crankcase Device Had Pre-Smog Test

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Speaking of smog control devices for automobiles, the idea is not new. We did the same thing to our cars back in the twenties, although the idea was not to control smog but rather on a theory that the crankcase vapors would serve as an upper motor lubricant. The system was the same, a tube of some kind arranged in such a manner that the vacuum in the manifold, or the air going into the carburetor intake would draw crankcase vapors into the upper motor.

It was not long before we discovered the folly of this idea, since the hot vapors condensed in the intake manifold or wherever they first hit a cooler surface. The result was a dandy gummed-up carburetor or a manifold and intake valve system so goopy that we had to build bonfires in which to roast manifolds to cook the goop out, there was no other way, plus many hours of scraping valves etc., because there was no solvent that would loosen that stuff.

Some personal thinking makes me wonder what's going on. The pollution in question comes as a result of combustion, and products of combustion are created not only by cars, but by every gas-burning appliance in every home, to say nothing of industrial processes. If the products of combustion are the cause of all this clamor for smog control devices, why add additional carbon to the burned mixture by introducing impurities from a crankcase?

Two items are present in a crankcase: Volatiles from the heated oil, which are heavy and settle down to the ground, and the so-called blow-by, exactly the same stuff that comes out of the tail pipe, the amount of blow-by depending on condition of the engine. So what good is there in trying to reburn already burned exhaust gases that happened to be in the wrong place?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A CRUSTY PROFESSOR of comparative literature registered distinct annoyance when a student just out of military service was late to class for the third morning running. "Tell me," rasped the professor, "exactly what did they say in the Army when you sauntered in late like this?"

"Well," mused the unperturbed student, "first they saluted.

Then they inquired, 'How do you feel this morning, sir?' "

BOOK PUBLISHER Alfred A. Knopf, invited to address an exclusive group after dinner in Boston recently, was warned by an old friend just before he ascended the podium, "Remember, Alfred, the longer the SPOKE, the longer the TIRE!" Mr. Knopf thereupon wisely cut his prepared address in half and was rewarded with the heartiest applause heard in that hall in years.

FOR SOME REASON, 2,000 suckers in a Las Vegas nightclub chortled with glee when comedian Alan King leveled with them. "Greed, out-and-out greed is what brought you here," pointed out King. "You keep expecting to beat them — and they keep building new hotels!"

GOP Issues Council Attacks LBJ In Weakest Spot—Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON—The Republican Party is mobilizing its campaign ammunition to attack the Johnson administration on its weakest foreign policy front — weakening of U. S. prestige and power in Southeast Asia.

WHOEVER is the GOP nominee, the shape of the attack is visible in the direct and thrusting criticism by the Republican Critical Issues Council of what it considers the "dismal record" of the Kennedy-Johnson administration in the Far East.

The council sees the U. S. being steadily pushed out of the Far East by a combination of Communist aggression and American "vacillation" and "indecision" and warns that this retreat can "undermine our position throughout the world—and must be stopped.

The report, prepared under the direction of Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, reflects a wide consensus among Republican leaders. Both its criticisms and proposals would be acceptable to either Sen. Barry Goldwater or Gov. William W. Scranton.

THIS DOES NOT mean that Dr. Eisenhower has issued a straddling report. It means that on the issue of doing whatever is needed to protect the free nations in Southeast Asia and keep the U. S. from being liquidated as a Pacific power, both wings of the Republican party are united.

To its great credit the Republican report shuns all easy answers, makes no play whatsoever to the emotional sentiment of "bring the boys back home" and comes out unequivocally for stronger political and military actions.

Unlike such Democratic Senators as Mike Mansfield of Montana, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Frank Church of Idaho, who criticize President Lyndon B. Johnson for defending South Vietnam, the Eisenhower council supports the Johnson administration objectives but criticizes it for doing too little and doing it badly.

It blames the administration for backing away from the offer of the Asian members of SEATO to defend the area in 1961.

It criticizes the administration for "pressuring" the Laotian anti-Communist government to embrace the Communists in a pact of neutrality which never had any prospect of working.

It accuses the administration of being a party to a "Far Eastern Munich" in encouraging Indonesia to take West New Guinea from the Dutch on the assumption that a plebiscite would be held to determine whether the people wanted Indonesian rule and then raising "hardly a whisper of protest" when Sukarno let it be known he had no intention of honoring the agreement.

THE REPUBLICAN white paper contends that "New policies are manifestly required, changes must be made, and initiative must be taken if the influence of the U. S. is to be restored in the Far East.

It finds that at this state the U. S. is losing in Southeast Asia and reports that in its judgment President Johnson "Is simply allowing a drift in policy or following a policy of drift."

It is all to the good that the council's report does not stoop to "campaign oratory" by seeking to wean public opinion away from the administration's stated objective. Its sound premise is that "the United States is a Pacific power and security in the Far East is a vital interest of this nation."

This is a campaign document at its best.

State Department Blocking Mrs. Nhu

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, on direct orders of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, is being prevented from coming to the U. S. for a nationwide lecture tour "to tell the American people the truth about South Vietnam."

BARRING A complete State Department reversal, the outspoken sister-in-law of the slain President Diem will not fill that engagement—nor any others, at least until after the November elections.

Abba Schwartz, of the Bureau of Consular and Security Affairs, whose "advisory opinions" have cleared the way for the admission of a number of controversial aliens, is personally handling the stalling of Mrs. Nhu's application for a six-month visitor's visa.

Consul General Wayne Fisher in Paris has been instructed, in cables from Schwartz, to hold up Mrs. Nhu's visa until a thorough study has been made of her "inflammatory statements against U. S. officials."

It is understood completion of this study will require several months.

The obstructive Schwartz edict arrived as Fisher was preparing to approve the visa, which he favored.

STATE DEPARTMENT insiders say that Schwartz, who has been under sharp congressional fire for some time, is planning to delay the granting of a visa as long as possible in the hope that will discourage Mrs. Nhu. But if she persists, she will be turned down outright.

If that harsh crackdown becomes necessary, it will be taken on two grounds: That she is stateless as the present Vietnam government does not recognize her passport; that her entry here "would not be in the national interest."

In pursuing this backstage strategy, Schwartz is credited as having the full approval of Rusk.

Rusk reputedly has told Schwartz to use every legal means to keep her out of the U. S., until this year's crucial elections are over. Final action will have to be determined by Rusk.

In anticipation of that, she has written a blistering letter charging him with deliberately barring her from the U. S. so the American people will not be given the "true story of what happened in South Vietnam."

Nguyen Thi Thuan, secretary to Mrs. Nhu, in a letter to Charles Hastek, an official of the Conservative Club of Flushing, N. Y., has outlined her plans to counter the State Department's efforts to muzzle her. Highlights are as follows:

"If the State Department refuses a visa to Madame Nhu, she is contemplating sending her daughter instead to present the address . . . If Madame Nhu decides to publicly release her letter to Secretary Rusk, she will inform you. Her aim in life is to expose the truth about Vietnam, and she therefore does not hesitate before the blocks put in her way to the telling of the truth, no matter how much controversy that may cause. The more blocks that are put in her way, the more it means that there are powerful persons who do not want the truth told and the more reason there is to tell it."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Plans For New Tamalpais District High Schools Are Mouth-Watering

A REPORT, which would make the professional educator's mouth water, has been dreamed up for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

At this stage it is fantasy. It will become reality when board members get down to the job of figuring out how much they want to spend to build high schools on the Tiburon Peninsula and in San Geronimo Valley.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, in a memo to members of the educational specifications committee, which is made up of teachers and district administrators who worked on the report with members of the educational planning consultant firm of Odell MacConnell Associates of Palo Alto, state: "they (the board) understand that we have developed our specifications on the basis of educational considerations only, without regard to the problem of finance."

MONEY FOR construction of the two schools will come from a bond issue, most likely to be offered to voters in early 1965. In the meantime, the planners are planning and the architects are drawing.

This is what they have come up with so far—two high schools to house 1,500 students apiece. There is emphasis on variable grouping and flexible scheduling.

PLANS FOR ATHLETIC activities are interesting. Recommended for construction, besides the standard baseball, track and football fields, are a commando course, archery range, practice green for golfers and handball course. In addition, there would be tennis courts and a swimming and diving pool.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE center would serve as the focal point of the two high schools. Separate entrances for students and teachers and the public are advocated to promote a more friendly relationship between the administrative staff and students.

The resource materials center would house a library for 15,000 books. The student activity center has rooms for such goings-on as student government, student store and bank a, school publications and eating facilities.

IN THE LANGUAGE center there would be flexible arrangement of classrooms to allow space for 10 to 60 students, as well as a tiered lecture room for 75 students.

The social studies-business education center would have increased flexibility in arranging room spaces. Room sizes could be altered to take care of from 10 to 150 students.

Special spaces would be constructed to house office machines used in the business education courses.

The consultants envision areas where the students can use desk calculators and make mathematical models in the mathematics-science-technology center. There would be in addition to regular laboratories, areas where independent student research could be done.

THE APPLIED and fine arts center would have room for art, music, homemaking, special education programs as well as a 450-seat little theater. Spaces for handicapped students would be planned to allow for a wide variety of learning activities and small group or individual instruction.

It all adds up to an appetizing morsal. Let's hope the taxpayers can swallow the cost.

Good Old Days? Well, They Have Been Replaced By Good New Days

NEW YORK (AP)—Those good old days. Oh, those good old days!

Old-timers 60 years of age or more like to drop a tear in their sarsaparilla as they recall how much better and more romantic life was in their youth than it is now.

But was it really?

LIFE IN AMERICA before World War I still had something of a pioneer quality, and hardship and discomfort were pretty much taken for granted.

Weather and work held people in thrall far more than they do now; leisure was more for the dead than the living.

When old-timers reminisce, they don't dwell on such points as:

Probably not half the homes in America had indoor plumbing.

People worked a 50- to 60-hour week.

If you were wealthy enough to afford a car, you had to hand crank it to get the motor started. The roads were so bad you were lucky if you went 100 miles without a flat tire; if you did get a flat tire, you had to fix it yourself.

Most women had lost their beauty by the time they were 40; most men were considered old at 45.

Pensions were unheard of in most industries.

THERE WERE no electric washing machines. Wives had to souse the family's grimy duds in tubs, and launder them by hand or with a scrubbing brush on a ridged washboard.

Winters were long and cold; summers long and hot.

The kitchen held no gleaming refrigerator. The pan under the icebox had to be emptied daily.

Wood-burning stoves were used in rural areas, and somebody in the household had to chop the wood.

After a hard day spent at other chores, mothers had to darn, often by lamplight, the menfolks' socks.

IN ADDITION to all their other woes, women had to lace themselves into corsets so tightly they couldn't swallow a grape without feeling uncomfortable.

It took almost as many days to travel across the continent by train as it now does hours by jet plane. In a small town, any resident who had seen both Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon was a celebrity. No banker was crazy enough to lend you money to make a vacation trip.

There were no drive-in theaters, no radio, no television, no hi-fi sets, no piped-in music, no canned dog food.

What do they mean "the good old days?" About all they had we don't have is a big foamy glass of nickel beer. And it's hardly worth turning the calendar back just for that.

CHP Cars May Get Bucket Seats

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The highway patrol said yesterday it would start putting bucket seats and possibly headrests in patrol vehicles if officers wanted them.

CHP Commissioner Bradford Crittenden said officers had tested about 200 vehicles already equipped with bucket seats and about 60 per cent said they favored them.

Those who want them can get them when they turn in their old vehicles for new ones, he said.

He said patrol cars in the Redding area were using head rests and about 50 more would be installed "for purposes of evaluation."

Women Tell Of Argument On Houseboat

Angry Voices Heard 10 Days Before Slaying

By ROSS DAVIS

Two young women, roommates on a Waldo Point houseboat, corroborated in testimony in the Marin Superior Court murder trial today that a loud and angry argument over guns occurred about 10 days before the March 27 icepick slaying of a dairy firm executive.

Irene Anderson, 26, cashier for Trade Fair in Sausalito resuming her testimony this morning, declared the pre-killing argument was in the houseboat's rear apartment, occupied by John Lee King, who is charged jointly with Robert Lee Jones in the slaying of Donald G. Corbett Jr.

She said the row began at approximately 10:30 p.m. when the men's voices rose and thin apartment walls made her aware of the conversation.

HEARS VOICES

"Why did you take the guns? Why did you take the guns?" she quoted one voice.

"You know why " the other voice replied.

"That's not the reason why. You just keep cool and I'll keep the guns. You know what happened last time," she said the first voice retorted.

Miss Anderson added both voices were angry, but she could not identify them. One, she said, then added: "You want to split up; we'll split up right now. You know where you'd be if it weren't for me."

SMALL ARSENAL

She testified yesterday that on an earlier occasion she saw a small arsenal of weapons hanging on a wall in King's quarters. Today, she also identified a photograph presented by the prosecution which showed a rifle, three hand-guns, three knives and a pair of binoculars on the wall. She said her recollection was of more guns hanging there.

Marin City Teen-Agers Set Barrage Of Fires

FIREMEN BATTLE BLAZE—Marin County firemen fight blaze in House C-37, an old Marin City unit that was scheduled to be demolished next month. This and six other fires were deliberately set, Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom declared. Youths pelted firemen with rocks as they went to one of the blazes. (Independent-Journal photos by Phil Fradkin)

Then Toss Rocks At Firemen

A maurading band of Marin City youths went on a rock-throwing, fire-setting spree last night that endangered homes and destroyed a vacant building.

County firemen had to withstand a barrage of rocks while fighting one of seven fires set between 9:32 p.m. and 12:40 a.m., reported County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrol units and city firemen were called in for reinforcements, as more than 100 teen-agers roamed the area.

After questioning through the early hours of the morning, sheriff's deputies arrested six teenagers on charges of arson.

BOOKED AT JAIL

Steve Howard, 18, of 235 Drake Avenue, and Claude Burdett Burton, 19, of 33 Cole Drive, both of Marin City, were booked at the county jail. Municipal Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson set their bail at $5,500 each.

Three 16-year-old boys from Marin city also were charged with arson and placed in Juvenile Hall.

VACANT UNIT

The arson suspects reportedly set fire to House C-37, a vacant four-unit dwelling at the rear of the Marin City Market, at 11:45 p.m.

They carried an old mattress into the house, set it afire with a match and fled when they saw patrol cars approaching, the sheriff's office reported.

Burton reportedly told deputies

By PHIL FRADKIN

It is a war which is threatening to tear the town in half—those for and those against construction of a 12-story retirement "residence" off Via Holon.

There have been economic repercussions for city councilmen involved and vague threats of recall. There are some bitter aspects to the fight.

Petitions bearing some 1,200 names in opposition to the 3-2 action of the city council in approving a 105-foot height variance for the building were presented to the council at its June 17 meeting.

The same group, now called Larkspur Citizens for Orderly Progress, is continuing to solicit more names to add to the protest petitions. The group is also soliciting money to finance its campaign.

Larkspur merchants started out this week with between 25 and 30 petitions in favor of the proposal. Professional petition circulators hired by the developers are also combing the city for signatures.

Marin Ambulance Corp. owner Robert Parker set up a table and chairs outside of the Bank of America building yesterday and gathered 20 signatures in two hours in support of the proposal.

Parker claimed that a column which provides for a person to note that they had also signed a petition against the building would, if checked by the person, cancel out previous signature of the "anti" petition.

"We will outdo their petitions. The problem is that the people of Greenbrae are trying to run Larkspur," he said.

Economic "reprisals" have been taken against two of the three city councilmen who voted to grant the variance.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon's rug cleaning business has not received a single rug from the Hillview Gardens subdivision since the controversy developed, he said. He has received one rug from Greenbrae to clean—a neighbor's.

Councilman Henry Brocco's

Retirement Center Veto Could Mean Apartments

Three-story apartment houses will be constructed on the proposed six-acre site for a 282-unit retirement apartment development if the Larkspur City Council decides to deny the request for the 12-story, five-million-dollar unit after reviewing the matter July 1.

Dr. John C. Siemens, owner of the proposed development, said today during a panel discussion on the center on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," that most of the trees on the site would have to be destroyed to make room for the apartment houses if plans for the retirement development were not approved.

The Larkspur City Council approved a height variance for the structure on the south side of Bon Air Hill off Via Holon June 4, but agreed to reconsider the plan last Wednesday after receiving petitions protesting its action bearing about 1,200 signatures.

Larkspur Mayor Neil Brixon, who favors the high-rise structure, said the city would receive $19,000 in taxes from the development, $9,000 more than if apartment houses were built on the site.

He said the difference in taxes which would be received by other agencies if the retirement center were approved in contrast to taxes from the apartments was $6,000 for the Marin College District; $15,000 for Tamalpais High School District, and $22,000 for Kentfield Elementary School District.

LBJ Sends Marines To Search In Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered 200 Marines to join the search today for three civil rights workers missing in Mississippi. See also story, page 2.)

The president's order was announced by George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, who said the Marines were being moved into the search area near Philadelphia, Miss., from Meridian, where he said they had been based.

Asked how long the troops had been at Meridian, and whether they had been brought there on a standby basis, Reedy referred all inquiries to the Defense Department.

In addition to the 200 Marines, Reedy said, eight military helicopters will join an augmented force of FBI agents, federal marshals and state patrolmen in hunting for the three youths who vanished Sunday night. Their fire-gutted station wagon was found Tuesday on the edge of a swamp near Philadelphia.

Viet Cong Overrun

SAIGON (AP) — The government reported its forces have overrun a Communist Viet Cong arms depot in the Mekong River delta and captured weapons that included a Red Chinese 75 mm recoilless cannon.

Brush Fire Hits Monterey County

SALINAS (AP)—A brush fire reported touched off by military pyrotechnics, swept over 1,400 acres of Hunter Liggett Military Reservation and private lands in southern Monterey County last night and today.

About 350 firefighters, summoned from as far as San Bernardino and Nevada counties had the blaze 75 per cent contained by mid-morning.

State foresters, soldiers and prisoners from conservation camps fought to stem the march of flames southwest through brush, grass and scattered pines and oaks.

State Orders Water Firm Improvement

The California Public Utilities Commission ruled yesterday that Point Reyes Water Co.'s facilities and methods are not adequate to assure "a continuous supply of potable water at adequate pressures."

It ordered that James J. Downey, operator of the company, make a series of improvements. These include:

1. Automatic controls on well pumps actuated by the level of water in storage tanks.

2. Rearrangement of the booster station serving the Mesa Road upper zone so water will be lifted from the tanks instead of from the transmission drain.

3. Interconnection of distribution systems in two upper zones.

4. Replacement of at least 200 feet of small pipe on Marshall

Charges Against Rafferty Denied

The charge yesterday by Gov. Edmond G. Brown over Rafferty's refusal to judge an essay contest because three directors of a sponsoring foundation had been cited in an un-American activities report.

Security Ring Annoys Khrushchev

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev is getting restless and annoyed over the colossal security wall the Swedish police have put around him.

With thousands of patrolmen bristling with sabers and pistols, and hundreds of detectives in every guise from cook to charwoman Stockholm is like an armed camp.

Khrushchev's impatience was demonstrated during a visit to a shipbuilding center when a policeman thrust out an arm to guide him. Khrushchev struck down the arm and gave him a black look.

Six Die As Troop Plane Crashes

FORT JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—An army troop carrier plane, losing the power of an engine on a take-off in a cow pasture, crashed and burned shortly before midnight. Six soldiers were killed and 24 injured.

The two-engine CV-2 Caribou lost the power of an engine a few feet off the ground on a temporary runway.

New 'Patriot' Group Forming

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Letters addressed "Dear Patriot" have invited Southern Californians to attend a meeting at a Los Angeles hotel Tuesday to organize a California Citizens Council.

But the plan met trouble when the hotel—the Ambassador—learned the Council was to be a branch of the segregationist Citizens Council movement.

Fred Hayman, manager of the hotel, said he was canceling the reservation. "I didn't know these were the White Citizens Council People until I got some calls about it," he said.

Suits Expected In Smoking Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and federal court suits are the two likely obstacles to implementation of a new Federal Trade Commission rule requiring the tobacco industry to label cigarettes as health hazards.

The extent of the delay may be detailed today when representatives of the tobacco industry testify before the House Commerce Committee.

Paul Rand Dixon, chairman of the FTC, told the committee he hopes the industry will comply voluntarily, but he added: "They can take this rule to the nearest court and ask for a review. I'm satisfied this will happen."

Smoking May Not Be Heart Attack Culprit

Survey Of 'Stress' Victims Questions Cigarette Theory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A New York heart specialist, reporting on a survey of 12,000 professional persons, said today that job stress is closely linked to coronary heart disease — but smoking may not be.

The survey covered 14 occupational groups with "obvious differences" in job tensions, said Dr. Henry I. Russek, consultant in cardiovascular disease, U.S. Public Health Service hospital, Staten Island.

JOB STRESS

Dr. Russek listed those surveyed in order of decreasing stress: General medical practitioners, anesthesiologists, dermatologists, general dental practioners, oral surgeons, orthodontists, and periodontists, general law practioners, trial lawyers, lawyers in various specialties and patent lawyers.

In addition, he said, security analysts and security traders on the New York Stock Exchange were compared.

NON-SMOKERS HURT

Persons who said they never had smoked showed significantly higher coronary heart disease rates than those who stopped smoking before their attack or before the time of the questionnaire if there was no attack, Dr. Russek reported at the annual convention of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Russek's report followed a statement by the AMA's House of Delegates saying that the AMA recognizes "a significant relationship between cigarette smoking and the incidence of lung cancer and certain other diseases, and that cigarette smoking is a serious health hazard." But it didn't mention heart disease specifically.

HUBERT B. WOLFESCHLEGELSTEINHAUSENBERGERDORFF

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenberg-erdorffwelchevoraltern, etc.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "When somebody calls my name, I don't have any trouble finding out who they mean," says the man who claims he has the longest last name in the United States—666 letters, plus 26 given names.

"I like to be unique," says Hubert B. Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergerdorff, a printer.

Hubert, 47, a Philadelphian of German descent, doesn't use his full name when signing documents—just the first 35 letters.

That's how he is listed with an insurance firm, which has to process his policy by hand. The company's computer stops dead when it comes to any identification beyond 35 letters.

Hubert's Social Security card has the "shortened" version—the 44 letters, including Hubert B.—even though it takes up two lines.

He says his full name is:

What's in a name?

In an admittedly loose translation, Hubert says: It tells a story of a wolf-killer, a resident of a stone house in a village, whose ancestors were conscientious shepherds whose sheep were well fed and carefullly guarded against attack by ferocious enemies and whose ancestors 1,200,000 years before the first earth man, in a space ship made with tungsten and seven iridium motors and using light as a source of power, started a long journey across interstellar space, searching for a star around which was an inhabitable planet where they could establish a new race of intelligent mankind and where they would live long, happy lives and be free from attack by other intelligensia from the outer space from whence they came.

Hunt Continues For Missing Mississippi Rights Workers

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The search for three missing civil rights workers resumed in Mississippi today. In St. Augustine, Fla., integration strategists prepared for a legal battle.

Federal and state authorities still had found no trace of two white men and a Negro missing since Sunday. Their burned station wagon was found Tuesday at the edge of a swamp near Philadelphia, Miss.

Negro leaders were critical of the lack of progress in the search by officers who so far have remained noncommittal.

A battery of Negro attorneys met in St. Augustine today to plan strategy aimed at knocking down a state-imposed curfew on night demonstrations.

Florida Gov. Farris Bryant has been ordered to tell a federal court in Jacksonville, Fla., tomorrow why he imposed the curfew on night demonstrations in St. Augustine despite a federal court ruling that Negroes could demonstrate there.

Elsewhere in the nation:

Washington—Nearly 2,000 members of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People marched on the Justice Department yesterday with a demand for stronger action in Mississippi.

McComb, Miss. —The City of McComb, where dynamite bombs were tossed at three Negro homes earlier this week, yesterday hired its first Negro policeman.

Boston, Mass. — Singing, sign-carrying Negroes and whites marched in front of the federal building here yesterday asking that President Lyndon B. Johnson assign 1,000 U.S. marshals to Mississippi to protect civil rights workers.

Washington — Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) yesterday called on President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to persuade Negro leaders to halt "the invasion of Mississippi" by integrationists.

New York — President Johnson was urged by the American Jewish Congress yesterday to use all federal resources in the search for the three missing civil rights workers in Mississippi.

Mosk Rules On Crossing Guards

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The attorney general's office said yesterday the State Highway Patrol could "hire" unpaid school crossing guards — and the guards would probably be eligible for workman's compensation.

The opinion, asked by the Los Angeles County counsel, said the state would be liable for any "tortious acts" by the guards just as if they were paid.

It said there was some dispute over their eligibility for workmen's compensation, but that under the "liberal construction" of the law, "compensation payable by the state probably would be awarded."

San Rafael Urged To Buy Terra Linda Park Site

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended that negotiations begin for purchase of about four acres of the Nunes property in Terra Linda for a park site.

Thecity should offer a basic price of $6,500 per acre, the commission suggested to the city council. The property is located at the end of De La Guerra Road.

A letter to the commission from attorney John G. Buresh, representing the Nunes interests, offered to start negotiations, and mentioned a sale price of about $7,500 per acre for the four-acre portion. The price for purchase of the entire 16-acre property would be about $7,000 per acre. The smaller section is the better part of the property, it was pointed out.

Developer Douglas M. Christensen asked the commission how much of a 26-acre site at the end of Montecillo Road in Terra Linda the city wants for a park site. The commission has proposed use of about four acres as a park but said no decision can be made until the council approves the parks budget and an overall plan for Terra Linda is prepared.

The commission decided not to recommend approval of a request for use of Albert Field Sept. 21-22 for a circus for charitable purposes. Members felt the park was inadequate to handle a circus.

Commissioners will attend a dedication July 11 at noon of playground equipment donated to the city by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce for use at Albert Field.

Funds For Hamilton

A Senate committee yesterday approved $112,000 for construction projects at Hamilton Air Force Base. Allocations to nearly 50 Army, Navy and Air Force installations in California, including the Marin County facility, were approved by the House several weeks ago.

Haircut Price Hike

Bidders Again Spurn Grant School Offer

For the second time, no one bid for the former Grant School property in Novato when it came up for auction at 11 a.m. today.

Fourteen people watched, but no one offered the minimum bid of $197,000 required for the 109,211 square feet of land at the corner of Grant Avenue and Highway 101. A highway division representative said it would not be offered for sale again for at least four months.

This was the second time that this parcel of land had gone begging at public auction. The first time, the state asked a minimum bid of $210,000.

More than two years ago, the city of Novato discussed buying the land. It was then withdrawn from public sale while the negotiations were carried on with the city, but the city council desided against the purchase.

Friends Say Bank Suspect Lived High

OAKLAND (UPI) — A 20-year-old bank messenger accused of walking off with $188,440 in bank funds was pictured by friends today as a youth who liked to "live it up" on his $300-a-month salary.

William C. Mortensen, bank credit manager, quoted Nelson as making such remarks as "Oh, I went to a fabulous place for dinner last night — I had a fabulous time."

"He always looked very nice, dressed very well," Mortensen said. "He had an expensive cashmere coat last Christmas."

Bank associates recalled that Nelson displayed an abnormal interest in hair dying about a week ago and questioned several women tellers about the technique they used.

Recently he brought his pet rabbit, Matilda, to the bank in a large paper shopping bag of the type he allegedly used to walk out of the bank with the funds.

His landlord wouldn't let him keep the animal so he brought it to the bank to give to a fellow employee. On Tuesday, as he left the bank with a heavily laden shopping bag, one of the employees asked him, "What do you have there, another rabbit?"

Nelson relied, "No sir, that's no rabbit."

Peace Corps To Test

The United States Civil Service Commission will give a Peace Corps Placement Test at 8:30 a.m. July 11 at the post office in San Rafael.

Sausalito School District trustees last night adopted a preliminary 1964-65 budget of $767,000 and at the same time approved salary raises for about 25 employees.

Five per cent raises were approved for bus drivers, maintenance men, secretaries and for child care center employees while 3 per cent raises were approved for cafeteria personnel. Raises are effective July 1.

The budget is up mainly because of salary increases, said Supt. Marcus F. Davis, the current budget being $670,000.

The tax rate may be reduced if assessed valuation is what its people have said it is going to be, said Davis. However, he did not estimate the rate. The current tax rate is $3.23 per $100 assessed valuation, including 13 cents override tax and four cents for bond retirement.

The board will hold a closed session Tuesday at 8 p.m. to discuss hiring a principal for Manzanita School.

Open House Set At San Quentin

San Quentin Prison will hold open house in its recently expanded clothing factory at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow for prison employees, their wives and guests.

Some of the inmate crew will demonstrate machines and processes in manfuacturing of blue jeans, shirts and other products. Personnel of the prison industries will be guides.

The new plant was completed last April, and went into full operation May 6 with 120 men. L. C. Sparke is plant superintendent, and foremen are Stanford A. Raymond, Harry Hertzog and Ralph Canning.

School Boards Association Meeting Set

Members of the 26 school boards in Marin County are expected to attend a school boards association meeting July 6 to discuss employer-employee relations, problems of segregation and the effect of the Unruh Act.

The meeting is the first of its kind and is sponsored by the California School Boards Assn., which will provide speakers for the meeting from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Included will be a discussion of the effect on local districts of collective bargaining by teachers' unions, and the effect of a proposed statewide civil service system for non-teaching personnel.

Discussion will continue on the problems relating to minority groups and on the Unruh Act which backs consolidation of school districts.

Two Women Tell Of Arguments Heard 10 Days Before Slaying

She said she also saw King and Jones at the houseboat about noon on March 28, the day following the murder of Corbett in his Sausalito apartment. She said she, Miss Anderson and the landlord, Tom Brown, were inspecting tidal wave damage to King's apartment when the two defendants returned.

"What are you doing on my boat? she said King demanded of Brown. She said Brown went ashore, and King informed her he had a bad "hangover" and wanted to be alone.

Miss Gordon, a San Francisco architectural firm employee said the defendants reappeared about 30 minutes later, "freshened up" in changed clothing.

She did not see them again until in the trial courtroom, Miss Gordon said.

She added that she saw a painting, one of three allegedly taken by Jones and King from the Corbett apartment, last night in a neighboring houseboat.

In testimony yesterday afternoon, Miss Anderson identified defendant King as the man who moved into the second apartment of her houseboat in early March under the name of "Jack Carpenter." She said she also knew Jones, resident of the nearby houseboat, Julia, but his hair was a lighter brown at that time. He went by the name of Steve, she said.

Miss Anderson said that on Good Friday, King invited her into his apartment about noon to suggest decorating ideas. She said there were no paintings on the walls, but she saw a large collection of guns hanging beside the entrance.

She said King told her he intended to get some paintings.

The following morning a tidal wave hit Sausalito. Miss Anderson said she; her roommate, Libby Gordon; their landlord, Tom Brown, and a fourth person boarded the boat and entered King's apartment to inspect water damage.

At that time, she said, she saw two paintings on the wall and a metal box containing receipts. She identified the paintings as those which previous witnesses testified Corbett had rented and hung in his apartment, and which were missing when the murder was discovered. She said a metal box offered earlier as evidence resembled that seen in King's apartment.

Miss Anderson said she next saw King and Jones on the pier about 9:30 a.m. that day, and King said he had a "hangover."

Other afternoon witness was Mrs. Karen Corbett, the victim's widow, who has been residing in Tucson, Ariz., since an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted last November in Marin County.

She testified she telephoned Corbett's apartment from Tucson three times on March 27, the first time about 7 p.m. and the others 45 minutes apart. The first call, dialed directly, was answered by an unfamiliar male voice, she said, and she was told Corbett would be back in 45 minutes.

She said the second call was placed through an operator, and the latter informed by whoever answered that Corbett was still gone and wouldn't be back for another 45 minutes.

Her third call was answered by the same person, she said, who identified himself as "Jack Nielson, or something like that."

Mrs. Corbett said he told her Corbett was "on a toot," that he was planning a big dinner the following Sunday (Easter) — and was "really looking forward to it."

She said the man seemed to know Corbett's plans. She asked if he were Corbett's roomate. He replied, "Something like that."

Mrs. Corbett was questioned closely by defense attorneys about whether she had not earlier said she heard female voices in the background, but said she had no recollection of that. She added, however, that the man on the telephone said at one point, "There's a woman standing here looking at me."

She said she again tried unsuccessfully to telephone Corbett on March 28. The following day, Easter Sunday, she flew to Marin, went to the apartment, found it locked, and left a note, she testified.

WATER

5. Periodic flushing of the system and testing of chemical characteristics of the water.

6. Operation of a chlorinator at the storage tanks, under conditions of a permit to be obtained from the Marin County Health Department.

7. Raise the outlet pipe in the storage tanks to a point where it will draw clear water.

8. Keep records of pump operation and storage level.

The order resulted from a complaint by Oliver M. Hendren that there is often no water pressure at his home on Mesa Road, and that water he receives "continually contains a dense sediment and is cloudy and muddy." The PUC held a hearing at Point Reyes Station on May 11, at which attorney Thomas T. Storer represented Hendren.

Junior College Board To Consider Budget

The Marin Junior College District board will consider adoption of the tentative budget for the next fiscal year at its meeting today at 8 p.m. in room 24 of Harlan Hall.

Also on the agenda are consideration of a bid for landscaping the college center and a report on the breach of contract suit filed by John B. Lewellen against the district.

Larkspur mayor, said he was against destroying the scenic beauty of Marin County which he said would happen if the retirement center is approved by the council.

He said high-rise apartments were not inevitable in the area and urged that they not be allowed anywhere in the county.

Storhaug asked what additional services, such as police and fire protection, would be required if the retirement center were built.

Siemens said plans for the completely fireproof building had received the approval of the fire chief. The mayor said there are seven times as many police calls to single-family residential areas in Larkspur as to multi-family districts.

David Scott, member of the Larkspur Planning Commission, said the planners denied the use permit and request for a height variance for the old people's home and convalescent hospital because of the absence of special circumstances to justify departure from the zoning ordinance.

A listener asked if assurance could be given that retired persons living in the development would not vote against school bonds and tax increases.

Mayor Brixon said he believed small increases in taxes would not affect the monthly payments made by the residents.

FIRE

he and some other youths were standing around watching firemen when someone suggested "setting the old house on fire."

According to Burton's version, they found an old mattress nearby, hauled it into the building, then stood around daring each other to ignite it.

Finally, he said, a 16-year-old youth put a match to a paper bag atop the mattress and left. Burton attempted to put it out, he said, but someone spotted a patrol car and everyone ran uphill toward 409 Drake Avenue.

Building C-27, which Chief Bloom valued at $250, burned to the ground. A World War I building vacated by the Marin City redevelopment program, it was scheduled to be demolished in about a month, he said.

Chief Bloom said there was a broken oil line in the building that caused the fire to spread rapidly. The structure was almost completely engulfed when firemen reached it.

While firemen were still fighting the fire at Building C-37, a woman reported that a group of youths had set a grass fire that threatened Building C-65 at 12:40 a.m. C-65 also is a vacant dwelling.

As Chief Bloom and Capt. Loren Hall of the Marin City Fire Station went to investigate the cause of the fire at Building C-65, they were pelted with "good-sized" rocks, the chief reported.

As they approached the fire, he saw about 12 to 14 boys, about 14 or 15 years of age, run off behind the Marin City Market, Chief Bloom said.

The trouble started early in the evening when the youths set off a series of false alarms, Chief Bloom said.

Of the series of fires that followed, he said, "I am satisfied every one of these fires was deliberately set."

The outbreak of fires started at 9:32 p.m. when a grass fire burned an area 10 feet by 10 feet at the rear of the Marin City Market.

At 10:52 p.m., an old auto seat cushion was set afire and thrown onto the roadway, also at the rear of the market.

Sheriff's Capt. Sidney Stinson and William Johansen, chief juvenile officer, reported some of the boys who were charged with arson at Building 37 were in the group that set fire to the seat cushion.

Another grass fire broke out at 49 Cole Drive at 11:05 p.m., burning a 10-by-10-foot area.

Ten minutes later, another grass fire started at 85 Drake Avenue, burning an area 10 feet by 10 feet.

Twenty minutes after that, the major blaze started in House C-37.

Six units and 14 men from the county fire department and three firemen from Tiburon Fire Department brought the fires under control.

Jury Indicts Five Inmates

The Marin County Grand jury indicted five San Quentin Prison inmates on various charges at a regular session last night.

Indicted were D. H. Hawthorne for possession of a knife, Marion Wayne O'Dell, escape from work camp, Lorenzo O. Perez, assault by life termer on another person, Ernest Lee Austin, battery on person not a prisoner, and Frank Paddao Padilla, possession of a knife.

pharmacy in the Bon Air Shopping Center has experienced a drop in sales.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady, the third who voted to grant the variance, is employed by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

All three councilmen who voted for the proposal live in Greenbrae. The two who voted against, Vaughn Marker and Robert J. Smith, live in Hillview Gardens, off Magnolia Avenue near Bon Air Road. Only the top of the high-rise building would be seen from Greenbrae; more would be visible from Hillview Gardens.

The city office has received two inquiries on the procedure for recall of councilmen. Only Brixon is subject to recall now as O'Grady and Brocco have not served six months—a period of time which must elapse before recall proceedings can be initiated.

"I feel that these people are adamant enough to go for a recall if they lose," Brixon said today. He termed the situation "a tremendous dog-eat-dog fight."

On Monday, simultaneous letters were sent out soliciting support for both sides in the controversy.

The letter against permitting construction of the building claimed that the difference between regular multi-family development of the area and the current proposal would only amount to $9,000 in city property taxes a year.

The letter in favor of the proposal states that it would add $19,000 in total revenues to the city a year and $68,000 to the Kentfield School District, Tamalpais Union High School District, and Marin Junior College District.

Both figures are correct, according to City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper. However, the $9,000 figure does not take into account increased revenues to the schools who would not have additional pupils from the development.

The letter against the proposal states that the development could be granted special tax privileges "or be completely exempt" from taxes.

Piper said this is a possibility. But first, Valley Investment Co., the developers, would have to sell out to a non-profit corporation such as a church group. At present, he said, the project is "a definite taxpaying deal."

Scranton Hits Barry As A Reactionary

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton made a pitch for Ohio's 58 delegates to the Republican National Convention today, calling Sen. Barry Goldwater a reactionary in contrast to the "true conservatism" of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Scranton, arriving here from Miami, Fla., called the Arizona senator's voting record "a standing repudiation of our own party platform." He also took a few swipes at President Lyndon B. Johnson during a speech at public square in the downtown area before a cheering crowd of about 3,000.

'Mass Meeting' Over Flood Issue Draws 13

Only 13 people showed up last night at a "mass meeting" to test sentiments of residents of the Gallinas Creek watershed on having the flood control function taken over by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Floyd Hovland, chairman of the sanitary district board, who has opposed the idea, did not yet close the door on the proposal.

County Asst. Public Works Director Arthur T. Knutsen explained the county would like to form a flood control zone for all of the watershed, including Santa Venetia, San Rafael Meadows, and Terra Linda.

Such a zone would eliminate two existing zones, one of which now carries a $1 tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. Knutsen said he hoped an election on formation of the zone could be called in November.

Phillip D. Assaf, attorney for the district, warned that if the district took over the job, areas in Lucas Valley outside the watershed would be included. He also said large areas within the watershed would be left out.

Since the district covers only developed land, owners of large vacant areas, often on hillsides which contribute water to the problem, could not be taxed, Assaf said.

William L. Ertman, who said he helped form the sanitary district, argued that flood control is now being handled by small zones which cannot do the major projects needed. He said the sanitary district could easily levy a tax for flood control work without going to a vote of the people. He said he was not sure the people would vote for a flood control zone.

Mrs. A. F. Noga of the Civic Center Improvement Assn. said she felt now may be the best time to approve a zone formation, because the lowlands which flood now have enough votes to defeat the highlanders, but future developments will be in the higher area.

Knutsen said once a zone is formed, work can start on a flood control master plan. Once a master plan is completed, it will be legally possible to charge developers of new subdivisions a fee for major flood control work.

Assaf suggested that interested persons could circulate a petition to ask the board of supervisors to start the formation of the flood control zone. Mrs. Noga agreed her group could work on the idea.

Terra Linda Rec Budget $64,100

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night adopted a $64,100 budget for the coming fiscal year, a $500 cut from this year.

The board earmarked all funds from fees paid by non-members for use on improvements in the pool area. Total collection during the year was estimated at $3,000. The pay for senior swimming instructors was increased from $3 to $3.50 an hour.

Businesswoman Tenant Sues On 'Harassment'

A Stinson Beach real estate broker is suing her landlord for $5,500 and seeking a temporary injunction to stop him from what she labels harassment.

Marguerite Echeverri, who is leasing office space on the ground floor of the Sea Beach Hotel, filed the suit and request for an injunction against Robert E. Hargrove in Marin Superior Court Tuesday.

The suit charged that Hargrove watered the deck above the real estate office, causing water to enter the office; parked his car in front of the office, blocking the office sign and parking spaces, and tore down two office signs.

Mrs. Echeverri is seeking $5,500 for loss of income and loss of health, and wants Hargrove to be enjoined from further "harassment" at the office pending the outcome of the suit.

Hargrove is scheduled to appear in Judge N. Charles Brusatori in Marin Superior Court at 2 p.m. Monday to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

Youngsters Groom Livestock For Annual West Marin Fete

The livestock show Saturday will be augmented by an array of farm and home products. That night Dolores Grossi will preside as queen over the Coronation Ball, with princesses Susan Clapp and Linda Dolcini.

A barbecue will follow the parade on Sunday.

$150,000 Suit Is Settled For $4,500

A $150,000 damage suit against Marin County and San Rafael for the death of a woman prisoner was settled out of court for $4,500 after a jury was selected Tuesday.

Under the agreement the county will pay $4,000 and San Rafael will pay $500 to the estate of Mrs. Bernice Lucille Lind, 39, who died in a Texas hospital May 28, 1959, after suffering burns on a heater in Marin County Jail on April 16, 1959.

Mrs. Lind's mother, Magda Smith, administrator of the estate, filed the suit charging the county and city were negligent in having "a dangerous and defective" heater in the jail.

Mrs. Lind was arrested April 16, 1959 by San Rafael police on suspicion of drunkness and placed in the women's cell of the county jail, which was heated by a plug-in electric heater. A short time after she was jailed, Mrs. Lind was found lying over the heater, burned and semi-conscious.

Assessment Notice Suit Threatened

Sausalito attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr. has threatened the county with a lawsuit if Assessor Bert W. Broemmel does not send out new notices to owners of property sharply increased in assesset valuation, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said yesterday.

However, Maloney said he felt the county would not be in jeopardy by ignoring Bjorklund's threat.

He said the law, if taken literally, required Broemmel to send notices which would give the exact date and place for protest hearings before the county board of supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization.

Maloney explained that when Broemmel mailed the assessment notices he did not know the date of the hearings.

Broemmel added he could have waited to send out notices until after the assessment roll was delivered to the board on July 13. In that case, Broemmel said, there would have been no information bureaus held in Southern Marin and property owners would have been deprived of opportunity to seek adjustments before the equalization hearings.

Broemmel said a second mailing would cost more than $5,000.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt Broemmel had, in fact, gone far beyond what is required under the law to inform property owners. "We have a person here who would overturn this great advantage to all the people in the county in his desire to make some kind of a point or other," Leydecker said of Bjorklund.

The board agreed to take no action.

State Forestry Officials Warn Of Fire Season

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—State forestry officials have warned there could be a "disastrous fire season" in California this year because of "holocaust conditions" in forests and fields.

State Forester Francis H. Raymond said the extremely dry conditions could cause a tremendous loss of property, resources and lives.

Raymond said fire dangers exist not only in forest areas but also in urban areas where the building of wooden houses has created "a forest type condition."

Dewitt Nelson, director of the State Department of Conservation, noted that a recent survey indicated there are more than 530 areas of the state where conflagrations might develop.

School Unit Asks San Rafael, Dixie Unification Stand

County Committee Is Pressing To Meet Unruh Act Deadline

Pressing to meet the Unruh Act's Sept. 15 deadline for a countywide school district master plan, the Marin County Committee for School District Organization last night voted to nudge San Rafael and Dixie districts for some sort of stand on the unification issue.

The two districts "won't talk" about their specific plans, Mrs. Joseph B. Wallace of Ross complained. Fellow committee member David Ring of Tiburon added, "I want to hear from Dixie." Others urged expressions from San Rafael board members.

As a result, the committee set up a master plan study meeting on the San Rafael-Dixie problem for July 15.

In the letter notifying the districts, the committee agreed, it will be pointed out that "the figures indicate" that unification of the two districts appears to be more feasible than establishment of separate unified districts.

Committee members voiced concern that Dixie might be too poor in assessed valuation to support a high school on its own. They noted that proposals to transfer "everything north of the hill" to Dixie would mean complex bonded indebtedness problems and involve San Rafael High School District's investments of large amounts of non-bond money in Terra Linda High School.

Possibility that a unified district could provide different curricula for the various high schools is good, committee members said.

"I asked a Dixie trustee, 'are you dissatisfied with the curriculum at Terra Linda?' and he said 'no'," Mrs. Wallace noted.

The Dixie-San Rafael study session is just one of several set for July by the county-wide committee last night.

Chairman Earl G. Marshall explained the Unruh Act requires three study sessions and a public hearing on each master plan area by Sept. 15, when the plans must be submitted to the State Board of Education.

So, the committee will hold an augmented meeting in Tomales on July 7, on that area's master plan problems, and a July 8 meeting in the Marin County Civic Center with officials of Petaluma, Lincoln, Laguna and Union districts.

Concern was voiced whether the Tomales study session might jeopardize that area's July 28 election on unionization of the seven elementary districts, which the county committee endorsed June 17. However, it was agreed that the committee could call the augmented meeting, ask the school districts to outline their feelings on master plan proposals, and adjourn. The second and third study sessions and the public hearing would not be held until after the election.

Motions to hold the Tomales and north-county area meetings were made by committee member Robert Rogers.

Discussion at the July 8 session may center on redrafting boundaries of the Lincoln, Laguna and Union districts, because so many of their youngsters attend high school in Sonoma County, it was indicated. Portions of the three elementary districts might be included in Novato or Tomales unification areas, members suggested.

Mrs. LBJ Urges Fight On Poverty

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson summoned home economists into the war on poverty and stayed late to shake every hand at a jammed reception which featured lady finger cakes and champagne punch.

The first lady drew an overflow crowd last night to Ford Auditorium where 3,000 delegates heard her speech at the American Home Economics Assn. convention.

She told the home economists, whose careers are in areas related to the well-being of homes and families, that they were needed "in the front brigade" of the president's all-out war on poverty and in the Peace Corps as well.

Jack Alvarado To San Rafael Chamber Post

Jack J. Alvarado, a resident of San Rafael for 26 years, has been named manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Alvarado officially will take over his new post on July 1. He views the most immediate aim of the chamber as promoting understanding of its usefulness among non-members in order to make it "one of the strongest chambers in the state."

He previously was employed as an account salesman in San Francisco with Brown and Bigelow, St. Paul, Minn., manufacturers of advertising specialties, and before that was in public relations work for Matson Lines for the entire western United States.

Alvarado is a descendent of Spanish pioneers in the San Gabriel Mission area. He studied agricultural economics at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

He and his family reside at 724 Las Colindas Road. They have three sons, one attending San Francisco State College and two at Terra Linda High School.

He succeeds Jack M. Phillips, who was chamber manager from September, 1962, until last winter.

Property Owner In McGraw Hill Area Challenges Statement On Voter Numbers

Annexation to Novato of McGraw-Hill Book Co. land and adjoining acreage may require an election, an owner of part of the land declared yesterday.

William Q. Wright Jr., who owns 21 acres of the approximately 800 acres proposed for annexation, and himself lives on the land, yesterday challenged a statement by William R. Zion, planning consultant, that the acreage could be annexed to the city as uninhabited land.

Wright declared at a Novato Chamber of Commerce luncheon which heard Zion's report that there may be as many as 30 registered voters in the proposed annexation.

Zion had reported that fewer than 12 voters live in the area, which would make it eligible for annexation as uninhabited land without holding an election.

Richard Bentley, assistant vice president of McGraw-Hill Book Co., declined to say whether the publishing company wishes annexation of its 100 acres in the area to Novato.

Besides the McGraw-Hill and Wright holdings, the area proposed for annexation includes 470 acres of the Bodkin Estate and a portion of the 540-acre holding of A. T. Nunes, plus other small holdings. Zion said he had included part of the Nunes land and 15 smaller pieces with the Bodkin Estate, McGraw-Hill and Wright lands to square off the boundaries.

He said the annexation would meet requirements of the Local Agency Formation Commission in providing an even boundary without leaving pockets of uninhabited land.

Bentley told the luncheon meeting McGraw-Hill has outgrown its location in the Fifer Industrial Park in Corte Madera but the company "has been happy in Marin County" and employees do not want to leave, hence the Novato area land purchase.

Mental Health Support Given

The Marin Mental Health Foundation will receive support of up to $15,000 toward its 1964-65 operating budget from the William Babcock Foundation.

Ann H. McCorry, administrator of the Babcock Foundation, today said that up to that amount would be provided if the mental health group becomes short of funds for its $45,000 budget.

The mental health foundation operates a psychiatric outpatient center at Ross General Hospital. It has various sources of support, including a National Institute of Mental Health grant and patient fees.

Quarterly allocations would be made to the Mental Health Foundation as needed, Miss McCorry said.

Bridge District's Budget $2,256,900

The finance committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday approved a $2,256,900 budget for the coming year, up about $117,993 from the current year's figure.

The figure is an estimate since percentage raises granted to bridge employees still must be turned to exact figures for tomorrow's meeting of bridge directors, when the budget will be discussed in its final form.

The committee approved a 5 per cent increase in salaries for all non-union bridge personnel, such as office help, toll collectors, attorneys and bridge director James Adams, whose salary now will be $25,126 yearly.

The raises correspond to those granted union employees such as painters, mechanics, truck operators and maintenance men which range from 2.5 to 12.5 per cent, reported Thomas D. Hardcastle, Marin representative on the bridge's board of directors.

The proposed budget also includes $30,000 for an engineering feasibility study of adding a deck to the bridge and $25,000 for future alterations of the administration building.

The committee approved an advertising-promotion budget which includes $25,000 to the Redwood Empire Assn., as it has in previous years, Hardcastle said. The sum helps to generate more bridge traffic from tourists during non-peak hours, Hardcastle said.

Also included is an $8,500 figure to the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau, $2,500 for direct mail and display advertising and $5,000 for advertising materials.

The advertising portion of the budget was passed over the objections of director Stephen C. Leonoudakis, chairman of the public relations committee, who contended the bridge does not need publicity to increase traffic.

Also in the budget is $16,500 for a lobbyist, if one is hired.

Bridge directors will meet to discuss the budget at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at their office at the toll plaza.

Doctors Lose Fight to Save Boy Train Victim

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walter Felder, a 15-year-old youth who lost both arms and legs when he fell beneath a moving freight train, died today at county hospital.

Doctors had pumped gallons of blood into his mutilated body in an effort to save him. The teenager died shortly before 7 a.m. (PDT).

HERE'S HOW TO COOL YOUR DOGS—This dog found a way to cool off in yesterday's heat and at the same time maybe get a meal—though he failed in the latter. He jumped into fountain pool at Marin Art and Garden Center to chase the fish. He kept it up for a long time, apparently enjoying the cool water, but never caught a fish — he was afraid of getting his nose wet.

Korea Notes 'Police Action' Anniversary

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — This is the 14th anniversary of the start of the Korean War.

President Park Chung Hee warned his countrymen that the North Korean Communists were looking for another chance to conquer the southern half of the country.

"The Communists are not only seeking another chance to invade us across the 155-mile truce line," Park told a commemorative rally in Seoul, "but they are also tenaciously attempting aggression everywhere in the world, thus threatening the peace and freedom of mankind."

The Korean President, badgered by economic problems, and the target of angry demonstrations by Korean students, called on the nation for unity. He said that attacks on his government benefit only the Comunists.

Reds Down Plane

TOKYO (UPI)— A U. S.-made Laotian air force T-28 fighter plane was shot down yesterday by Communist anti-aircraft units, the Communist new China News Agency said today.

LOCAL FORMATION UNITS EXPLAINED

State Cities Aide Tells Mayors' Council Less Special Districts Seen In Future

Formation of new and unnecessary districts is what the State Legislature intended to stop through its Local Agency Formation Commission Act of 1963, the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen was told last night.

Richard Carpenter, executive director of the League of California Cities, spoke to the organization at Sabella's Restaurant, with Mill Valley as host city.

"Where you once formed a fire or police protection district, I think, in the future, the commission would say you don't need that because there is an alternative method. County service will do this and people will pay for it themselves," said Carpenter.

"The 3,500 special, separate districts we have over and above school districts of the state are too numerous. They make it more difficult for cities to have orderly growth."

Carpenter call the Local Agency Formation Commission law "far from perfect" and said he believes it will be amended.

"Ten years from now," he continued, "we feel you will find that piecemeal type of growth will have disappeared. A group within a county will look at the welfare of the entire county — not just one city or one district."

He said, too, that he believes the commission in the future will not be too concerned with highly irregular city boundary lines.

"There is nothing that is magic about having a nice square city. There are some areas where you cannot have a nice square city, either because of topography or other reasons," declared Carpenter.

"Cities in the future will have to be better prepared to justify annexations, and when they do and it is orderly, they will have no trouble getting approval. In the record, approvals have run about 15 to 20 to one disapproval."

Asked in a question period where initiative for annexation derives, Carpenter replied, two places: the city council or the people.

What can be done if annexation of an uninhabited area is turned down, asked George D. Monardo, former Mill Valley City Councilman. Carpenter said if people in an area don't want to be annexed the only way the city can take in property is to "pick it off piecemeal under the uninhabited territory act."

Carpenter traced history of events leading to the Local Agency Formation Commission Act. He said its beginnings went back to 1906 when Los Angeles stretched out 16 miles to annex Wilmington and San Pedro to get port facilities. "There was real good reason for Los Angeles to do what it did," but it acted unilaterally, he said.

Carpenter said very agressive annexation practices by some cities after World War II brought 1953 legislation providing for county services areas.

"We found there were many cities making deals with subdividers and developers on annexation proceedings in order to bring the area within the city and get out from under county ordinances," said Carpenter.

The League of California Cities sponsored about 125 changes in the annexation laws. A "League of Unincorporated California Cities" was founded which combatted efforts to try to improve annexation laws, he said.

"Districts really are a much more acute problem than most people realize," Carpenter said. "If a fire district is annexed to a city, the city council can determine by resolution whether this is withdrawn so that people who come in aren't paying twice for a service provided by only one governmental agency. The parks and recreation district is the other way around."

Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael, chairman, with approval of the organization, said he will appoint a three-man committee to represent the cities in recommending a set of standards to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission. The commission is attempting to establish such standards.

It was agreed that members would ask each city council to adopt a resolution similar to that adopted by the Sausalito City Council supporting an appeal for re-evaluation of the methods, of appraising properties in Marin for tax purposes.

Tiburon was recognized as a new member city and attendance of Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, and Councilmen John S. Hoffmire Jr., Anne L. Ellinwood and Fred C. Hannnahs was recognized. Strawbridge spoke briefly, saying, "I have already heard myself referred to three times as the old gray mayor."

The council nominated Robert Souza, Fairfax councilman, to represent the Marin County Human Rights Commission from Central Marin, and heard that Mrs. Patricia Reynolds of Novato has been rejected as a nominee since she is not a member of the council of mayors and councilmen.

The members were welcomed by acting Mayor William M. Secor. The meeting was closed by McInnis "with fervent wish for all good things to Britton Rey." Rey is retiring Belvedere city manager.

CORVAIR MONZA by Chevrolet

Great as a Corvair Monza is at winding up roads, it's almost as good as a two-week vacation at *un*winding you.

Part of the kick of driving one comes from those sporty good looks and jazzy deep-cushioned bucket seats. But Corvair's famous rear engine is really behind it all.

The engine weight over the rear wheels helps Corvair stick to the road like glue, come hills or hairpins, so you can travel carefree anywhere. (If you don't want to stick to a road, a Corvair can go places even bulldozers have never been through. How anywhere can you get?)

With no big heavy engine up front to steer around, Corvair is so easy to handle we don't even make power steering for it.

And the engine's air cooled. You can cross deserts without ever worrying about water (know many people besides camel drivers who can make that statement?).

There are lots of other good reasons to buy a Corvair Monza. Like a choice of 95 or 110* hp and its smooth four-wheel independent suspension. (Starting to feel unwound already?)

Then there's June, a great time to get in on a whole summer full of fun ahead. And Trade 'N' Travel Time, a great time to get in on a beautiful buy at your Chevrolet dealer's.

You couldn't really ask for two nicer reasons, now could you?

*Optional at extra cost

Board Slashes Road Funds, Puts In Maintenance Money

The Marin County Board of Supervisors made several major budget cutbacks yesterday in proposed road projects, only to put back much of the money today for road maintenance.

One of the biggest cuts was suggested by Supervisor William D. Fusselman, for his own district. It was $82,345 for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard one block beyond Wolfe Grade.

He asked instead that $49,500 be put into the budget for signal lights at College Avenue and Kent Drive, Kentfield.

Supervisor George H. Ludy, who has most of the county road projects in his district, also suggested a series of cuts, including several minor projects on the Marshall-Petaluma Road.

The amount allocated for a bridge on the Valley Ford-Franklin School Road was cut from $129,965 to $115,000. The cul-de-sac and turnaround area and parking at the end of Wharf Road in Bolinas were eliminated and $5,000 was put in for a parking space near Duxury Reef.

Then the board agreed to put in $17,500 for extra hire for road maintenance men, and one and one-half times that much for materials. The extra work force would be used on general maintenance work.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said he felt in the future the term "maintenance" should be redefined so many small jobs now separately budgeted could be handled with a blanket amount of money, giving the public works department more flexibility.

The board also approved a county building budget, slicing funds for an increase in the size of the sheriff's parking lot. Bruce was told to again ask the City of San Rafael to lease parking spaces.

The board today approved the parks and recreation budget as recommended by the administrator, over heavy protests by Park Director Kelvin J. Nelson. The only addition allowed was $5,000 for work at Stafford Lake.

Nelson pleaded to be allowed to hire a park maintenance man immediately, rather than in January as was recommended. He said Paradise Beach Park would be improved soon and that work on other minor parks was piling up.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr suggested that perhaps the construction work on Paradise could be held up, to make sure it would not have to be closed during the summer.

At noon today county auditor-controller Michael Mitcheli said the projected tax rate was now exactly $2.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

He said the total road budget, after all the changes, came to $2,023,202, with $319,322 of that coming from property taxes. Bruce said that meant nine cents on the tax rate this year for roads, compared to 12 cents last year. The rest comes from state subventions.

At the beginning of discussion of roads, Jack B. Anderson of the Draper Companies and O. W. Litsinger, director of store planning and building for the Emporium-Capwell Co., appeared to ask for early construction of a road from Terra Linda to Ross Valley.

Fusselman said he has fought for such a road for years, but added he feels it should meet Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Oak Manor, and definitely should not go through Sleepy Hollow. Anderson was referred to the City of San Rafael for a contribution toward such a project.

This Is How Marin Voted

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The county-wide vote for the presidential delegation were announced today by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

Democrats cast 2,492,244 votes, out of a total registration of 4,022,302. Of these, 1,693,813 were for the delegation headed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and 798,431 for the delegation headed by Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

Republicans cast 2,172,456 votes out of a total registration of 2,895,448. Of these, 1,120,403 were for the delegation supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater, and 1,052,053 for the delegation supporting Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

In Marin County, the vote was as follows: Brown, 17,457; Yorty, 5,649; Goldwater, 9,592; Rockefeller, 19,715.

Dixie School Budget Increased $400,000

The Dixie School District board last night adopted a tentative budget of $1,813,568, almost a $400,000 increase over this year, but calling for no increase in the tax rate.

The increase was called for mainly by the addition of two new schools next fiscal year and 21 more teachers, along with several new programs, including elementary school language instruction.

The board approved a new wage schedule for non-teaching employees calling for increases ranging from 2 to 18 per cent.

Resignations of second grade teachers Joan Marzell and Lois H. Brown were accepted.

Mrs. Clarice Kraemer was hired to serve as the district's second librarian. Calvin McIntosh, Jack Bruce Klippensteen, Linda Adams and Patricia Feiguth were hired as teachers.

The board agreed to request University of California to set up a computer science instruction research project for the education of teachers and selected pupils.

Under the program proposed by chairman John Starkweather, first teachers and then students would be given instruction in computer logic and communication.

Teacher Pay Hike

BERKELEY (AP) — Berkeley school teachers will get a 7.5 per cent pay raise beginning next fall, the board of education said yesterday.

Larkspur School Vote Aides Named

James McClintock of Corte Madera was elected last night to head the drive for passage of a $476,000 bond issue election on Sept. 15 to finance new classroom construction in the Larkspur School District.

McClintock has headed two of the three previous unsuccessful drives for passage of the bonds.

The citizens committee decided on strategy which this time will be less spectacular than the drive for passage of the tax and bond proposal on June 2. Mrs. Charles Young was put in charge of drawing up a brochure and Mort Firstenfeld will handle the finances of the drive.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Rafael Beauty Salon Opens; Kentfield Book Shop Being Sold

Newly opened at 1408 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is Cricket West Beauty Salon, a venture of Bernard and Louise Levey, residents of Rafael Racquet Club Estates. It is located in premises formerly occupied by Les Girls Boutique, moved to the new Kaehler Farrar building.

This is the fourth beauty salon for the Leveys, but their first in Marin. The others were located in San Francisco. For the past year Mrs. Levey has been with Elizabeth Arden in the city.

Front area of Cricket West is devoted to a retail store, selling beauty aids. The Leveys have the Marin franchise for Scandia cosmetics and Tuvache perfumes. A luxurious beauty salon, with four stylists, is in the rear.

Levey said his wife will be in charge of both operations, while he acts as business manager and bookkeeper. The name "Cricket West" has no particular significance. Levey said he remembered it as the name of a pixie girl in a novel he read 30 years ago and figured it would be just as easy for someone else to remember—so it was tacked on to the business. Along the way he's picked up a wire doll resembling a cricket, and the logo now adorns their stationery.

The Leveys have lived in Marin about 15 years. He has been a distillery representative for 21 years.

BOOKSHOP-MARIN, 944 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, is being sold by Suzanne Carpenter. She's making an extended tour of France and hasn't the time to run the store. New owners, Mrs. June Daniels, her son-in-law Joseph R. Parks and Mrs. Maude M. Pettis, will take over officially July 6. The transaction was handled by Harry Abras of Timmer Realty.

Parks, formerly of Humboldt County, will be in charge of the store. He and his wife will occupy the Mill Valley apartment of Mrs. Daniels who is moving to Berkeley. She is employed by the San Francisco Senior Center. Mrs. Pettis is also a Berkeley resident.

ALSO IN KENTFIELD, the three apartment buildings of Pine Lane Terrace, Inc., across Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from the Ross Hospital have been bought by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mindle of San Rafael. Paul Miersch and Ray Van Meter of Coldwell, Banker and Co. represented the buyer and seller.

GEORGE B. LOVELAND of San Rafael, office manager of MJB Coffee Co., San Francisco, has been elected a director of the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Society for the 1964-65 term. A member since 1958, Loveland was president last year.

FIRST SAN FRANCISCO BANK, opening July 1 with the first general state bank charter to operate in San Francisco's financial district since 1907, will have Roger F. Yore of Greenbrae as an officer and director. Recently vice president of Continental Service Co., Yore has had 28 years of banking experience.

Raymond J. Syufy, theater chain owner and operator, who lives in Sausalito, also has been elected a director of the new bank.

ROBERT N. DEWILDE of Kent Woodlands, general sales manager of Blake, Moffitt and Towne, San Francisco, has assumed overall responsibility for BM&T's industrial paper sales in an expansion of the company's marketing staff.

MANAGER James E. Paul of Fred V. Chesley Collections, San Rafael, is attending the American Collectors Assn. convention in New York this week. He will return Sunday.

Giant Kiln Planned

MILWAUKEE—A 590-foot rotary kiln will be built here by Allis-Chalmers as part of approximately two million dollars in cement making equipment sold to Northwestern States Portland Cement Co., Mason City, Iowa. The giant kiln will produce 3.3 million barrels of cement clinker per year.

Peaock Gap Country Club Head Resigns

Terry Van Gorder, the man who laid out the golf course at Peacock Gap Country Club and then stayed on to become general manager of the club, has turned in his resignation.

Van Gorder, one of the original employees at Peacock Gap, was given a farewell party by his fellow workers and friends last night at the clubhouse. He will leave tomorrow to join the Newhall Land and Farming Co., headquartered in Saugus, where he will be responsible for the construction of an 18-hole golf course and a large country club on a 45,000-acre land development. Later assignments for the firm will include the construction of three other commercial golf courses on its properties.

Hired as construction superintendent for the Latipac-Perini Corp., Van Gorder came to Peacock Gap in 1959 before anything was started. After laying out the golf course he became successively course manager, landscape and over-all superintendent and then its general manager.

In a farewell speech Van Gorder said: "For every tree we took out we planted 10 more."

Van Gorder, a graduate of Yale University, served four years in the Navy as a lieutenant and was stationed in Guam two years, and one year in the Aleutian Islands.

He, his wife, Priscilla, and their two children, Eric, 3, and Catherine, 1, live in Glenwood adjoining Peacock Gap.

Telephone Pacemaker During Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed irregularly higher today with American Telephone a pacemaker. Trading was active.

Selected blue chips kept the averages in plus territory but group action was spotty.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 4.48 million yesterday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers in the irregular advance.

AT&T climbed 2 points as it showed every intention of pacing the Big Board on volume for the second straight session.

Cigarette stocks continued to decline.

Motors were uneasy, General Motors losing a full point. Chrysler erased a gain and was unchanged.

Oils, airlines, utilities, rails and chemicals were mostly higher.

American Enka rose more than 2.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Cotton Growers Have 'Fine Year'

VISALIA (AP) — Calcot Ltd., a grower-owned California cotton organization, will mail 8.8 million dollars to growers to mark the close of an "exceptionally fine year."

Gen. Mgr. Russell Kennedy told Calcot's 37th annual meeting this year's final returns brought to 13.3 million dollars the total paid to members.

Kennedy said the cotton industry, however, faces certain doom without new legislation in spit of the cotton bill which took effect in April.

The act expires in 1966 and Kennedy said "we exist today on borrowed time." He urged a tough fight for more legislation.

House Group Refuses To Slash Aid Request

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee gave President Lyndon B. Johnson a major victory today by refusing to make any critical slashes in his foreign aid bill.

Heeding administration warnings that any big cut could be "crippling," the committee approved a 3.3-billion-dollar outlay. This was 200 million dollars less than Johnson asked but the cut was much smaller than Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.) had sought to inflict.

Passman had urged earlier a 515-million-dollar cut. He tried to raise the 200 million reduction today but failed.

Foremost Promotes

SAN FRANCISCO—Robert Wood of Walnut Creek has been promoted to sales promotion manager of Foremost Dairies' Northern California region, headquartered in San Francisco.

Dow Chemical Gets NASA Job

SAN FRANCISCO — The Dow Chemical Co. has been picked by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to provide the engineering support services to NASA'S John F. Kennedy space center in Florida.

Dr. Kurt H. Debus, director of the center, said the project calls for spending about 1.4 million dollars the first year under a cost-plus fixed fee contract. The contract will have two one-year options for its extension.

Dow said it will assign 104 engineers to the NASA project, including some from its California locations. There were 34 other companies bidding on the project.

Giants, Sanford Against Dodgers, Koufax Tonight

Independent-Journal Sports

Thursday, June 25, 1964 17

No-Hit Sandy Koufax will oppose Jack Sanford tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers open a four-game series against the San Francisco Giants at Candlestick Park.

Koufax, 10-4, pitched a no-hitter against Philadelphia this season—his third in three years—but has only a defeat to show for his efforts against the Giants this season.

Sanford, 5-7, has an 0-2 record against the Dodgers this year, although the Giants have whipped the defending world champions in four of their six meetings.

The floundering defending world champions from the south, currently in sixth place in the National League, showed signs of breaking out of their season-long batting slump yesterday when they banged out 19 hits in defeating the Milwaukee Braves 15-4.

Hendley will face his personal nemesis in Frank Howard, the Dodgers hulking right fielder. Howard has hammered seven homers in his last 11 appearances against Hendley.

The Giants ended an eight-game road trip last night on a successful note by downing the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 behind the seven-hit hurling of rookie Ron Herbel.

Herbel struck out 14 Reds — a National League high for the season and Herbel's personal record — in running his record to 5-3.

The Giants got both their runs after two outs in the first when Willie Mays singled and Orlando Cepeda walloped his 11th home run of the season off Reds starter and loser Jim O'Toole, 6-4.

Cincinnati scored its only run in the second on O'Toole's fielder's choice grounder after Herbel loaded the bases by yielding

Giants' Shameful Record Against Mets, Houston Remains A Mystery

Jack Hanley

Casey Stengel and his Mets come into Candlestick for their second visit of the season as soon as the current Giant-Dodger series is concluded. The Mets are patsies for most teams in the National League but they give the Giants fits.

At the moment the Giants are 5-4 for the season against the Mets. So it would behoove Alvin Dark's men to take both games from Casey's men next Monday night and Tuesday afternoon because the Phillie already have a 9-2 record against the Mets.

Why the Giants should have to fight for their lives in every game with the Mets is a mystery. But that has been the fact, not only this season but ever since the Mets received their charter under the 1962 National League expansion.

While the pennant-winning Dodgers were clobbering the Mets 16-2 last season, the Giants were lucky to get a 12-6 division with Casey's men. And, actually, they are lucky to have their current 5-4 mark against the Mets who won't win 50 games this year.

TWICE THIS season, the Mets took the Giants into prolonged extra inning sessions, one 15 innings at Candlestick on May 16, the other that memorable 23 inning affair in New York May 31.

Houston's Colts similarly give the Giants fits. The Colts made the Giants go 12 innings before bowing 3-2 in Candlestick May 4. And the May 5 game was a 2-1 nine inning squeak by the Giants past the Colts who evened things when they got the Giants on their home lot at Houston for a four-game series May 11-14. The Colts took three of the four games so now are 3-3 for the season against the Giants.

THE PHILLIES have played the Colts seven times this year and are 6-1 against them, three better than the Giants. And the 9-2 Philly record against the Mets is four better than the Giants' 5-4. Seven games, in all. It's shameful but unfortunately irrevocably in the records.

What good does it do the Giants to beat front line competition and then be beaten by second rate members of the league? Obviously, no good at all. Unless the Giants mend their ways, beginning next Monday night when Casey's Mets come to town, they might make a couch patient out of Alvin Dark.

McKinley Wins Again; Russ Ace Quits

WIMBLETON, England (AP) — Defending champion Chuck McKinley, who swept through the 1963 tournament without the loss of a set, had another shaky time in the Wimbledon tennis championships today before he scored a 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 victory over Torben Ulrich of Denmark.

McKinley, 23, from San Antonio, had to go two hours and 10 minutes to win the third round match with the bearded left-handed Dane.

When the bounding McKinley put the pressure on in the last set, the Dane helped by making errors on easy volley.

McKinley, second seeded, is almost the only American male hope left in the tournament, which went into its fourth day today. Dennis Ralston and Frank Froehling, the No. 2 and No. 3 U.S. players have been eliminated.

It was overcast with a threat of rain as play resumed today.

The biggest sensation of the tournament came before play started, with Alexander Metreveli, 19-year-old Russian who is the only Soviet player left in the men's singles, withdrew rather than play a South African, Abe Segal, in the third round.

Metreveli said it was his protest against South Africa's racial policies.

McKinley won the first two sets after surviving a scare in the first set when Ulrich led 5-4 and got to match point. He just failed to get his racket to one of McKinley's returns, the American saved that set point and then won the set.

The aggressive Dane, moving smartly around the court and producing some fine deep shots, broke through for a 4-2 lead as McKinley double-faulted and lost his service to love by netting a back volley.

Ulrich then held his service and broke through again in the eighth game for the set as the American trailed 15-40. McKinley pulled back to 30-40 but lost the set as his forehand drive went sailing out of court.

The fourth set started in startling fashion. It went to deuce 10 times before McKinley broke through with a volley as Ulrich found himself on his knees and out of position.

Ulrich broke through in the next one, making it 1-1. He used good forehands to trouble a McKinley desperately anxious to get to the net.

Tickets To Game Still Available

The Catholic Social Service of Marin County still has 150 tickets left for the San Francisco Giants-Los Angeles Dodgers game Saturday afternoon, it was announced today by Mrs. Peter Spiliotis of the service.

Price of the tickets, to include a ferryboat ride from Tiburon to Candlestick Park, is $7.50 per person. The tickets can be obtained from Mrs. Spiliotis who lives at 490 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

Prize Fish Caught By Marin Anglers

Don Lynam of 51 San Marino Drive, San Rafael, and James De Sella of 15 Plaza Drive, Mill Valley, were among the latest 11 winners in the Schenley Sportsmen's Club salmon contest, Schenley officials announced today.

Lynam caught a 37-pound, 2-ounce beauty near the Farallon Islands on June 10 from the boat Sea Dog, piloted by Ray Sweeney; and DeSella hauled in a 39-pound, 8-ounce salmon from the Lightship area west of the Golden Gate Bridge on June 16 from the boat Bluefin, skippered by John McKeon.

Youths To Attend Candlestick Games

Walter Mails, publicist for the San Francisco Giants, has made 150 grandstand tickets for Giants games available to the YMCA of Marin, it was announced by Dale Greenlee of the Marin Y.

Fifty tickets will be available for three Giant games, June 30 against the New York Mets, July 20 against the Chicago Cubs, and Aug. 19 against the Pittsburgh Pirates, all day games.

Children 10 through 15 may sign up at the YMCA office at 1009 Irwin Street, San Rafael, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

A fee of $1.50 will provide bus transportation from the YMCA office, medical accident insurance and supervision. The buses will leave the Y office at 10:45 a.m. on the days of the games.

Morze Quits Browns, May Rejoin 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Pro football center Frank Morze, who found a loophole in his San Francisco 49er contract and escaped to the Cleveland Browns two years ago, confirmed reports yesterday he would not return to the Ohio club.

"My business is here and my boy starts school this year," Morze said.

He is in the heavy equipment business with his father-in-law, E. H. Bean. Morze said he didn't want to uproot his family again by moving to Cleveland.

The 31-year-old center asked for his outright release.

Morze declined comment on reports he wants to return to the 49ers, who have changed coaches since he played with them.

While on the injured waiver list two years ago, Morze discovered he was technically a free agent and fled to the Browns, getting away from a long standing personality conflict with 49er coach Red Hickey. The San Francisco club is coached now by Jack Christiansen.

Morze has played seven years of pro football since his days at Boston College.

THE FIFTH HOLE IS PURGATORY

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Dodgers Wearing Hitting Clothes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walter Alston didn't appreciate the beating his Los Angeles Dodgers took in the National League All-Star poll the other day but it's unlikely he'll demand a recount.

Alston will take base hits over ballots any day and the Dodgers have been on a hit rampage since their shutout in the N.L. player vote for the 1964 classic.

The Dodgers, punchless throughout the early part of the season, exploded for the second time in three days yesterday, burying Milwaukee 15-4 behind a 19-hit barrage good for 32 title bases.

The offensive binge was the biggest thus far for the world champions, topping their 15-hit output in Monday's 10-9 victory over the Braves.

The contributions of Maury Wills and John Roseboro to yesterday's route undoubtedly soothed Alston's feelings further. The manager was particularly miffed when neither was named to the first or second All-Star teams.

Wills stroked four singles and drew a walk in five times at bat, scored three runs, drove in one and stole his 24th and 25th bases. Roseboro hit a home run, his second of the season.

Each is hitting .295, a mark worthy of All-Star consideration. Joe Torre of Milwaukee, the first team All-Star pick, has a higher average than Roseboro but runner-up John Edwards of Cincinnati trails the Dodger backstop by a point. Wills is hitting 12 points higher than first team nominee Dick Groat of St. Louis and 19 points above second choice Leo Cardenas of the Reds.

PHILS WIN

Elsewhere in the N.L., Philadelphia outlasted Chicago 9-8, San Francisco shaded Cincinnati 2-1, Houston trimmed St. Louis 7-5 and Pittsburgh topped New York 3-1.

The Dodgers' assault on five Milwaukee pitchers helped Don Drysdale breeze to his 10th victory. The big right-hander chipped in with a single and double and drove in a run.

Frank Howard belted his 17th homer and Willie Davis had a double, two singles and four RBI.

It also bolstered Alston's case for adding several Dodgers to the All-Star squad he'll manage against the American League on July 7.

John Herrnstein's seventh inning home run proved decisive for the league leading Phillies, who blew an early 5-1 lead. Richie Allen hit a three-run homer for the Phils, his 14th of the year, and Ernie Banks poked his eighth for the Cubs, tying Joe DiMaggio for 13th position on the all-time circuit list.

COLTS RALLY

Houston scored six runs in the seventh, overcoming a 3-1 deficit and chasing St. Louis starter Ray Sadecki. Singles by Mike White, Joe Gaines and Nellie Fox delivered three runs. Jerry Grote singled in two more and the sixth scored on reliever Mike Cuellar's throwing error. White paced the Colts' attack with four hits.

Bob Friend set down the Mets for the 12th straight time in his career but needed relief help from Al McBean after Joe Christopher homered in the ninth. Willie Stargell drove in two Pirate runs and Dick Schofield knocked in the third.

HANDSOME PRICE FOR ANGEL BONUS BABY

A Lot Of Consideration Is Needed For Installation Of Boat Compass

How can you tell which boats belong to the more skillful and enthusiastic skippers of the sport? Just look at the rigs in any of Marin's small-craft marinas, and take special note of the boats with well-selected, correctly installed compasses!

Marine compasses today are made in an amazing range of types. You'll find those for the sailboater, and special ones for an all-metal boat. One-degree navigational accuracy is often desired for yachts. Even the open boat is candidate.

THE MODERN shift to impressive speed in the outboard and stern drive craft has necessitated the development of compasses specifically for this service. They are little "gems," designed to give maximum card steadiness while cruising; moreover, they have a minimum number of moving parts, yet are immensely dependable.

You'll find that most cards are marked off in five-degree intervals, which is sufficiently accurate for any fast and lively boat.

WHEN DISCUSSING installations with a dealer, he will want to know about your boat's operating conditions. From these facts, he'll be able to recommend the compass best suited to your needs. Good instruments may cost from $15 to $60.

But don't spend your dollars unless you intend to have it correctly installed. Radio equipment and motor tachometers frequently have strong permanent magnets. And did you know that even electric windshield wipers create powerful electrical fields? Steering unit components often have steel parts inside their plastic and aluminum facade. Your compass should be located as far as possible from these troublemakers, at least two feet.

LOOK AT the base or bracket assembly on a compass. Rigidity and strength are important, because it must not be allowed to shake. And take care, what it's to be mounted on shouldn't shake, either. Avoid sections of plywood, alumiunm or fiberglass superstructure that is flexible.

Locate it on something extremely solid—or put a backing block under or behind the point of attachment.

Allow a distance of two feet for all electric wires also. Believe it or not, DC current from the battery will affect your compass more than AC.

QUESTION: Won't the electric wires to the compass light throw the reading off? I'd also like to know if it should be lined up in reference to fore and aft. I fell heir to a castaway compass and would like to install it with some accuracy. T. L., Tiburon.

ANSWER: Be doggone sure the compass is lined up square and true as possible to your craft's centerline. As to your quiz on the wiring: Small wires to the compass light are twisted together, hence canceling out one another's electrical field.

One more bit on the compass. Used to be that the dome on a compass was glass. Now most domes are made of durable plastic. But if you'd like the greatest life expectancy, install so your compass is in the shade.

After the second, the story was all Herbel.

He struck out the side in the third inning and, apparently gaining strength despite hot weather, whiffed six of the last nine Redlegs he faced.

The Giants would be happy to see Cincinnati have two major league franchises — both in the National League.

In 12 meetings this season with the normally tough Reds, the Giants have scored nine victories.

Yesterday's triumph kept the Giants within 1½ games of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, who downed Chicago 9-4.

After hosting the Dodgers for four games, the Giants will entertain New York, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in an 11-game home stand preceding the break for the All-Star game.

Liberty Bell For Phils' Jim Bunning

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"This is the room where we greet kings and queens and very important people," said Mayor James H. J. Tate.

Then, as some 700 persons watched, the mayor turned to Jim "Perfect Game" Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies and added:

"We are happy today to receive our own No. 1 VIP."

The occasion in the mayor's city hall reception room was to honor Bunning for his perfect game victory over the New York Mets last Sunday.

Tate presented Bunning with a replica of the Liberty Bell.

"For a country boy from Kentucky, this is more than wonderful," said Bunning. "I want to thank John Quinn (General Manager John Quinn) for making a Phillie out of me. I hope we can bring the pennant to Philadelphia."

Bunning was obtained from Detroit in a trade last winter.

Chicago Bears Obtain End From The Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns of the National Football League committed rookie Paul Warfield to offense today by trading end Rich Kreitling to the Chicago Bears for defensive back Lowell Caylor and two high draft choices.

"After Warfield's fine showing as a receiver at a recent workout, we decided to go with him on offense," said Coach Blanton Collier. "This left us still needing a fast defensive back but meant Kreitling probably would be no more than a reserve end."

Caylor, a 6-foot-3, 205-pounder from Miami of Ohio, was used as an extra man with the Bears last season and kept on the taxi squad.

In addition to Caylor, the Browns obtained the Bears' second and third choices in the December player draft. Warfield from Ohio State was the Browns' first draft choice last year.

Kreitling, 28, and a native of Chicago, has been with the Browns for the past five seasons since graduating from the University of Illinois.

LITTLE GIANTS NO-HIT FOR 9, WIN IN 10TH

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Denver's Jay Hook, former National League hurler, pitched nine innings of no-hit baseball last night only to lose the game in the 10th when he yielded a single to Tacoma's Jay Ward and a double to Carl Boles that gave the Giants a 2-1 victory in a Pacific Coast League game.

YACHTING WORLD

Bermuda Winner Still Undecided

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—It was anybody's guess early today what boat would win the Newport to Bermuda yacht race on the basis of corrected time.

As dawn broke the Carillon, out of Boston, was on top with an adjusted time of three days, 10 hours, 15 minutes and 22 seconds.

Still to check in, however, were the 49 Class D and E yachts whose time allowances ranged from 26 hours to 29 hours, 28 minutes for the Burgoo, Milton Ernst's 38-foot yawl out of Procidence, R.I.

The Carillon, a new 47-foot Class B sloop owned by Wells Morss, was the 18th to cross the finish line at St. David's Head near dusk last night.

She displaced the Ondine, S. A. Long's veteran 57-foot yawl out of New York who won Class A honors with a corrected time of 3:10:59.50.3.

The Ondine, in turn, had ousted Nina, DeCoursey Fales' famed 36-year-old schooner, the 1962 winner, from the top. Nina's corrected time of 3:14:33.51.5 was bettered later by Salmagal III, Carina, Magic Carpet, Thunderhead, Jubilee, Gesture, Caper, Dyna, Cyane, Adela, Ice Fire, Solution, Early Dawn and Touche.

Salmagal, Arthur B. Homer's Class B yawl, was second to Carillon with a corrected time of 3:10:32.42.

NO DOUBT

There was no doubt about the first to finish the 635-mile blue water classic. That was the 73-foot sketch, Stormvogel the South African scratch boat owned by Cornellius Bruynzeel.

The lack of wind forced the Stormvogel to a painful five hours and 12 minutes to cover the last 10 miles. Her elapsed time was 3:20:10.15, far off the record.

Ticonderoga In Lead To Tahiti

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Johnson's Ticonderoga is keeping its lead over the Novia Del Mar and the Diablo in the Los Angeles-to-Tahiti yacht race.

The yachts were reported more than 400 mile swest of Los Angeles by yesterday.

Coast Guardsman Wins Sail Title

SEATTLE (AP)—Steve Martin of the Coast Guard Academy won the North American Intercollegiate single-handed sailing championships yesterday with third, first, fourth and second place finishes in the final four races.

Martin had a total of 132 points for the three days of sailing.

Terry Anderlini, Tulane, was second with 118 points, followed by Terry Cronburg, MIT, 113; and Ron Stockett, San Diego State, 110.

The four qualified for the preliminary Olympic Trials at Buzzards Bay, Mass., July 23-26.

Light breezes hampered the field of 12 in the morning races, but by afternoon the winds on Lake Washington had picked up to 10-12 knots.

Sausalitan Wins Folkboat Racing

Kruuse Caroe of the Sausalito Yacht Club piloted Debonair to victory in the seventh of a series of 10 Wednesday evening folkboat races off the Marina in San Francisco last night.

Debonair made the five-mile course in 1:43.04 over a field of 10 boats. Windy was first across the finish line but was disqualified for touching a buoy.

Other finishers:

Annie, 1:43:22; Kestrel, 1:47:18; Gallante, 1:47:18; Kijafa, 1:50:16; Tulla, 1:51:0; Weft, 1:51:10; Skaal, 1:59:22. Knarr Class—Snap To. IC Class—Damn Near.

Phils Send Pitcher To Minor Leagues

Bennett, brother of the Phillies' Dennis Bennett, appeared in one game for one inning, and gave up two hits and a run.

STEVENS

I had just collected my winnings (one dime) from friend wife as a result of the S.F. Giants' victory, when a reader called to tell me that a wartime pal had just come in from Los Angeles. The reader had boasted about the good striper fishing in the Bay Area to this ex-GI.I. Was there any place he could take him and have a chance to catch some bass?

Man, or Man! talk about your psychological moments. A chance to catch a striped bass Unless the pal from the south is too weak to hang onto one end of a rod and can't muster enough muscle to reel a fish in, it's a cinch.

"LOOK!" I said to my caller, "get in your car and drive to Rodeo or Crockett so that you arrive at the Rodeo Marina or Dowrelio's Crockett harbor a bit before 5 a.m. Get aboard one of the party boats, rig up with a divided leader using a combination bug-eye jig (almost any color pattern, but yellow has been a winner) with a spoon lure (Pet, Pflueger Chum, or Duroflash) on the longer leader. The skipper will drive his boat to one-or-the-other sides of the channel near buoys 9, 10 and 14.

"Consult your skipper as to sinker weights, length of line to let out and have yourself a barrel of fun.

YOU THINK the above is too strong a statement? Not so. Since Sunday, evening trolling for stripers in the areas mentioned above has been as close to perfect as it ever has been. The party boats and the skiffs out of Carl Bennett's Rodeo Marina averaged 90 to 95 per cent limits and some of them had to call it a trip account of limits already in the box by 8:30 p.m. on Sunday. Fish have all been large mediums with one that went 29 pounds and the majority ranged from around eight pounds up. Carl told me that the lad with the 29-pounder left too quickly to get his name and address, but the second best fish, a 22-pounder, was landed by Bob Campers.

Speaking to Nadine Lessley of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor I heard the same story. On Sunday, the Happy Days No. 2 unloaded 29 stripers to 12 pounds. The three boats out of Dowrelio's on Monday night came in with limits all around from near Buoy 9. Fish ran to 18 pounds.

SO THAT'S that. If your refrigerator is short on meat, get on the phone and reserve yourself a seat aboard one of the party boats at either Rodeo or Crockett. Be there at or before five, or your reservation will be cancelled.

One very important tip on the present trolling. Whether you hold your rod or rest it in a rod-holder, be very sure the drag isn't set tightly. And — get this! If you are holding your rod and you feel a fish hit, DON'T SNAP THE ROD UP TO SET THE HOOK. Hundreds of nice bass will be lost by over-eager anglers. Remember when trolling on a moving boat, a fish hooks himself.

'A LITTLE CHEESE AND WINE'

Grandma Goes Around World In 57 Hours

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some of her fellow passengers on the big jet thought grandma was just a little "tetched." And she didn't even tell the nieighbors in Hopatcong, N.J. beforehand what she was up to.

So, Mrs. John Hirschberg, at 72, flew around the world in 57 hours and 52 minutes to claim a record for the fastest round-the -world flight ever made by an American woman.

She made the flight, she said, so that "one day my grandchildren can tell their children."

"BY THAT TIME," she continued, "they'll be landing on the moon.

"I'm game for a moon flight too. I may be in my 80s before that's possible. But what have I got to lose?"

Anna Hirschberg is a chipper little woman (she's five feet tall) who had circled the globe once before—a cruise on a freighter in 1956. "That was around the world in 80 days," she said, in an interivew.

The one exception was Saigon, Viet Nam, and she recalled that when the pilot took the plane off from Saigon airport he told the passengers, "We'll climb rapidly. We were shot at once here."

MRS. HIRSCHBERG'S trip began a week ago Tuesday on Pan American World airways flight number two on its run from New York eastward back to San Francisco, by way of London, Frankfurt, Vienna, Istanbul, Beirut, Karachi, Bangkok, Saigon, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Honolulu. She boarded American Airlines flight 18 for the final leg of the trip from San Francisco to the John F. Kennedy airport in New York Friday. She outlasted a total of seven flight crews.

Her time in flight, a total of 22,746 miles counting the San Francisco-New York run, bettered a record claimed by Sue Snyder, 26, of Chicago, who in 1960 made a Pan Am around-the-world flight in 62 hours and 58 minutes.

SHE DIDN'T need her passport because she never went beyond the "in transit" passenger lounges at the airports. Not going into town was in the interest of saving time.

Even so, she managed to sip tea with a London bobby at an airport, received an embroidered native hat in Saigon, had hula lessons and was given a muu muu in Honolulu, all on stops averaging an hour in each city.

"I didn't get tired at all," she said as she talked at her son's home in Manhattan. Her son John, 49, owns a printing company, the same business her late husband had. He has two boys, one in the Coast Guard, the other at Bucknell University.

Mrs. Hirschberg figured she had about five hours sleep all told, mostly in cat naps.

"I ATE very little," she said. "I think travelers just eat too much for comfort on a long flight. I'd have a light breakfast, lunch was my main meal and supper usually was a little cheese and white wine. And I had one gin and tonic a day for the heart."

Pamela A. Greenland Is Wed In Larkspur

Pamela Ann Greenland and Louis J. Boss III exchanged nuptial vows Friday evening at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur. Relatives and close friends only attended.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Greenland of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Boss Jr. of San Rafael. He is the brother of Judy Boss and Nicole Boss of San Rafael.

Given in marriage by her father, Pamela recited her vows wearing a ballerina length gown of white chantilly lace with bouffant skirt. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Hope Hicks of San Francisco, who wore a dress of Aquamarine silk shantung.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Michael Boss of San Rafael, and ushers were Bruce Greenland, the bride's brother, and Edward Ghiringhelli of San Rafael.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the El Paseo Restaurant in Mill Valley. On their return from a wedding trip to Carmel, the young couple will live in San Francisco.

Both Pamela and Louis were graduated from Marin Catholic High School and completed their first year at the College of Marin this month. Pamela will continue her studies there, and Louis will continue his in San Francisco.

Demonstration By Custom Designer In Corte Madera

Else Tyroler, who specializes in basic custom pattern designing for women with individual figure problems and best known for her Precision Pants pattern, will present a demonstration tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at The Angells, 5609 Paradise Dr., Corte Madera.

GERMAN-BORN ELSE, who served seven years as apprentice to a master tailor before coming to America 12 years ago, has designed a basic precision pants pattern which is based on hip sizes, 34 to 42. "Size 40 is our fastest-selling pattern, and we have even drafted patterns as large as size 52.

Mrs. Tyroler stresses that she does not compete with the pattern firms. Hers is a basic pattern to be used in conjunction with a style pattern, adapting it to achieve the proper fit for women who cannot step into a perfect size.

HER PANTS PATTERN shows how alterations should be handled to check back rise, crotch length and width, taper trouser legs, allow for waistline variations, thigh bulk and prominent hip curves.

Little Girl Will Get Her Dream Trip

Special Fund Is Set Up For Cancer Victim

Shirley Hopper will be visiting Disneyland sometime next month, but it won't be the kind of trip most other 9-year-old girls take to Walt Disney's juvenile paradise.

Shirley's journey will be financed by a special fund, the "Shirley Fund," to which the list of donors includes the inmates and staffs of San Quentin Prison conservation camps in Mendocino County.

Why the fund?

Shirley is a victim of leukemia, which her doctors at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco say will kill her within about six months. She has always wanted to see Disneyland, but her stepfather, Lee Hopper, a logger who also has four sons, could not afford to send her.

CANCER OF BLOOD

Shirley's illness was diagnosed as the dreaded cancer of the blood less than two months ago. Her mother was informed of the nature of her affliction on Mother's Day.

The Fort Bragg Advocate-News published a story about Shirley and her desire to visit Disneyland, shortly thereafter, and donations began to pour in to make sure that she gets her wish. According to Bob Smith of the Advocate-News, the fund totaled $1,616.92 yesterday.

The prisoners and staffs of the camps will host the Hopper family at dinner Sunday, and they will present Shirley with a check for about $125 at that time.

WILL MAKE TRIP

Smith said Shirley will probably make the trip with her mother, her four brothers and a grandmother. They will be at Disneyland for two to four days. Disneyland has agreed to give the Hoppers a day there, when a personal hostess will guide them and they will be admitted to all rides and other attractions without charge.

The trip is being delayed until July because the doctors say that some drugs which are not helping Shirley yet will have taken effect by then and will make her stronger and better able to sustain the physical stress involved.

Company Seeks To Dredge Bay

The Porto f Santa Clara County, Inc., a private company, has applied for a Department of the Army permit to dredge and fill in San Pablo Bay at Point San Pedro.

According to Bale and Strandgaard, Corte Madera engineering firm which prepared the proposal for the work, the company plans to barge materials to and from McNear's Quarry.

Any objection to the permit request may be submitted in writing to the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco, not later than July 23.

Pencils usually are made from incense cedar and the average tree yields about 172,000 pencils.

We couldn't put these awards into better hands

Take a good look at these young people. We did, in sponsoring the "MOST VALUABLE STAFFER AWARD" program of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association here in Marin.

They look like the future to us—and the awards and the future couldn't be in better hands.

Each of these young people was chosen, under this national program, for making the most valuable contribution to his or her school newspaper during the 1963-64 school year.

They were dedicated, talented . . . and hard-working. Like good journalists they took the job of communicating the world of school events to their fellows as a challenge. And they went beyond the standards of doing a good job. They excelled.

You can be proud of them, as we are. And proud too, of their journalism instructors who coached and encouraged these talented young people to turn talent into action.

We at the I-J were delighted to put their story in bronze—an engraved plaque for each. But THEY wrote it. And that's the real award.

Basis of the Awards

- Sponsored for all high schools and the College of Marin by the Independent-Journal.
- Student must be a good student, as determined by the faculty or instructor.
- Selected student to be chosen by the school.
- Be a person who has made the greatest contribution to the success of the school newspaper during the school year, regardless of his position . . . setting high standards of personal accomplishment.

To recognize journalistic talent in young people . . . to encourage interest in a newspaper career

Emphysema Victim Now Shuns Smoking

A 30-year-old San Anselmo policeman has had emphysema for more than three years and has undergone major surgery to remove lung tissue damaged by the disease.

Today, because of his painful experience, Don Nelson of 33 Valley Road is an enthusiastic supporter of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. work toward controlling chronic respiratory diseases.

Emphysema causes more deaths than lung cancer and tuberculosis combined, and youth is no guarantee of immunity, the association points out, citing Nelson's case.

Like the typical emphysema patient, Nelson used to smoke heavily and coughed a great deal. He has now quit smoking permanently, and so his his wife, Hedy. And thanks to successful surgery he is no longer short of breath.

Three years ago while riding a police motorbike, Nelson was struck by a "tremendous pain" in the left side of his chest. His doctor told him to stop smoking, but he didn't "I had smoked two packs a day since I was a freshman in high school, and I thoroughly enjoyed smoking," he recalls.

A year later during a promotional examination Nelson's right lung collapsed. This time surgery was necessary, and he was hospitalized for a week. He was back on the job two weeks later, and the chief permitted him to remain on the 4 p.m. to midnight desk duty for six months.

The tuberculosis association points out that damage caused by emphysema can progress unnoticed unless causes such as cigarettes and poluted air are removed.

NO SMOKING FOR HIM—From the smile on the face of Don Nelson, San Anselmo police officer, no one would guess he has had emphysema for more than three years. Two years ago he underwent major surgery after his right lung collapsed. A smoker since he was a high school freshman, he has now quit permanently. Cigarettes are one of the causes of the disease.

Women: Afraid Of Being Women

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newest scientific study of woman is also one of the longest and most detailed. It fills a book of 714 pages and has 834 references to the findings of previous takers-apart of the female of the species. But it has a unique theme which is, woman is afraid of being a woman.

This fear she acquires from another woman, her mother, the theme asserts. She passes it on to yet another woman, her daughter. Thus womanly fear of womanliness is self-perpetuating and produces much continuing evil, and for the male as well as the female since he too is a product of woman. This evil the theory-maker summarized as "maternal destructiveness."

He is Dr. Joseph C. Rheingold of Harvard Medical School, a Freudian-oriented psychiatrist for over 30 years and long-time consultant in the womanly branches of medical science, gynecology and obstetrics.

"The Fear of Being a Woman" (this is the title of his book, published by the Medical House, Gruns, and Strattan, New York) is something a woman is rarely aware of, since it is buried in the unconscious segment of mind. However, he continued, it seeps in disguised form into consciousness and activates destructiveness.

But the children are the important victims since they are mentally crippled by it and the girls acquire the fear. It is modified by the constructive side of the feminine psyche which Rheingold termed "nurturance," particularly in a woman's rearing of her children. The outcome for the children depends upon the relative amounts of "nataurance" and "maternal destructiveness" they get from their mothers.

Rheingold said the two exist in the unconscious minds of women in general (particularly women of the western culture) but the proportions vary, of course, from woman to woman. That is, at one end of a scale "nurturance" is predominant and at the other, "maternal destructiveness" reigns.

By WILLIAM BELL

Lettered on them are the words: "Donated by the people of the United States of America. Not to be sold or exchanged."

But they sell very well indeed.

So does a sizable share of the total "Food for Peace" staples sent to a hungry Congo by the U. S., despite close controls applied both by the American Embassy and Congolese police.

Illicit, open sale of donated food is admittedly embarrassing, but American Embassy officials feel it is vital to continue the program because without it thousands of Congolese would go without food at all.

Katanga Province alone, according to U.S. aid figures, about 422,000,000 Congolese francs (about $2,500,000) worth of food has been donated.

The temptation is too much for many Congolese bush administrators. They sell the food to speculators and merchants—or sell it themselves to the people who were supposed to receive it free.

Meanwhile, the U.S. food continues to roll in.

One controversial staple—yellow corn—may be cut off soon by the U.S. at the recommendation of officials in Leopoldville. The corn caused quite a stir. Many Congolese would not eat the corn because, they claimed, it produced sterility and blindness, and much of it found its way illegally across the border to Northern Rhodesia, where Africans found it edible and filling—and profitable on the Maizeshort copperbelt's markets.

Everything was tried, including a demonstration in which an African ate some yellow corn, the Congolese bias against the yellow corn was unshakeable.

Other goods, channeled through the United Nations, includes everything from rubber boots to rifles and controls are applied in order to prevent loss and theft.

The U.S. presence in Katanga, as elsewhere in the Congo, is prominent, so much so that many Belgians refer to Ambassador George McM. Godley as the "Governor General of the Congo."

Recently, arrival of a dozen U.S. soldiers in uniform added to the image of American domination of the country. Although the men were mechanics assigned to help maintain U. S. donated trucks and vehicles, and to teach maintenance to Congolese army troops, rumors swept Elisabethville that the men were special forces troops sent to advise in military operations against rebels in the Congo's eastern provinces. An official denial by the Congolese army commander in Katanga convinced virtually no one.

At the moment, only the U. S. has shown itself willing to undertake the tremendous expenditure and effort needed to restore the shattered economy and everyday life of the Congo.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Malaria Still Prevalent In Many Underdeveloped Areas Of World

VAN DELLEN

Malaria remains prevalent in many of the underdeveloped countries of the world. Great strides are being made in eradication but the project is so vast it is difficult to comprehend. In addition, the infection enfeebles so many of the inhabitants, they cannot help themselves.

IN ALL PROBABILITY, malaria will remain a serious threat for generations to come. Relapses occur years after exposure and it is believed that monkeys also act as a reservoir for the four species of causative parasites. The incubation period varies from one to two weeks, long enough for an unprotected traveler to return from the tropics to the United States and develop the first symptoms.

When anopheles mosquitos bite an infected person they suck in blood containing the male and female parasites. Fertilization takes place in the insect gut and the female penetrates the stomach wall where she enlarges for 7 to 20 days. The eggs sporozoites) rupture into the body cavity and those that lodge in the insect's salivary glands can be injected into a new victim.

THE PARASITES enter man's liver, where they remain for one to two weeks. On release, they invade the blood or go back into the liver cells. The typical chills and fever develop when the red cells burst and the parasites escape into the liquid part of the blood; the cycle now is ready to repeat itself.

At one time quinine was the only remedy for malaria. The source disappeared when the main cinchona fields of Java fell into Japanese hands during World War II. Meanwhile more GIs were suffering from malaria than from battle wounds. A number of synthetic antimalarials were developed under the pressure of war and they proved more effective than quinine.

MODERN PREVENTIVE drugs are begun by travelers to tropical climates on entering a malarious area and are continued for two or more weeks after leaving. A weekly dose is all that is necessary.

DOING TOO MUCH

R. N. writes: I had chorea at age 11 and was cured. I am a married woman of 25 with an outside job. I have become extremely nervous and wonder if the tension produced by two jobs is responsible or whether I'm having a recurrence of chorea.

REPLY

APPLE TIME

Mrs. S. writes: When is the best time for an elderly woman to eat apples? I love them but if I eat one before lunch or in midafternoon, gas forms and I feel uncomfortable.

REPLY

Try eating an apple for desert. If discomfort occurs, substitute apple sauce or a baked apple.

FAT AND GALLSTONES

P. B. writes: Will remaining on a low fat diet ward off the need for gall bladder removal.

REPLY

No. This type of diet may lessen the chance of developing indigestion, gas, or colic. But it will not dissolve gallstones or take the place of surgery when the organ is diseased.

TAPEWORM

N. Y. writes: I have low blood pressure and my husband says a tapeworm must be consuming my blood. Is this possible?

REPLY

No. Tapeworms may cause anemia but they have no effect on the blood pressure.

Sir Alec Is Criticized For Current Campaign

By JOSEPH GLADSTONE

LONDON (WPS)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is under criticism from his supporters because, in their phrase, he is "not pulling up enough trees" in the current election campaign.

His "first 200 days" (since replacing Harold Macmillan) have passed, and with them the whistle-stop tours of various regions which took Sir Alec into many byways to let the voters see him in person.

Since then Parliament has sagged, and so has Sir Alec.

A quiet man by nature, the Scottish Premier lacks the showman's gift which is such an asset in electioneering. Macmillan could dominate a room simply by striding onto a platform with a raised hand and a smile. But even Tory members of Parliament have to admit that when Sir Alec does this, the magical effect is missing.

There have been some agitated discussions in high party quarters over this—always regarded as "the danger with (running) Alec."

There has been speculation about whether some "issues" can be created to bring Sir Alec out on top in battles with the Opposition. But this remains doubtful. So far no "great issues" have arisen of their own accord, and none are expected—unless it be over the critical situation in the Far East.

Not that labor leader Harold Wilson is having everything his way either. He too is finding it difficult to seize on an "issue." His public fury over the Chrysler-Rootes deal, for instance, proved premature. In the Commons he was rolled flat by Chancellor Reggie Maudling's insistence that the deal would bring valuable American know-how and research to British industry.

Wilson's visit to Moscow has not impressed the British overmuch—certainly not to the extent that Macmillan's famous visit, in his white fur hat, impressed them. It is one thing when a Prime Minister goes to see Khrushchev, and quite another when a Leader of the Opposition goes just before election.

As far as the voters themselves go, the indications are that the two parties are being polarized as their agents strive to assess the future.

As of now, it appears there will be no big majority for the winner. The latest predictions indicate a majority of about 30 either way.

This is just about the lowest practicable figure for a government in the House of Commons. Anything less makes for hopeless "snap" votes which, at the least, can make a government look silly and futile.

Some Tory M.P.s are already looking forward to the possibility of being in opposition and are describing to their newer colleagues its excitements — such as the freedom to criticize, freedom from responsibility, etc.

The one thing all Britons want to know is: what day in October will Sir Alec favor for the general election?

Most likely, it now seems, are Oct. 15 or Oct. 22, thought the latter is regarded as less probable.

Oct. 8 is "out" because the queen will be in Canada. While her presence in the captial is not essential on polling day, it is very desirable immediately afterwards because the new administration must be formed over the weekend after the election. The incoming prime minister must "kiss hands" (the Queen's), and his major ministers must receive the "Seals of Office" from the queen.

Bus Drivers Rewarded For Safety Records

Two Greyhound bus drivers have won citations for compiling 15-year safety records in which they covered an estimated 525,000 miles of highway travel.

Joe G. Griffith of 52 Hill Street, Mill Valley, and Jack C. Barrow of 390 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, were awarded safety award certificates, uniform insignia indicating their number of years of safe driving and gifts of personal jewelry.

Two Girls Get Scholarships

Two girls who were graduated from Marin high schools this month have received $500 scholarships from the Marin Chapter of the National Foundation.

Valerie M. Ansel, nurses scholarship chairman of the Marin chapter, has announced the winners to be Cynthia Wirt, graduate of San Rafael High School, and Nancy Cox, graduate of Dominican Convent.

Cynthia is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lincoln B. Wirt of 45 Clark Street, San Rafael. Nancy lives in San Francisco.

The girls have both enrolled for the fall term at San Francisco State College, where they will study with the intent of entering nursing school.

This is the second year that the Marin chapter has been able to award scholarships from its own funds. Last year one scholarship was given, while during the previous three years the Marin chapter sponsored scholarships provided by the National Foundation. Miss Ansel had headed the program from its inception.

Warning Issued On Mail Purchase

Stewart pointed to recurrent reports of land fraud by mail, and noted that suits involving huge sums of money have resulted in indictments and convictions recently, particularly in Western states.

News releases warning of get-rich-quick investment schemes or unusually cheap retirement sites advertised through the mails are issued periodically by the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, of which the Marin County board is a member.

Stewart stressed that prospective buyers should personally inspect, before purchase, any property offered for sale, or acquire the assistance of a reliable person or agency before signing the sales contract.

Mount Tamlapais Trail Ride Is Slated This Weekend

The third annual Mount Tamalpais trail ride, a competitive endurance test sponsored by the Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn., will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

The ride will start from Project 17, the association's riding arena, in Mill Valley and climb the north ridge to Rifle Camp. It will circle the mountain via Lake Lagunitas and return to the starting point in a total of about seven hours riding time.

Riders from several states will assemble tomorrow for a preliminary soundness check-in made on the horses and the riders' weights recorded. Judges are Mrs. Wentworth Tellington of San Luis Obispo and Dr. Robert E. Graham of Santa Cruz.

Further information may be obtrained from Mrs. John R. Hogan of 532 Throckmorton Avenue.

State Gets Funds For Park Lands

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A federal grant of 2.3 million dollars for purchase of state park land has been given the state, the department of parks and recreation said yesterday.

Director Charles De Turk said the state was "pleased" that the federal government "acknowledges our needs and approves this investment" for park land.

But he said it would take a "major investment" to halt destruction of "the few sparse properties still worthy of inclusion in the state park system" over the next two years.

He said a 150-million-dollar bond issue proposal on the November general election ballot would be "a means to this end."

San Rafael Jr. Chamber Will Install

Donald L. Ronsheimer of San Rafael will be installed as president of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce at an installation and awards dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant.

Bob Oran, California State Junior Chamber vice president, will be the main speaker, and will install Ronsheimer.

George Yerby of San Francisco, district governor, will install Gerald H. Purcell of San Rafael as internal vice president; Robert A. Smith of San Rafael, external vice president; William A. Henderson Jr. of Larkspur, state director; Dick F. Cuthbert Jr. of San Rafael, secretary; Michael R. Sanford, Kentfield, treasurer; and David L. Redo of El Cerrito, John P. Rooney of Corte Madera, Dennis W. Cuyler of Bolinas and Frank G. Majore of San Rafael, directors.

Retiring president Henderson will present a Junior Chamber international senatorship to Dr. Richard L. Galbreath of San Anselmo, president of the group in 1960-61. Galbreath has been active on the local level and as a member of the state committee for health and safety.

Awards also will be made to outstanding members of the year.

To Boston College

Richard Robert, a teacher at San Rafael Military Academy, will attend a summer institute in mathematics for junior and senior high school teachers next Monday through Aug. 7 at Boston College, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

We have so many bargains in spanking new Fords—cars and trucks—every conceivable model, color, and equipment, we felt we should set this special sale to music.

And, what could be sweeter music than the enchanting strains of Hawaiian guitars? Our hula dancer will help set the mood, too.

If you need further encouragement to relax and enjoy our easy-going atmosphere, just take a look at our Ames Boys, dressed in Lava-Lavas, Leis and foolish looks. This sight alone is worth the price of admission—which, of course, is free!

And, what's a Luau without a big spread of Selected Used Car Bargains?

SILVERWARE DEPARTMENT EASILY IDENTIFIED

Interior decor at the new Emporium makes use of colors and motifs to identify merchandise departments ingeniously and serve as selling backgrounds for the merchandise itself as in this section where sales clerk Miss Lyle Parmalee has assisted in arranging silverware and clocks in attractive displays.

BUSINESS STARTS TOMORROW

Northgate Emporium Opening

Marin's newest and largest department store will open its doors for business tomorrow.

Emporium Marin, the three-story, 208,000-square foot building, for which ground was broken in the Northgate Regional Shopping Center 15 months ago, will have its official ribbon cutting ceremony at 9:15 a.m. in front of the northeast entrance.

A special platform to accommodate Marin dignitaries and store officials has been set up for the program. Following the ceremony, the doors will be unlocked and the public will be allowed to enter.

The huge department store leads the list of a number of Bay Area merchants who will open in Northgate Unit Two. Buildings under construction are expected to be ready for them about the first of the year.

The Emporium building, designed by Welton Becket and Associates, has two complete floors of 90,000 square feet each, and a smaller third floor of 28,000 square feet which is expected to be expanded later to 62,000 square feet. Escalators and an automatic passenger elevator ply between the floors.

Blue colored, rough-textured split brick have been used in the exterior finishing, and a tall, columned balcony and portico with soft-glow night lighting help to make the day and after dark.

A "customer patio" store attractive, both by makes a handsome main floor centerpiece. Flanked by the glass-sided escalators, the patio is furnished with tables, lush plantings and comfortable chairs to make a gracious meeting place and a setting for special store events such as fashion shows and personal appearances.

Hiring of the Emporium staff was started this spring. Aside from a small group of executives, the entire personnel is made up of Marin County residents.

A TYPICAL 'STORE CLASS' SCENE

During the past two weeks small groups such as this one conducted by Mrs. Virginia Mackey, manager of the women's sportwear department, have gathered in various parts of the Emporium for instruction in customer relations and merchandising. Except for a small percentage of key personnel, store employees are made up of Marin residents.

PLANNED FOR BUSY WOMEN—The Emporium's beauty salon is conveniently located on the second floor. It is large, crisply modern and fully equipped for all types of beauty services. David Connelle (right), style director for all Emporium-Capwell stores, will be available at the Northgate salon during its opening days for individual consultations.

Emporium Buyers Have Wealth Of Fashion Knowhow

A wealth of fashion experience is brought to Marin by Emporium buyers and merchandising executives, who have compiled the following forecast of styles having special significance for local women:

GENERAL—The overall trend is to the "gentle mood"—charming and pretty — and somewhat away from the "sportive" which was so dominant last fall. There will be no drastic change in line or silhouette; fabric and color will be relied upon to tell the ever-changing story of fashion.

FABRICS—There will be two fabric faces this year: BOLD and DEEP-TEXTURED, with tweeds the number one expression for day wear; SLICK and SMOOTH —twills, worsteds, meltons and suedes, for example. Knits, which have become basic with most women, will have a new look when they are textured—so as to appear woven rather than knitted.

COLOR—There has been a major change in recent years to more "no season" use of color. The use of darks, lights, pales, brights, etc., all year round, for instance. The Emporium's new fall sweaters are clear and bright pinks, green (Kelly), turquoise, etc.—colors not often used in the past for fall. The most popular colors this year are expected to be: Pinks (raspberry tones, especially), green (Kelly and jade tones), lacquer red. Brown, as a "dark," will be more important this year than in seasons past.

SUITS—After a decade in which the dress has starred in fashions, the suit now moves to the fore for fall, 1964. And with Chanel's influence continuing strong. The "mobile" skirt (pleated, gored, etc.) will be news, as will jackets in both shorter and longer lengths than in the recent past.

SPORTSWEAR—Color and fabric will be especially important—not matched, as in the past, but mixed and blended. This will require both imagination and taste on the part of the wearer, but will open interesting opportunities to women with access to the wide selections of a large store. Separate jackets will be an important part of the sportswear picture, and they will be newest looking when worn with a pleated skirt.

DRESSES—The coat dress is predicted as a major fashion item —in good weight for wear without a coat. In all dresses there is some softening of lines, and crepe will be important for late day wear.

COATS—A wide variety of silhouettes is offered this fall, making possible the assembly of a "coat wardrobe." Raincoats are being made still more versatile for all-purpose wear—tunics, seven-eighths lengths, wraps.

ACCESSORIES—As always, accessories complement the clothes, and this fall the "complete look" will be more important than ever. The right bag, hat, shoes, etc. for the clothes you wear. Simplicity of styling (less trim) is noted, and color and fabric will be as important in accessories as in apparel.

Fashions For Man Of House Are Forecast

Based upon their experience in supplying the needs of Bay Area men, store buyers and merchandising executives offer this forecast of men's fashion news for next fall.

SUITS — Lighter colors. A marked lightening of the dark grays and blacks of last season. Iridescent fabrics are still high fashion. The detailing of jackets will change somewhat — in the growing absence of pocket flaps, for instance.

FURNISHINGS — Color will make news. Both solids and candy stripes will grow in importance in men's dress shirts. Easy-care Dacron and Dacron-cotton shirts will build their popularity still more.

SPORTSWEAR — Ease of wear and ease of care will continue at a quickening pace. Stretch fabrics, especially — until now seen only in slacks — will be found in shirts, jackets, even sweaters.

SHOES — Corfam, the new DuPont material which looks and breathes like leather, will enter the men's shoe field. It is water-resistant, won't crack, needs no shining. Soft and easy to wear, Corfram will be important from now on. Styles this fall will veer away from the extremes of the Italian look. Heavier wing-tip brogue types will predominate.

CURTAINS DEPARTMENT READY

Mrs. Jacqueline Coker, manager of the Emporium's curtain and drapery department, and her staff of clerks have arranged all stocks and display panels since this photograph was taken last week. Store people have been working steadily since June 8 getting merchandise ready for tomorrow's opening.

Beauty Shop Carries Out Color Motif

The salon, located on the second floor, was planned and equipped to save the time of Marin County's busy women, according to David Connelle, style director for all the Emporium-Capwell stores, who will be on hand for personal consultations as a part of the opening promotion.

Materials, machines and expert operators were selected to offer a full range of beauty services—in comfortable surroundings. Even the dryers are pleasantly pretty, each standing primly behind an inviting, contoured lounge chair. Dry hoods are the newest kind, cooler and more comfortable than previous models —and it isn't necessary to use a hair net under them.

Cutting, shaping, styling, coloring, waving, conditioning—if it can be done to human hair, the Emporium's beauty salon is equipped to do it both well and quickly.

STORE TO SERVE FOUR COUNTIES

Survey Shows Shoppers From Marin Sonoma, Napa, Solano Are Expected

Who will be the customers of Emporium Marin?

If a consumer survey prepared for the Draper Companies about two years ago is accurate, the new Northgate store will serve shoppers in four counties.

One of the questions in the survey, which was conducted in Marin, Napa and Solano counties, asked which large department store had been visited the last time the respondent had shopped.

Of those interviewed in Marin, 45.1 per cent named the downtown Emporium in San Francisco, Stonestown Emporium, Capwell's in Oakland or Capwell's in El Cerrito. In Sonoma County, 66.6 per cent of the respondents were divided among the same stores, and in Napa and Solano counties these stores drew a total of 72.7 per cent.

Questioned as to the proportionate amount each family spent in various department stores, Marin and Sonoma County residents listed Emporium-Capwell stores as receiving 42.9 per cent of their expenditures; Napa and Solano County persons said the same stores received 67.8 per cent.

Since Emporium Marin will be a full-line department store of the Emporium Capwell Co., it is expected to pick up most of these shoppers.

Dude Ranch Opens On French Riviera

NEW YORK (UPI)—A French version of the dude ranch has opened near St. Tropez, French Riviera.

The Augberge Relais Hippique at LeMuy is a mixture of country inn and riding club. Guests at the "horstel" can arrange for three to seven-day treks through the Maures-Esterel and Verdon Mountains.

Midnight Swim Island Tradition

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (UPI)—An ocean dip at midnight on June 23-24 is a Puerto Rican tradition dating back to the days of Ponce de Leon and the early Spanish conquistadores.

The swim on San Juan de Bautista Day honors the patron saint of San Juan, the capital city. Because the name San Juan once referred to the entire island, the fiesta paying tribute to St. John the Baptist is celebrated with equal enthusiasm in San Juan and throughout the island.

'LIGHTS OF EVENING'

Painting Voted Best Entry At Northgate Center Show

"Lights of Evening," an oil painting by G. Frederick Cole of 890 Las Ovejas Avenue, Terra Linda, was voted the best entry in the Terra Linda Art Assn.'s first out door art and crafts festival at the Northgate Shopping Center last weekend.

The painting by Cole, art director for a San Francisco advertising firm, received a majority of the votes cast by many of the more than 1,000 persons who visited the festival.

There were 335 entries representing 80 artists in the show with nearly 40 different kinds of media used.

Thirteen prizes and 11 honorable mentions were awarded by the festival's judges, Doris Morrison, Ada Garfinkel and John Lynch, Bay Area artists.

First prize winners were John Jaccard, "Wheelbarrow and Plow," watercolor; Andrea Hendrick, "Freedom March," oil; Deni McNamara, "California Cove," collage and oil, and Jim Munson, "Toadstool," clay.

Receiving third prizes were O. Coln, "003," oil; P. E. Henricks, "Drums of Barrios," guache; Fred Cole, "Spring Paint," watercolor, and Annelies Kahn, "Pot No. 2," clay.

He Has Tough Job As Snake Hunter But Likes It Well

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Africans at Weenen in South Africa's Natal Province believe anybody who kills a python will go mad. That's why they can't understand how Hansie Kilian stays healthy and sane. He is Weenen municipality's official snake catcher.

All he uses are his two bare hands and a small knife "for emergencies." He has had several narrow escapes but he still prefers to do his python hunting alone.

His method depends on speed, even when catching the smallest specimens of four feet. He grabs them behind the head and then at the tip of the tail.

Pythons at Weenen reach a weight of more than 100 pounds. The biggest specimen Kilian has caught was 16 feet long.

He does not kill pythons unless he has to. Usually he sends them to a snakepark.

EMPORIUM IS WELL LIGHTED

Interior selling areas at Emporium Marin have 12 and 14-foot ceiling heights. Acoustical ceilings have flourescent and incandescent recessed lighting. Floors are covered with resilient tile and carpeting. Great use is made of wood-grained plastics in fixturing—as in the table tops of the glassware department shown here.

WIFE A NATIVE

Store Manager Marin Resident

Herbert F. Brandt, the Emporium's newest suburban store manager, has been a resident of Marin County 15 years.

The young executive (he has not yet reached 40) is also married to a native of Marin. His wife is the former Marie Bottini, member of a pioneer San Rafael family. She was born in San Rafael and was graduated from Dominican College.

"The entire family is pleased that I no longer have to commute to San Francisco," Brandt said.

Brandt grew up in the San Francisco Bay Area. He served in the Navy from 1943 until 1946, and was graduated from the School of Business Administration at the University of California at Berkeley in 1952. Immediately afterward he joined the Emporium as a member of the store's executive training program.

HERBERT F. BRANDT

He was appointed assistant manager of the men's furnishings department that same year, and in 1955 was made manager of the store's University Shop. Less than three years later he was appointed group merchandise manager in the Emporium's basement store, a position he has held until now.

Brandt's smile is warm and friendly, and there is humor in his eyes and mouth. But in spite of his genial disposition he tackles work with a head-on attitude. When he is in his office he takes off his coat and doesn't put it on again until he leaves.

"Most Marin men seem to work in their shirtsleeves, so I feel right at home," he said.

MERCHANDISING MANAGER — Paul M. Widdess, 28, has held a variety of assistant manager and department manager posts in Emporium stores since he joined the company in 1958. Widdess lives in Loma Verde with his wife and two children.

OPERATIONS MANAGER — Peter L. Uhry is responsible deliveries, transportation problems and other non-merchandising activities at Emporium Marin. He also supervises housewares and furniture departments. Uhry, 25, joined the Emporium in 1962 and has been a floor supervisor in San Francisco. He and his wife expect to move to Marin.

Oldtime Emporium Ad Man Keeps Close Eye On Store

With more than 86 years to his credit, early Emporium advertising manager James H. Neal, a resident of Marin, still shows enthusiasm for activities of the firm that employed him more than 50 years ago.

The brighteyed octogenarian was advertising manager for two years right after the 1906 earthquake and fire when the San Francisco store was moved to Van Ness Avenue between Post and Sutter streets. Later he opened his own advertising agency.

"Those were hectic days in 1906 and 1907," he remembers. "It was then that the Emporium coined and adopted the slogan: 'The store with the money back policy.' It may seem inconceivable now, but few if any merchants in those days returned your money once a sale was made. But the old policy of 'Caveat Emptor' gradually eroded and faded into history. Thus the Emporium led the way in a new society of sound values, good merchandising and accurate advertising."

Neal, who lives close by the Northgate site is in a geographical position to keep a constant check on progress at Emporium Marin. He was there at the ground breaking; has looked in on several construction phases—and he will be at tomorrow's opening ceremonies.

SERVICE AREA SPEEDS RECEIPT AND DELIVERY

Service areas at Emporium Marin were designed to speed the receipt and delivery of goods.

They include a large receiving dock with space for four trucks, and with mechanical ramp dock levelers, making use of lessons learned in modern store design since World War II and through experience at other Emporium-Capwell stores in the Bay Area.

Areas in excess of 15,000 square feet are devoted to row after row of metal shelves—ceiling high—for reserve stocks, bulk storage sections and marshalling areas. Much of the reserve stock is housed on the third floor.

It Takes Money To Collect Taxes, Federals Report

CHICAGO (AP) — The cost of collecting federal taxes is currently running 45 cents for every $100 of revenue.

The Internal Revenue Service says that during 1962 it determined the ratio when the nation's taxpayers put a then record $99.4 billions in the government coffers. The present cost of 45 cents compares with the 32 cents per $100 in 1944, the lowest on record, and the all-time high of $5.30 of 1871.

When the graduated income tax began in 1913, the IRS spent $1.59 for every $100 it collected.

ONCE HAD MARIN COUNTY CLUB

'Second Time Around' For Store

The Emporium's new store in the Northgate Shopping Center is not its first appearance in Marin County—but its "second time around."

The first one began in Fairfax in 1925 and lasted until World War II.

There were no dry goods counters or long racks of women's wear, but during the fair weather month the place was filled with clerks, salespeople, buyers and department managers.

This was the Emporium Country Club, originally the site of Lord Charles Fairfax's estate, later the famous Pastori restaurant, and now known as Town and Country Club of Marin.

During prohibition, the once booming business at Pastori's restaurant declined to a point where it could no longer be said to be profitable. Emporium executives who had visited the place often during its golden years thought the 32-acre grounds would be an excellent site for an employees' club for use on weekends and vacations.

The land was purchased and many thousands of dollars were spent in improving it. A huge tiled swimming pool (still considered one of the largest tiled pools in Northern California) was built; tent cabins and dormitories were constructed.

For more than a decade Emporium employees came to it on weekends by the hundreds. Many of them spent their vacations there, swimming or lounging by the pool in the daytime, dancing in the clubhouse at night. The Pastori station sign on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad line was taken down and "Emporium" substituted.

Toward the end of the 1930s the store owners decided to discontinue the operation. For about three years it saw little company activity, and in 1942 it was purchased by Max Friedman, the present owner, who built more swimming pools and more cabins and made it the recreational center it is today.

But occasionally some of the older Emporium employees wander in the grounds and look around nostalgically. They had a wonderful time there—while it lasted.

More Freeways Open In Germany

NEW YORK (UPI)—It will be much easier for tourists to get around in Germany this summer because of the recent opening of new sections of autobahn.

One new portion links Saarbruecken, capital of the Saar, with the West German network of super highways. A section at Dortmund and the southern bypass near Aachen were completed. Another important leg finished was the branch between Halensee and Siemenstadt outside West Berlin.

Marching Pageantry Scheduled In London

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the finest marching and massed band displays in the British Isles will take place at the Royal Tournament in London, July 8-25, says the British Travel Assn.

A member of the royal family is nearly always present to take the salute at this event, which is 84 years old this year. The Household Cavalry's "Musical Ride," bands, drums, pipes and dancers of the North Irish Brigade and the massed bands of the Royal Marines will take part.

The Name's The Thing For Air-Loving Family

SOUTH SALEM, N.Y. (AP)—Capt. Joseph Mitchell, Eastern Airlines employee since 1938, and his wife named two of their three sons for airplanes—Douglas and Curtis.

On June 7 they became grandparents for the first time. Douglas Mitchell, who recently became a pilot for Eastern, and his wife named their daughter Piper.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1868, the former Confederate states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana were readmitted to the Union.

In 1876, Sitting Bull led the Sioux Indians in the Battle of Little Big Horn that wiped out Gen. George Custer and his men in an action that later became known as "Custer's Last Stand."

In 1962, the Supreme Court handed down a decision interpreted as barring prayer in public schools.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Use One Suit If You Can Have Two When Playing

When you have two suits to work with you don't always have to choose one or the other.

Work out the play in such a way as to have both.

Opening lead — ♠ 3

South has two spades and one heart, and therefore needs six tricks in diamonds and clubs combined to make the game contract. Even if he gets four diamond tricks he will still need two clubs.

NOT SURE

The trouble with going after the diamonds hammer and tongs is that South cannot be sure of getting to dummy after knocking out the ace of diamonds.

For example, South might lead the jack of diamonds and then another diamond in the hope that an opponent would be obliged to win the first or second diamond.

Actually, East would refuse both tricks, and the diamonds would not come in.

TOO LATE

It would then be too late to go after the clubs. Declarer would be able to lead clubs from dummy only once.

One club finesse would not be enough to bring in four club tricks even though the finesse succeeds.

The correct play is to lead the jack of diamonds to dummy's king at the second trick. East holds up, and you can return a club from dummy to win a finesse with the queen.

DUMMY QUEEN

Now lead the nine of diamonds to dummy's queen. If an opponent has to win the trick you can get four diamond tricks and two clubs.

Since East holds up his ace of diamonds again, you are once more in dummy to take another club finesse. The jack of clubs wins, and you can continue with the ace of clubs and a low club.

Now you make four club tricks and two diamonds, enough for game.

QUESTION

Partner bids one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K Q 10 7 6
♠ J 9 8
♡ J 8 2
♣ 6 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades or one notrump.

The raise is slightly preferable, since you have a worthless doubleton. You cannot afford to show the diamonds since the hand as a whole is not strong enough for a response at the level of two.

Chilly Contest Comes Really Easy For Her

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — It was only natural that Mrs. Wyoming, Mrs. Margaret Mickelson of Big Piney, Wyo., should win the cold water laundering contest in the Mrs. America competition.

Civil Rights Success Hinges On Way Of Acceptance

Now that the U.S. Senate, through bipartisan vote, has passed the Civil Rights Act and sent it to the House for consideration of amendments—and with President Johnson expecting to sign it July Fourth—the strongest order for equality of all Americans since Lincoln's time nears reality.

So much for enactment after decades of bitter North-South struggle. Now come two other important steps before the millenium: Acceptance and enforcement.

On another July Fourth, the Declaration of Independence outlined truths it held to be self-evident: " . . . that all men are created equal, and that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights . . . " Lincoln reiterated the proposition of equality at Gettysburg.

Machinery for enforcement of the Civil Rights Act were set up in this measure. Acceptance and compliance are in the future. We pray for early, complete compliance—but a century of racial strife, bitterness and discrimination may not result in immediate observance.

In whatever may be before us, all must realize that the Civil Rights Act also declares that all men are created equal. This means whites as well as Negroes. Equality in all civil activities must not be mistaken for over-riding license. Equality is a two-way street.

Whether one approves or disapproves methods used, the Negro in the last few years has put the issue starkly before the American people. The methods and demonstrations used upset many a locality, including the Bay Area. But they got results.

Now that a law is impending, let us all look to courts, the Rights Act and the commissions it created to bring enforcement. Sit-ins, lay-downs, freedom rides and harrassment of hotels, banks and other business firms should stop until the act's lawful methods have been tried.

The Negro entered America as an involuntary chattel. The American Indian, possessing the land before the whites arrived, is all but extinct, after centuries of ruthless, brutal exploitation.

Other minority groups suffered from American discrimination. Chinese for many years were treated as sub-human. California law once prohibited alien Chinese or Japanese from owning real estate. Personal and punitive indignities where heaped on our Jewish people.

The Nineteenth Century's great tide of Irish immigration for years gave the Irish a second-class status. Southerners employed many Irish migrants for work in unhealthy swampland clearance. This protected their property — the Negro slaves. When an Irishman died, he was buried. Discrimination and exploitation beset the Italians who often were here under conditions close to slavery.

Through the years, these foreign-born and their offspring gradually broke down the prejudices, gained equality status. Their splendid record in federal, state and local government, federal and local courts and in leading businesses and professions has been a factor in making America still greater. Similarly in northern and western states, the Negro with proper qualifications has steadily gained prestige in our courts, in our legislature, in state and local offices and professions.

Equality means equal opportunity for education. Fitness and education are primarily the standard for employment. Quotas, arbitrarily demanded of business by any group of Americans cannot be the answer.

There are many big steps ahead of universal acceptance of the Civil Rights Act. Let nobody—regardless of color or creed—impulsively rock the boat.

WILL THIS ONE BE EASY?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was very encouraging to read that ABAG's executive committee is asking each city on San Francisco Bay periphery to enact a local ordinance "making ABAG the appeal authority on fill permits on private lands." We sincerely trust San Rafael will be among those enacting such an ordinance at an early date—especially since San Rafael seems to be one of the chief offenders in depriving the citizens of California (and more particularly of Marin County) of the "open area" of the tidelands.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Welcome is extended to Dr. Sam Hanzel, of the Far Left, from the American Right. It is more than entertaining; it is positively instructive to observe the thought processes of Dr. Hanzel's fringe of the spectrum, and you deserve credit for giving room to his attempt to pin down and define the "far right" (I-J, June 17). Dr. Hanzel is an inexhaustible contributor to your "Letters" section, and continued cultural exchanges between his fringe and the main body politic can conceivably be rewarding for both.

Moderate and conservative readers of Dr. Hanzel would do well to avoid a reaction of mere irritation to his writings. Charity, not irritation, is indicated, for the Far Left needs assistance equally as much as do others of the handicapped.

It is important to understand that the Far Left cannot correctly be said to disagree with conservatism, for disagreement implies a level of understanding they have not attained. Having themselves no fundamental and guiding principles, but only an ever-shifting list of pet programs, they cannot understand the forces which prevent immediate adoption of their current program for Utopia Today. Failing to understand these forces which frustrate them, they consider them frightening, sinister and evil, as man has done through the ages. . . .

The reason for this should be clear. If the loudest of the arguments heard against a man or a principle are inherently foolish or preposterous, the impression will be left that the man or the principle is worthy. For instance, to use an example chosen by Dr. Hanzel, Senator Goldwater's principles lead him to believe that massive new legislation from Washington to regulate private conduct in the field of civil rights is both useless and unwise. Yet, preceding his "no" vote last week, he had not voted against any civil rights bills in the past. . . . These facts will presumably be brought to the public's attention in the coming months, and it is therefore delightful to hear the Far Left trumpet that the senator is a racist.

The United Nations issue is another of Dr. Hanzel's examples. Senator Goldwater has not and does not advocate our withdrawal. He does insist that all member nations pay their bills, and that we should "reassess our commitment" to that organization if a majority of its voting members want to issue full membership rights to an aggressive, war-mongering nation such as Communist China. . . . If the Far Left will continue to falsify the senator's position he can derive considerable benefit.

The remainder of Dr. Hanzel's contribution dealt with a supposed desire of the American Right for child labor, "darkies in the cotton fields," and Hitlerism. I am unable to summarize his analysis in these areas, because I frankly could not follow it. . . .

I am personally unwilling to belong to or associate with any Far Right organization, because I consider many of the well-publicized positions of some of their leaders and members on a par—in their degree of foolishness—with those of the Far Left. It may therefore be presumptuous of me to respond to an attempted definition of the Far Right, which the Far Left believes (with true passion) is the sole support of Senator Goldwater. However, since in Dr. Hanzel's field of reference any supporter of the senator (51.3 per cent of California Republicans as of June 2) is, ipso facto, a member of the Far Right, perhaps he will accept me as a spokesman.

Crankcase Device Had Pre-Smog Test

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Speaking of smog control devices for automobiles, the idea is not new. We did the same thing to our cars back in the twenties, although the idea was not to control smog but rather on a theory that the crankcase vapors would serve as an upper motor lubricant. The system was the same, a tube of some kind arranged in such a manner that the vacuum in the manifold, or the air going into the carburetor intake would draw crankcase vapors into the upper motor.

It was not long before we discovered the folly of this idea, since the hot vapors condensed in the intake manifold or wherever they first hit a cooler surface. The result was a dandy gummed-up carburetor or a manifold and intake valve system so goopy that we had to build bonfires in which to roast manifolds to cook the goop out, there was no other way, plus many hours of scraping valves etc., because there was no solvent that would loosen that stuff.

Some personal thinking makes me wonder what's going on. The pollution in question comes as a result of combustion, and products of combustion are created not only by cars, but by every gas-burning appliance in every home, to say nothing of industrial processes. If the products of combustion are the cause of all this clamor for smog control devices, why add additional carbon to the burned mixture by introducing impurities from a crankcase?

Two items are present in a crankcase: Volatiles from the heated oil, which are heavy and settle down to the ground, and the so-called blow-by, exactly the same stuff that comes out of the tail pipe, the amount of blow-by depending on condition of the engine. So what good is there in trying to reburn already burned exhaust gases that happened to be in the wrong place?

GOP Issues Council Attacks LBJ In Weakest Spot—Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON—The Republican Party is mobilizing its campaign ammunition to attack the Johnson administration on its weakest foreign policy front — weakening of U. S. prestige and power in Southeast Asia.

WHOEVER is the GOP nominee, the shape of the attack is visible in the direct and thrusting criticism by the Republican Critical Issues Council of what it considers the "dismal record" of the Kennedy-Johnson administration in the Far East.

The council sees the U. S. being steadily pushed out of the Far East by a combination of Communist aggression and American "vacillation" and "indecision" and warns that this retreat can "undermine our position throughout the world—and must be stopped.

The report, prepared under the direction of Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, reflects a wide consensus among Republican leaders. Both its criticisms and proposals would be acceptable to either Sen. Barry Goldwater or Gov. William W. Scranton.

THIS DOES NOT mean that Dr. Eisenhower has issued a straddling report. It means that on the issue of doing whatever is needed to protect the free nations in Southeast Asia and keep the U. S. from being liquidated as a Pacific power, both wings of the Republican party are united.

To its great credit the Republican report shuns all easy answers, makes no play whatsoever to the emotional sentiment of "bring the boys back home" and comes out unequivocally for stronger political and military actions.

Unlike such Democratic Senators as Mike Mansfield of Montana, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Frank Church of Idaho, who criticize President Lyndon B. Johnson for defending South Vietnam, the Eisenhower council supports the Johnson administration objectives but criticizes it for doing too little and doing it badly.

It blames the administration for backing away from the offer of the Asian members of SEATO to defend the area in 1961.

It criticizes the administration for "pressuring" the Laotian anti-Communist government to embrace the Communists in a pact of neutrality which never had any prospect of working.

It accuses the administration of being a party to a "Far Eastern Munich" in encouraging Indonesia to take West New Guinea from the Dutch on the assumption that a plebiscite would be held to determine whether the people wanted Indonesian rule and then raising "hardly a whisper of protest" when Sukarno let it be known he had no intention of honoring the agreement.

THE REPUBLICAN white paper contends that "New policies are manifestly required, changes must be made, and initiative must be taken if the influence of the U. S. is to be restored in the Far East.

It finds that at this state the U. S. is losing in Southeast Asia and reports that in its judgment President Johnson "Is simply allowing a drift in policy or following a policy of drift."

It is all to the good that the council's report does not stoop to "campaign oratory" by seeking to wean public opinion away from the administration's stated objective. Its sound premise is that "the United States is a Pacific power and security in the Far East is a vital interest of this nation."

This is a campaign document at its best.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

State Department Blocking Mrs. Nhu

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, on direct orders of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, is being prevented from coming to the U. S. for a nationwide lecture tour "to tell the American people the truth about South Vietnam."

BARRING A complete State Department reversal, the outspoken sister-in-law of the slain President Diem will not fill that engagement—nor any others, at least until after the November elections.

Abba Schwartz, of the Bureau of Consular and Security Affairs, whose "advisory opinions" have cleared the way for the admission of a number of controversial aliens, is personally handling the stalling of Mrs. Nhu's application for a six-month visitor's visa.

Consul General Wayne Fisher in Paris has been instructed, in cables from Schwartz, to hold up Mrs. Nhu's visa until a thorough study has been made of her "inflammatory statements against U. S. officials."

It is understood completion of this study will require several months.

The obstructive Schwartz edict arrived as Fisher was preparing to approve the visa, which he favored.

STATE DEPARTMENT insiders say that Schwartz, who has been under sharp congressional fire for some time, is planning to delay the granting of a visa as long as possible in the hope that will discourage Mrs. Nhu. But if she persists, she will be turned down outright.

If that harsh crackdown becomes necessary, it will be taken on two grounds: That she is stateless as the present Vietnam government does not recognize her passport; that her entry here "would not be in the national interest."

In pursuing this backstage strategy, Schwartz is credited as having the full approval of Rusk.

Rusk reputedly has told Schwartz to use every legal means to keep her out of the U. S., until this year's crucial elections are over. Final action will have to be determined by Rusk.

In anticipation of that, she has written a blistering letter charging him with deliberately barring her from the U. S. so the American people will not be given the "true story of what happened in South Vietnam."

Nguyen Thi Thuan, secretary to Mrs. Nhu, in a letter to Charles Hastek, an official of the Conservative Club of Flushing, N. Y., has outlined her plans to counter the State Department's efforts to muzzle her. Highlights are as follows:

"If the State Department refuses a visa to Madame Nhu, she is contemplating sending her daughter instead to present the address . . . If Madame Nhu decides to publicly release her letter to Secretary Rusk, she will inform you. Her aim in life is to expose the truth about Vietnam, and she therefore does not hesitate before the blocks put in her way to the telling of the truth, no matter how much controversy that may cause. The more blocks that are put in her way, the more it means that there are powerful persons who do not want the truth told and the more reason there is to tell it."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Preservation Of Historical Landmarks Painstaking Task

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Preservation of historical bits in California is a painstaking and lengthy chore. The State Division of Beaches and Parks, as custodian of historical landmarks, accomplishes part of this guardianship through the many old sites in this state signifying occupancy of other nations.

One of the most significant of these is on the Sonoma County coast, where Russia located an outpost called Fort Ross, a name which in fact is a corruption of Russia.

UNDER THE CZARS, an expedition of Russians struggled for 16 years to establish the empire south of Alaska. They eventually poised a tremendous threat to the Spanish Empire, which extended its chain of missions northward to San Rafael and Sonoma to provide a balance of power.

The restored portion of Fort Ross stands today as an example of the tenacity of the division of beaches and parks in taking an almost destroyed outpost, and building it back partially to its original appearance.

Highway 1 runs right through the fort. So the division it has built around the highway. When the division of highways re-locates the highway, all stoppers will be off to continue the restoration.

So far, the commandant's house, two block-houses, and the Russian chapel have been restored. All are full of artifacts rescued from the Russian past.

The chapel probably is the most imposing of the structures. It was shattered in the earthquake of 1906, but stands today almost as it did when the Russian community worshipped there.

Once a year, a group from the Russian church in San Francisco, complete with the necessities required for a service, treks to Fort Ross for a Memorial Day service. Incantations are heard, a choir relives the ancient music, and the odor of the sweet-smelling censer is brought to life in the little chapel.

FORT ROSS is linked with more than the Russians in California history, for it was purchased by Capt. John A. Sutter when the Russian company in charge decided to abandon the fort due to the drop-off in the take of the sea-otter. It then no longer was a valuable commercial enterprise, so Sutter added it to his vast domain in the Sacramento Valley, only to sell out to private interests later.

But although these eras are gone, the memory of them will be here for a long time, due to the activities of the state in preserving historical landmarks.

10 YEARS AGO

The Marin Federation of Commuter Clubs resolved to seek state and county support in opposing Pacific Greyhound Lines' application for Interstate Commerce Commission authority to split its Bay Area commute runs from its western state operations.

Proposed realignment of Tiburon Boulevard across a section of Greenwood Beach brought protests from 49 property owners, who contended a proposed four-lane highway would isolate a portion of the beach and destroy property value.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A CRUSTY PROFESSOR of comparative literature registered distinct annoyance when a student just out of military service was late to class for the third morning running. "Tell me," rasped the professor, "exactly what did they say in the Army when you sauntered in late like this?"

"Well," mused the unperturbed student, "first they saluted. Then they inquired, 'How do you feel this morning, sir?' "

BOOK PUBLISHER Alfred A. Knopf, invited to address an exclusive group after dinner in Boston recently, was warned by an old friend just before he ascended the podium, "Remember, Alfred, the longer the SPOKE, the longer the TIRE!" Mr. Knopf thereupon wisely cut his prepared address in half and was rewarded with the heartiest applause heard in that hall in years.

FOR SOME REASON, 2,000 suckers in a Las Vegas nightclub chortled with glee when comedian Alan King leveled with them. "Greed, out-and-out greed is what brought you here," pointed out King. "You keep expecting to beat them — and they keep building new hotels!"

Plans For New Tamalpais District High Schools Are Mouth-Watering

A REPORT, which would make the professional educator's mouth water, has been dreamed up for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

At this stage it is fantasy. It will become reality when board members get down to the job of figuring out how much they want to spend to build high schools on the Tiburon Peninsula and in San Geronimo Valley.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, in a memo to members of the educational specifications committee, which is made up of teachers and district administrators who worked on the report with members of the educational planning consultant firm of Odell MacConnell Associates of Palo Alto, state: "they (the board) understand that we have developed our specifications on the basis of educational considerations only, without regard to the problem of finance."

MONEY FOR construction of the two schools will come from a bond issue, most likely to be offered to voters in early 1965. In the meantime, the planners are planning and the architects are drawing.

This is what they have come up with so far—two high schools to house 1,500 students apiece. There is emphasis on variable grouping and flexible scheduling.

PLANS FOR ATHLETIC activities are interesting. Recommended for construction, besides the standard baseball, track and football fields, are a commando course, archery range, practice green for golfers and handball course. In addition, there would be tennis courts and a swimming and diving pool.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE center would serve as the focal point of the two high schools. Separate entrances for students and teachers and the public are advocated to promote a more friendly relationship between the administrative staff and students.

The resource materials center would house a library for 15,000 books. The student activity center has rooms for such goings-on as student government, student store and bank a, school publications and eating facilities.

IN THE LANGUAGE center there would be flexible arrangement of classrooms to allow space for 10 to 60 students, as well as a tiered lecture room for 75 students.

The social studies - business education center would have increased flexibility in arranging room spaces. Room sizes could be altered to take care of from 10 to 150 students.

Special spaces would be constructed to house office machines used in the business education courses.

The consultants envision areas where the students can use desk calculators and make mathematical models in the mathematics-science-technology center. There would be in addition to regular laboratories, areas where independent student research could be done.

THE APPLIED and fine arts center would have room for art, music, homemaking, special education programs as well as a 450-seat little theater. Spaces for handicapped students would be planned to allow for a wide variety of learning activities and small group or individual instruction.

It all adds up to an appetizing morsal. Let's hope the taxpayers can swallow the cost.

NEW YORK (AP)—Those good old days. Oh, those good old days!

Old-timers 60 years of age or more like to drop a tear in their sarsaparilla as they recall how much better and more romantic life was in their youth than it is now.

But was it really?

LIFE IN AMERICA before World War I still had something of a pioneer quality, and hardship and discomfort were pretty much taken for granted.

Weather and work held people in thrall far more than they do now; leisure was more for the dead than the living.

When old - timers reminisce, they don't dwell on such points as:

Probably not half the homes in America had indoor plumbing.

Most homes were heated by pot-bellied stoves or balky coal furnaces, the ashes from which had to be lugged out with monotonous regularity.

People worked a 50- to 60-hour week.

If you were wealthy enough to afford a car, you had to hand crank it to get the motor started. The roads were so bad you were lucky if you went 100 miles without a flat tire; if you did get a flat tire, you had to fix it yourself.

Most women had lost their beauty by the time they were 40; most men were considered old at 45.

Pensions were unheard of in most industries.

THERE WERE no electric washing machines. Wives had to souse the family's grimy duds in tubs, and launder them by hand or with a scrubbing brush on a ridged washboard.

Winters were long and cold; summers long and hot.

The kitchen held no gleaming refrigerator. The pan under the icebox had to be emptied daily.

Wood - burning stoves were used in rural areas, and somebody in the household had to chop the wood.

After a hard day spent at other chores, mothers had to darn, often by lamplight, the menfolks' socks.

IN ADDITION to all their other woes, women had to lace themselves into corsets so tightly they couldn't swallow a grape without feeling uncomfortable.

It took almost as many days to travel across the continent by train as it now does hours by jet plane. In a small town, any resident who had seen both Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon was a celebrity. No banker was crazy enough to lend you money to make a vacation trip.

There were no drive-in theaters, no radio, no television, no hi-fi sets, no piped-in music, no canned dog food.

What do they mean "the good old days?" About all they had we don't have is a big foamy glass of nickel beer. And it's hardly worth turning the calendar back just for that.

CHP Cars May Get Bucket Seats

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The highway patrol said yesterday it would start putting bucket seats and possibly headrests in patrol vehicles if officers wanted them.

CHP Commissioner Bradford Crittenden said officers had tested about 200 vehicles already equipped with bucket seats and about 60 per cent said they favored them.

Those who want them can get them when they turn in their old vehicles for new ones, he said.

He said patrol cars in the Redding area were using head rests and about 50 more would be installed "for purposes of evaluation."
